

he Hawaii are in our way; Canada and Japan soon will be in our way. Oh, what a great fellow this Jonathan is, to be sure, stand out of the way, all ye nations, and give him elbow-room! You all stand in his way? The interests of his route demand that you should stand aside: "manifest destiny" says "Get out of the way."

North Carolina Advertiser.

CHARLOTTE:

WEDNESDAY, July 6, 1853.

W^HILLIAM THOMPSON Esq., is our agent in Baltimore, authorized to obtain advertisements and to grant receipts.

T^HE E. W. CARR, Esq., is our agent in Philadelphia, authorized to obtain advertisements and procure subscriptions.

T^HE V. H. Palmer, Esq., is our authorized agent to receive advertisements and subscriptions at his offices in Boston, New York and Philadelphia.

FOR CONGRESS,
JAMES W. OSBORNE,
see KENLY COUNTY.

CANDIDATES FOR CLERK.

WE are authorized to announce HUGH F. McKNIGHT, Esq., as a candidate for reelection to the office of Superior Court Clerk of Union County, at the ensuing August election.

The friends of WM. K. REID, take great pleasure in announcing his name to the people of the county of Mecklenburg, as a candidate for the office of County Court Clerk, at the ensuing August election.

WE are authorized to announce HUGH M. HOLLOWAY, Esq., as a candidate for reelection to the office of Superior Court Clerk of Union County, at the ensuing August election.

Our Delay.

Our paper is somewhat delayed this week owing to some of our hands enjoying the Fourth as a holiday.

Misconstruction.

Some of our friends tried to misconstruct what we said last week about the religious revival. The portrayer to us by some of our hypocritical friends, was ascribed as a general principle, and not applicable to one denomination of christians more than another, or to one individual more than another.

Rain.

We had a most delightful rain in this neighborhood on Monday last, which appeared to be greater, though less of it seemed to fall in town and for a few miles West, than ought to be. The drooping spirits of our cargo are very much relieved by it.

A New Book for Christians.

We are requested to state that there may be found for sale at the Book Stores of S. H. Evans, in Charlotte, a number of pamphlets entitled "The Church of Rome, or the Religion of the Apostolized," by Dr. Warder, with an Introduction by the Rev. Jas. Burton, of the Diocese of North Carolina. We have been presented with a copy of the work, but have not had time to examine it very closely, but the subject is interesting, and we have no doubt that it is ably handled in this little book. Price 25 cents.

A New Work on Mines, Minerals, and Mining.

As mining has become a topic of importance in this country, many of our readers may now embrace an opportunity of turning to a practical account a new species of literature about to be introduced into the country.

William J. Tandy at No. 149, Fulton Street, New York, has issued a prospectus for publishing a new periodical monthly at $5 in advance, to be called "The Mining Magazine." The first number will be issued in July instant.

It will be a Standard Work, and embrace many species of information relating to mining in all its forms, and derived from every country where mining is practiced. We know that many of our readers need just such a work, and hope that all who are engaged in mining will embrace this opportunity of bringing into the country so much valuable information.

A Grave Apology for Nullification.

The apology of the late Democrat for Mr. Orange's nullification notice in 1828-'30 is singular enough. It seems to justify Mr. C's nullification of that day by the fact that Judge Mangum and Mr. Quarles were nullifiers also. Suppose they were, how long did they stay so?" Did they leave the Whig party, as Mr. Orange did, and follow Mr. Calhoun through his long abjuration course of metaphysical abstractions to the grave of nullification? Did nullification ever begin in their constitutional scruples against the right of North Carolina to claim her share of the public treasury?

Here is the great State's Rights party of the country, forever denouncing the danger of consolidating power in the hands of the General Government, acknowledging that the public lands are the common property of all the States, and consolidating most power in the hands of the Federal Government, by pouring into her top thirty hundred millions of acres of land, and still parting for more under the doctrine of territorial expansion, for the purpose of paying off the public debt and other charges upon the public treasury!

And so long as they can resort to this form, and impress the due people by denouncing the flat of nullification, they may trust in their wisdom and virtue of creating debts, rewarding favorites, and waging wars with foreign powers, until all power will be located in the hands of the Federal Government.

Thus they tax us as States, which is the same thing as taxing us as the people. But suppose that the public lands were secured and faithfully administered in the payment of the public debt and other charges upon the public treasury," which is the difference, price, between being taxed by the Federal Government, and being taxed by the State Government, and the State Government.

There is now scarcely any who should not be compelled to support both Government.

Who then is surprised at such a bold opinion as this time that he became a candidate, placed him among the disciples of Mr. Calhoun, who never repented of his nullification and up to his death.

