INDIAN MASSACRE IN UTAH.

We clip the following from the special correspondence of the New York Herald, dated Washington, Dec. 1:

"The report of the surprise of Captain Gunnison's exploring party, and the massacre of Captain Gunnison and Mr. Kearn, the draftsman, is believed by the government to be correct, from the fact that this morning a letter was received from Governor Meriweather, dated Santa Fe, October 13, which contains information of a corroborative character. Governor Meriweather writes that about two weeks previous to the date of his letter, Chico Velasque, a chief of a band of Utah Indians, visited "Abiquire," and requested Mr. Head, late Indian agent at that place, to bear the Governor a message, the purport of which was that a portion of the Utah tribe, under a chief named Walker, a very desperate character, and the Mormons of Utah Territory, had commenced hostilities against each other. Walker was represented as endeavoring to incite the entire Utah nation against the Mormans; but Velasque represented that he and his band had refused to participate in the matter.

"Velasque's narrative is confirmed by the news just received from Salt Lake, and it is highly probable the Indians mistook Captain Gunnison's party for Mormons, and thereupon attacked them.

"Capt. Gunnison was a native of New Hampshire, and a graduate of West Point, where he was placed by General Pierce when in Congress. Mr. Kearn was an accomplished draftsman and Engineer, and was one of Col. Fremont's party in the disastrous expedition of the latter some two or three years ago. Reinforcements will probably be immediately sent to all the exploring parties.

WOULDN'T BE LICKED!—Talking of Forrest reminds us of a pretty fair thing in the way of a joke that occured at Albany a few years ago.

A genius of very peculiar temperament, running over with eccentric notions, and withal rather pugnacious, by the name of Centre, was captain of the "supes" at the theatre. Forrest appeared in one of his pieces in which he enacted the usual amount of his stage heroics—gritting his teeth at tyrants, shaking his fist at the mob, and backing down whole squadrons of warriors, and all that. Finally he rushed out, and charged upon the grand army—four apprentice boys and five spindle-shanked men—at the head of which valiant Centre stood.

"Ah-h-h!" growls Forrest, making a ferocious lunge at the army, all of whom vamosed except Centre. "Ah-h-h! cowards, fly!" roars the tragedian—but there was no fly in Centre: he went in, backed down, backed away, cut and slashed, likety-split with his long spear, until the burly tragedian fairly caved in, and retired amid deafening applause for the brave Centre, who remained master of the field, in spite of the cries of the stage manager and prompter to "Come off! come off!"

The way that Montezuma exclaimed, was some, doubtless.

A society in Washington, which rejoices in the cognomen of "The Ugly Club," had a merry meeting and a dance one evening last week. Several prizes were distributed to the homeliest of the company. One young gentleman received a knife as a premium for his ugliness. It was an indifferent and cheap article; but a knife of far better quality was presented to a candidate uglier than himself, who hailed from the office of the Washington Star. He was admitted to be uglier than mud, and is thus described by the Star: "He had a head like a pine tree bar, eyes like a weasel; nose like the trunk of an elephant, with a blacking brush beneath; hoofs that would weigh twenty pounds, attached to a body of only about a hundred, and the graceful Puck was named Hough." A beautiful lady present was honored with a gift of a leaden ring, while an ugly one was favored with a circlet of gold.

QUAILS IN IOWA.—The Madison Journal says, speaking of the abundance of quails there this season:

"So plenty are they that they run about the streets, flying about and breaking the windows, and occasionally come in contact with the side of a house with such force as to fall lifeless to the the ground. The consequence is, that every old musket has been put in requisition, the b'hoys are out in full force, and a general popping is heard in all directions. One circumstance renders this a little unpleasant. In walking in the streets no one knows how soon he may receive a charge of shot in the back. Several have been badly wounded—in the clothes already, and some windows broken. We understand the corporation are about to take steps to put a stop to such proceedings."

A serious accident occurred in the vault of the Bank of North America, on Friday morning. As Mr John Knight, the messenger, and William Smith, one of the junior clerks, entered the vault, for the purpose of taking out the books preparatory to the business of the day, they were both aware that the gas had been escaping, and without thinking of the consequences, Mr. Smith lit a match, and handed it to Mr. Knight. A terrible explosion ensued, forcing Mr. Smith out of the vault door, to some distance, throwing Mr. Knight against the wall of the vault, and setting fire to his clothing. Both were severely burned, and Mr. Knight's hands, face and neck, sustained the full effects of the explosion. His hair, eyebrows and whiskers were set on fire. The explosion forced off one of the locks of the inner vault, and set fire to some of the books, which were, however, put out without much damage.

KOSZTA'S MOVEMENTS.—Martin Kosta, the Hungarian refugee, arrived in this city by the train from Boston, last night. He came through in charge of Mr. Caleb Hogge, messenger of Adams & Co. He slept at Judson's, and left for Washington by the first train this morning in charge of Adams & Co's messenger.

The "Lion" seems to be transferred with all possible care, and appears to be in the best of hands. But what a loss we have had here,—in not being able to show him "the institutions."—N. Y. Express.

MACHINE POETRY.—A Virginia paper is responsible for the following machine poetry, which we have altered to suit the meridian:

"Breathes there a man with soul so dead, who never to himself hath said, I will the N. C. Whig take, both for my own and family's sake? If such there be, let him repent, and have the paper to him sent; and if he'd pass a happy winter, he in advance should pay the printer!"

To our Friends.

A case of severe and protracted sickness in the family of the Junior editor, requiring his constant personal attention during the whole of the last week, will account for the scarcity of editorial matter in this week's issue of the "Whig." We hope to be able, in a few days, to resume the ordinary duties of our station, and to give our readers, in our next issue, the benefit of our views on the President's Message, the proceedings of Congress, &c. &c. &c.

"Viator" set Right.

We take pleasure in stating that we have received a note from friend "Viator" under his real name, H. Quigg, confessing that he is the author of the communication in a late number of the "Due West Telescope," upon which we animadverted somewhat severely in a recent number of the "Whig." After complaining of the severity of our strictures, and objecting to our epithets as "indecent and untruthful," &c. The writer concludes his letter as follows:

I meant no ill in Charlotte nor Mecklenburg, just the reverse. I met with two many warm friends in both places to harbor an ill feeling. Indeed, I always revered Mecklenburg above all the sections on the Continent. I am bound to it by nearly the closest ties of consanguinity. I confess that I wrote the article in question hastily, and perhaps like yourself, with too little caution, but I garantie that my good intentions and feelings towards the place need never be questioned. If you have any means of correcting the impression your article has made and will do it. I shall indeed take it as a favor. I felt bad at such an impression going out among my friends. The press is a potent instrument, and when you consider the genuineness of my motives, however misdirected, I hope you will not only do me justice in your own columns but see that others do the same. Let me tell you now that I am now quite from Irish, perhaps the last of our fathers, and studying Divinity so, expect to be licensed next summer. Like other Irishmen I confess that—

"My hand is rash, my heart is warm,
Yet principle is still my guide,
None more regrets a deed of harm
And none forgives with nobler pride"

Yours very respectfully,
H. QUIGG.

Any papers that published our article will please copy the above that justice may be done.

Sixteen of the survivors of the Dartmouth Prison massacre, met in New York, last week, to celebrate the blood prevent. Through spontaneous war of revolt, the British soldiers on guard at that prison, during the war of 1812, fired bullet-cartridges among the American Soldiers confined there, when they were at ball-play, killing and wounding several. It was no doubt an excuse for getting rid of them.

We extract the above from the December number of the Jersey City "Beacon," and for the benefit of history, and the information of all concerned, and especially the other survivors of the Dartmouth Prison massacre, we will state that Mr. Andrew Erwin, the editor of the Charlotte Branch Mint, is one of their number. He has been living here ever since the establishment of the Branch Mint at this place, and states that he was a prisoner at Dartmouth for eighteen months, during which time the massacre occurred.

WHIG STATE CONVENTION.

We are authorized to announce, in our paper of this day, that the time and place for holding the next Whig State Convention, to nominate a Candidate for Governor, have been determined upon by the Executive Committee. After due consultation they recommend that it assemble in the City of Raleigh, on the

THIRD TUESDAY IN FEBRUARY,

—that being the 21st day of the month

This time has been selected after mature deliberation and a full and frank comparison of the preferences of our friends in the various sections of the State. Nearly would be fixed, which would not conflict, to some extent, with the holding of the Courts in some of the Counties; but it is believed that the time selected will interfere with a much smaller number of them than any other which has yet been thought of.