But seriously, Mr. Orange was honest man, and a wise statesman, but he is too impulsive, too ready but unwise by the wantonness of popular passions, to be safely entrusted with the guardianship of the people's rights. The judgment of men who often err and then repent, however honest he may be, is not reliable, is not a safe repository of power, and on this ground alone the friends of Mr. Orange could not hope for his elevation.

Gaither and Clingman.

The last Asheville Spectator speaks thus of Col. Gaither's prospects in the Mountain District.

We are more satisfied than ever that our Representative, the Hon. T. G. Clingman, will not be beaten in the election of Aug. 1st. He has not lost his popularity, nor has he been beaten twice—but will be permitted to remain in his adopted county of Blount, and pursue the even tenor of his way without let or hindrance.

Again, in the same article the Spectator says,

"Well, we have been watching the signs of the times as they have progressed, and we reluctantly give it as our opinion that our side and gaitherian champion of the Whig cause—Col. George W. Gaither—will be elected in August next—but will be permitted to remain in his adopted county of Blount, and pursue the even tenor of his way without let or hindrance."

Again, in the same article the Spectator says,

"Well, we have been watching the signs of the

times as they have progressed, and we reluctantly give it as our opinion that our side and gaitherian champion of the Whig cause—Col. George W. Gaither—will be elected in August next—but will be permitted to remain in his adopted county of Blount, and pursue the even tenor of his way without let or hindrance."

Again, in the same article the Spectator says,

"Well, we have been watching the signs of the

times as they have progressed, and we reluctantly give it as our opinion that our side and gaitherian champion of the Whig cause—Col. George W. Gaither—will be elected in August next—but will be permitted to remain in his adopted county of Blount, and pursue the even tenor of his way without let or hindrance."

Again, in the same article the Spectator says,

"Well, we have been watching the signs of the

times as they have progressed, and we reluctantly give it as our opinion that our side and gaitherian champion of the Whig cause—Col. George W. Gaither—will be elected in August next—but will be permitted to remain in his adopted county of Blount, and pursue the even tenor of his way without let or hindrance."

Again, in the same article the Spectator says,

"Well, we have been watching the signs of the

times as they have progressed, and we reluctantly give it as our opinion that our side and gaitherian champion of the Whig cause—Col. George W. Gaither—will be elected in August next—but will be permitted to remain in his adopted county of Blount, and pursue the even tenor of his way without let or hindrance."

Again, in the same article the Spectator says,

"Well, we have been watching the signs of the

times as they have progressed, and we reluctantly give it as our opinion that our side and gaitherian champion of the Whig cause—Col. George W. Gaither—will be elected in August next—but will be permitted to remain in his adopted county of Blount, and pursue the even tenor of his way without let or hindrance."

Again, in the same article the Spectator says,

"Well, we have been watching the signs of the

times as they have progressed, and we reluctantly give it as our opinion that our side and gaitherian champion of the Whig cause—Col. George W. Gaither—will be elected in August next—but will be permitted to remain in his adopted county of Blount, and pursue the even tenor of his way without let or hindrance."

Again, in the same article the Spectator says,

"Well, we have been watching the signs of the

times as they have progressed, and we reluctantly give it as our opinion that our side and gaitherian champion of the Whig cause—Col. George W. Gaither—will be elected in August next—but will be permitted to remain in his adopted county of Blount, and pursue the even tenor of his way without let or hindrance."

Again, in the same article the Spectator says,

"Well, we have been watching the signs of the

times as they have progressed, and we reluctantly give it as our opinion that our side and gaitherian champion of the Whig cause—Col. George W. Gaither—will be elected in August next—but will be permitted to remain in his adopted county of Blount, and pursue the even tenor of his way without let or hindrance."

Again, in the same article the Spectator says,

"Well, we have been watching the signs of the

times as they have progressed, and we reluctantly give it as our opinion that our side and gaitherian champion of the Whig cause—Col. George W. Gaither—will be elected in August next—but will be permitted to remain in his adopted county of Blount, and pursue the even tenor of his way without let or hindrance."

Again, in the same article the Spectator says,

"Well, we have been watching the signs of the

times as they have progressed, and we reluctantly give it as our opinion that our side and gaitherian champion of the Whig cause—Col. George W. Gaither—will be elected in August next—but will be permitted to remain in his adopted county of Blount, and pursue the even tenor of his way without let or hindrance."

Again, in the same article the Spectator says,

"Well, we have been watching the signs of the

times as they have progressed, and we reluctantly give it as our opinion that our side and gaitherian champion of the Whig cause—Col. George W. Gaither—will be elected in August next—but will be permitted to remain in his adopted county of Blount, and pursue the even tenor of his way without let or hindrance."

Again, in the same article the Spectator says,

"Well, we have been watching the signs of the

times as they have progressed, and we reluctantly give it as our opinion that our side and gaitherian champion of the Whig cause—Col. George W. Gaither—will be elected in August next—but will be permitted to remain in his adopted county of Blount, and pursue the even tenor of his way without let or hindrance."