It now remains for the Whigs of every County in North Carolina to move immediately, appoint Delegates to the Convention, and take such other steps as may be necessary for a full and vigorous organization of the party.

We appeal to them to do so. We can effect nothing without close organization. To enable us to reconcile differences, and adopt a uniform system of co-operation, by which our entire strength can be brought to the polls, we must meet in Convention,—and let it not be forgotten that, to accomplish these ends, that Convention should be fully attended. It should be a representation of the whole Whig Party of the State.

Do our friends need any exhortation to duty? We cannot,—we do not believe it. They know that they owe to themselves, their cause and the Country. Pride, principle and patriotism alike call on them, with a loud and stirring invocation, to vindicate their political integrity and to rescue the State from the grasp of those who at present control its affairs. Let this vindication of Whig character and Whig patriotism be shown, then, by having every County in North Carolina represented in the Convention, which is to assemble on the twenty-first day of February!—Rod. Reg.

MURDER AND SUICIDE.—Rev. George W. Carawan was tried last week at Washington, N. C., for the murder of C. H. Lassiter in Hyde county, in November, 1852. The trial occupied seven days, and resulted in a verdict of guilty. As the crowd was leaving the Court House, says the Whig, "the report of a pistol was heard, followed immediately by another. Carawan had two self-cocking single barrel pistols. With one he aimed at Mr. Warren. The ball struck just above his heart and glanced, making but a slight wound. With the other he shot a hole through his own head. As we are going to press, he lies a corpse in the prisoner's box, a good part of his brain having run out upon the floor. As may be supposed, there is intense excitement in the community."

Carawan, says the Whig, was 56 years old, and for many years past had been a popular preacher in the Baptist (Kehukeyite) Church. The murdered man, Lassiter, was a teacher, who boarded in Carawan's house.

THE PROSPECT OF A GENERAL WAR.—The New York Times, commenting upon late news, says that the chances undoubtedly are, that the war will eventually become general. It will scarcely be possible for France and England to look on without concern upon its progress. Already, indeed, the French Government—as will be evident from the language of the official Paris journals—is beginning to assume a loftier tone than it has held hitherto upon this subject, and to denounce the conduct of Russia in terms which have called forth the emphatic remonstrances of the Russian Ambassador. The English Ministry will hold themselves aloof to the latest moment, but the popular feeling of the country is far in advance of their action, and will speedily be inflamed by the news of the battles lost and won, to a pitch of indignation which will no longer allow the Government to remain inactive.

THE STEAM SHIP HUMBOLT WRECKED.

BALTIMORE, Dec. 6.

The U. S. mail ship Humbolt, with advices from Havre and Southampton to the 23d ult., went ashore near Halifax on Monday night, and has become a total wreck, the tide ebbing and flowing in her. Her passengers, however, are all safe, and her cargo will be saved, although part of it is damaged. Some two hundred packages of goods have already been taken from her in good order. Her mails have been taken to Halifax, and will be forwarded by the Niagara to Boston, when she arrives from Liverpool.

Mr. Westervelt, her builder, is reported to be the largest sufferer by her loss—probably to the amount of $60,000. The stock of the Company is scattered, and it is supposed that the other owners are individually covered by insurances.

The cargo is heavily insured in New York. The insurances in Boston amount to $40,000.

The steamer Marion has been chartered and will proceed on Thursday to the relief of the Humbolt.

We learn from her advices that the report of the retreat of the Turks across the Danube had been officially confirmed. It was effected by Omer Pasha, without any interruption, and was induced by the lateness of the season.

The Turks still held Kalafat, which had been strongly fortified, and it is reported that the Russian forces were marching to attack it.—Courier.

CHEAP POSTAGE.—The Administration has put out "feelers" in the shape of editorials and letters from Washington, in which it is intimated that the Postmaster General will recommend a recurrence to the five cent rate of postage, in place of the present three cent. This, we presume, is to be dubbed "Postage Reform." The plea is that at the present rates the Department is unable to support itself. The extravagant spirit manifested in several other important departments of the public services contrasts rather strikingly with this penny-wise economy.

We are clear for adhering to cheap postage. The country should "take no step backward" in this matter, and the party which attempts it will rue the day. No one expected that three cent postage would support the Department for the first few years of its establishment. It is a matter of little consequence. No better disposition could be made of the overflowing surplus in the treasury than in paying it out for the dissemination of knowledge among the people at a cheap rate. In a few years the Department would be able to refund the sums thus temporarily borrowed from the Treasury.

IMPORTANT DECISIONS RELATING TO ARMY OFFICERS.—The Washington Star states that, as many officers of the Mexican war have still unsettled accounts at the Treasury, we may write that, under the regulations prevailing in the Departments here, the allowances of travel, pay, &c., of a servant, upon a constructive journey of a discharged officer, (under the 15th section Act 29th Jan., 1813,) from the place of his discharge to his place of residence, can in no case be admitted.

According to decisions of the disbursing officers of the Government, it is held in the Executive Department here, that an officer suspended by sentence of Court Martial, is bound to join his company or regiment when his suspension expires, without expense to the United States, and his expenses in travelling for that purpose cannot be allowed, even though having actually performed the travel in compliance with an order.

SALE OF NORTH CAROLINA FARMS.—Dr. F. J. Hill, of Brunswick, N. C., has sold his plantation, "Orton," sixteen miles down the river from Wilmington, to Thomas C. Miller, Esq., for the sum of $100,000. Mr Price has also disposed of his, in Brunswick, to John A. Taylor, Esq., for $13,000. The plantation on Brunswick river, opposite Wilmington, known as "Belleville," has changed hands for the sum of $10,000. And the "Belvidere" place has likewise changed ownership, for a like sum of $10,000.—These facts show the vastly increased value of North Carolina rice lands, compared with the times that are past.

DIPLOMATIC COSTUME.—Mr. Soule is figuring at the Spanish Court in the usual diplomatic Court costume, without regard to Mr. Marcy's circular. At the Prussian Court the American Minister was notified that he would not be received, except in regular diplomatic uniform, and this order he complied with by donning the costume. At the Hague, the U. S. Charge had much difficulty to secure a reception in plain dress, but persevered, and at last he succeeded, though not until he intimated his intention to return home, unless he were received.

NEWSPAPERS IN THE WORLD.—The following is supposed to be the number of newspapers in the world:—10 in Austria, 14 in Africa, 21 in Spain, 20 in Portugal, 43 in Asia, 65 in Belgium, 75 in Denmark, 90 in Russia and Poland, 824 in other Germanic States, 500 in Great Britain and Ireland, and 4,800 in the United States.

Telegraphed for the Charleston Courier.

THREE DAYS LATER FROM EUROPE.

ARRIVAL OF THE BR. MAIL STEAM SHIP NIAGARA, AT HALIFAX.

BALTIMORE, Dec. 8.

The British mail steam ship Niagara has arrived at Halifax from Liverpool, which port she left on the 26th ult.

The U. S. mail steam ship, Arctic, Capt. Luce, arrived at Liverpool on the 23d ult. She got ashore on the Burbo Bank in a fog, but was not damaged.

THE LIVERPOOL MARKETS.—Cotton during the week ending the 25th ult. was unchanged in nearly every particular, although lower qualities were a shade higher and the market closed firm. The sales during the week comprised 41,000 bales, of which speculators took 5,750 and exporters 2,750 bales, leaving 32,500 of all descriptions to the trade. The Circular of Messrs. Brown & Shipley quotes Fair Orleans at 6¾d., Middling Orleans at 6d.; Fair Mobile at 6¼d., Middling Mobile at 5¾d.; Fair Uplands at 6¾d., Middling Uplands at 5¾d.; Inferior descriptions of American, at from 3½ a 4½d., and Ordinary at from 4¾ a 5¼d.

The stock of Cotton in Liverpool exclusive of that on shipboard, amounts to 650,000 bales.

In Breadstuffs during the week the improved tone noticed the preceding week has been lost. Western Canal Flour was dull at 37s. per bbl. of 196 lbs. White Corn was quoted at [illegible] a 48s. and Yellow from 46 a 47 a 47s. per 480 lbs. Spirits of Turpentine was dull.

STATE OF TRADE.—In Manchester Trade had slightly declined.

LONDON MONEY MARKET.—Consols for Money and account were quoted at from 95⅞ a 95¾.

HAVRE MARKETS.—The sales of Cotton during the week ending the 22d ult., comprised 1000 bales at prices in favor of buyers, the demand being moderate. On the 25th ult., as communicated to the Liverpool Agent of the Associated Press, by telegraph, the market advanced from 1 a 1½ fr. Flour had declined a franc.