Again, in the same article the Spectator says,

"Well, we have been watching the signs of the

times as they have progressed, and we reluctantly give it as our opinion that our side and gaitherian champion of the Whig cause—Col. George W. Gaither—will be elected in August next—but will be permitted to remain in his adopted county of Blount, and pursue the even tenor of his way without let or hindrance."

Again, in the same article the Spectator says,

"Well, we have been watching the signs of the

times as they have progressed, and we reluctantly give it as our opinion that our side and gaitherian champion of the Whig cause—Col. George W. Gaither—will be elected in August next—but will be permitted to remain in his adopted county of Blount, and pursue the even tenor of his way without let or hindrance."

Again, in the same article the Spectator says,

"Well, we have been watching the signs of the

times as they have progressed, and we reluctantly give it as our opinion that our side and gaitherian champion of the Whig cause—Col. George W. Gaither—will be elected in August next—but will be permitted to remain in his adopted county of Blount, and pursue the even tenor of his way without let or hindrance."

Again, in the same article the Spectator says,

"Well, we have been watching the signs of the

times as they have progressed, and we reluctantly give it as our opinion that our side and gaitherian champion of the Whig cause—Col. George W. Gaither—will be elected in August next—but will be permitted to remain in his adopted county of Blount, and pursue the even tenor of his way without let or hindrance."

Again, in the same article the Spectator says,

"Well, we have been watching the signs of the

times as they have progressed, and we reluctantly give it as our opinion that our side and gaitherian champion of the Whig cause—Col. George W. Gaither—will be elected in August next—but will be permitted to remain in his adopted county of Blount, and pursue the even tenor of his way without let or hindrance."

Again, in the same article the Spectator says,

"Well, we have been watching the signs of the

times as they have progressed, and we reluctantly give it as our opinion that our side and gaitherian champion of the Whig cause—Col. George W. Gaither—will be elected in August next—but will be permitted to remain in his adopted county of Blount, and pursue the even tenor of his way without let or hindrance."

Again, in the same article the Spectator says,

"Well, we have been watching the signs of the

times as they have progressed, and we reluctantly give it as our opinion that our side and gaitherian champion of the Whig cause—Col. George W. Gaither—will be elected in August next—but will be permitted to remain in his adopted county of Blount, and pursue the even tenor of his way without let or hindrance."

Again, in the same article the Spectator says,

"Well, we have been watching the signs of the

times as they have progressed, and we reluctantly give it as our opinion that our side and gaitherian champion of the Whig cause—Col. George W. Gaither—will be elected in August next—but will be permitted to remain in his adopted county of Blount, and pursue the even tenor of his way without let or hindrance."

Again, in the same article the Spectator says,

"Well, we have been watching the signs of the

times as they have progressed, and we reluctantly give it as our opinion that our side and gaitherian champion of the Whig cause—Col. George W. Gaither—will be elected in August next—but will be permitted to remain in his adopted county of Blount, and pursue the even tenor of his way without let or hindrance."

Again, in the same article the Spectator says,

"Well, we have been watching the signs of the

times as they have progressed, and we reluctantly give it as our opinion that our side and gaitherian champion of the Whig cause—Col. George W. Gaither—will be elected in August next—but will be permitted to remain in his adopted county of Blount, and pursue the even tenor of his way without let or hindrance."

Again, in the same article the Spectator says,

"Well, we have been watching the signs of the

times as they have progressed, and we reluctantly give it as our opinion that our side and gaitherian champion of the Whig cause—Col. George W. Gaither—will be elected in August next—but will be permitted to remain in his adopted county of Blount, and pursue the even tenor of his way without let or hindrance."

Again, in the same article the Spectator says,

"Well, we have been watching the signs of the

times as they have progressed, and we reluctantly give it as our opinion that our side and gaitherian champion of the Whig cause—Col. George W. Gaither—will be elected in August next—but will be permitted to remain in his adopted county of Blount, and pursue the even tenor of his way without let or hindrance."

Again, in the same article the Spectator says,

"Well, we have been watching the signs of the

times as they have progressed, and we reluctantly give it as our opinion that our side and gaitherian champion of the Whig cause—Col. George W. Gaither—will be elected in August next—but will be permitted to remain in his adopted county of Blount, and pursue the even tenor of his way without let or hindrance."

Again, in the same article the Spectator says,

"Well, we have been watching the signs of the

times as they have progressed, and we reluctantly give it as our opinion that our side and gaitherian champion of the Whig cause—Col. George W. Gaither—will be elected in August next—but will be permitted to remain in his adopted county of Blount, and pursue the even tenor of his way without let or hindrance."