EUROPEAN INTELLIGENCE.

For the present hostilities have ceased along the Danube in Moldavia and Wallachia on account of the floods, but it is believed they will be renewed, inasmuch as the Turkish and Russian commanders have received orders from their respective commanders to prosecute the war vigorously.

Diplomacy, however, is again reported to be active, and it is said that a new note, which is very comprehensive, and the proposals contained therein prepared in Paris by Louis Napoleon himself, has been presented to the Sultan, who declined to consider it. It is, also, stated that England and France have got up a project, in which they will invite the other powers to join. If Austria's statements are reliable, the Czar is amicably disposed.

Letters from Constantinople, dated 10th ult., states that the movement on Altifitza (Galatz and Brailow?) was only a feint to draw off Prince Gortschakoff, and that Omer Pacha was concentrating a large force to attack Gen. Suder's division in Bessarabia, and that the fleet in the Black Sea was to co-operate with the land forces.

The Porte had received assurances of effective aid from the British and French Ambassadors in case of need.

The Paris Patrie has a telegraphic dispatch from Vienna dated the 21st ult., which states that the Russian army had received orders to act on the offensive and cross the Danube.

WHERE HE WAS BORN.—The "oldest inhabitant" of Caswell County having declared that Col. Thos. H Benton was born in that county, Col. Jno. H. Wheeler declares that the oldest inhabitant has outlived his memory and is in error. To guard against a calamity to which people have been subject "ever since the days of Homer," (what a pity that Homer ever lived!) and "to protect the integrity of his history" Col. Wheeler says:

"Many years ago I learned from Col. Benton himself that he was born on the 14th March, 1782, at Hart's Mill, on Enoe river, about two miles west of Hillsborough, in Orange county, which place was during the revolution an outpost of the British."

In publishing his letter, the Washington Union says, amusingly enough—

"Col. Wheeler is distinguished for the accuracy of his statements in regard to all matters connected with the history of the good old North State and the deeds of her illustrious sons, and we have no doubt this one may be implicitly relied upon."—F. Ob.

MISSOURIS.—A fashionable lady in Buffalo is going to have a house built soon on one of the best sites in that city. Everything about it, she says, is to be "sublimated" and "splendoriferous." There is to be a "Portofino" in front, a "Pizarro" in the rear, and a "Lemonade" all around it. The water is to come in at the side of the house in an "Anecdote," the lawn in front is to be "degraded," and some large fresh trees are to be "supplanted" into the "Erie" in the rear. This is the same lady who told Governor Clinton how remarkably stormy it is apt to be when the sun is passing the "Penobscot."

Obituary.

Departed this life, at the residence of her mother, in the county of Cabarrus, on the 6th of November last, Mrs. TIRZA E. COCHRAN, the young and beloved consort of Mr. Robert C. Cochran, in the 20th year of her age.

Mrs. Cochran was a most estimable lady, beloved by all who knew her, and unusually promising of extensive future usefulness. For more than 4 years, she had been a consistent and beloved member of the Presbyterian church of Rocky River.—In the enjoyment of what seemed a vigorous constitution and blooming in health; she bade as fair for a long life as any of her comrades. But the ways of the God of providence are past finding out. In his wisdom and sovereignty, and not less his goodness and righteousness, he suddenly removed her—unexpectedly to others, though not so to herself, from the embrace of her affectionate mother and numerous other relatives—from the bosom of a devoted husband, and from the fellowship of the church militant to the communion of the saints triumphant. In her last illness, she was calm, resigned and hopeful—never utteting a complaining or murmuring word—but uniformly and patiently expecting the moment of her departure. In a few moments after the birth of her infant, and in the full assurance of hope, she fell asleep in the arms of the blessed Saviour. "Precious in the sight of the Lord is the death of his saints."—Communicated.

THE SATURDAY EVENING POST

UNRIVALLED ARRAY OF TALENT.

The proprietors of the Post, in again issuing their prospectus before the public, would return thanks for the liberal patronage which has placed them in the advance of every other literary weekly in America. In the first paper of January next, we shall commence an original Novelet, written expressly for our columns, entitled

Author of "Viola," "Clara Moreland," "The Forest Bell."

This Novelet, by the popular author of "Clara Moreland," we
