Sunday Reading.

ODE.

The following sublime ode to the Supreme Being is translated from the Russian. It was written by one of the most distinguished poets, Derzawin. The ode is said to have been translated into the Chinese and Tartar languages, written on a rich silk, and suspended in the Imperial palace at Pekin. The Emperor of Japan has it translated into the Japanese,—embroidered with gold, and hung up in the temple of Jeddo. We believe that no man however powerful his intellect or sublime his imagination, unassisted with Holy Writ, ever did or ever will compose so exalted a poem. It abounds in scriptural allusions. The finest parts of the ode were written when the soul of the author, perhaps unconsciously, was wrapt in contemplation of passages in the Bible. One of the most exquisite verses in the poem, as where the poet, feeling how the nothingness of humanity, takes shelter in the gloriously consoling idea, that the Divine spirit shines in its smile, "As sailing o'the sunbeam in the drop of dew." Immediately afterwards follow the words, "In the I live, and breathe and dwell." It is manifest that the whole of this truly beautiful passage is borrowed from Acts, Chap xvii v 28, "In him we live and move, and have our being."

O thou eternal one! whose presence bright
All space doth occupy—all motion guide!
Unchanged through time's all-devastating flight;
Thou only God—there is no God beside!
Being above all beings, mighty one!
Whom none can comprehend and none explore,
Who fill'st existence with thyself alone,
Embracing all—supporting—ruling o'er!
Being whom we call God, and know no more!

In its sublime research, philosophy,
May measure out the ocean deep—may count
The sands or the sun's rays—but God! for thee
There is no weight nor measure; none can mount
Up to thy dwelling place! Nature's bright arch,
That's knolled by thy light, is but a veil
Which shrouds thy throne! Yon sun, whose noon-day burns
Before thy countenance, is but as dark!
And thought is lost ere thought can soar so high,
Even like past moments in eternity.

Thou from primeval nothingness didst call
First chaos, then existence;—life to clay
Earth by thy breath and motion;—form to all
Thy spirit gives beauty to all things;
Seasons their changes; morning, noon and night
Their varied shades and glories; and the spring
Thy wonders all displays.

Thou stayest the waves at once in their career,
Opposed by storms, to the controlless wrath
Of the wing'd winds;
And the big thunder marshalled in its path
Fearfully flashing forth the world on fire!
Thou calm'st the elements!—and they become
Thy instruments, and wait upon thy will,
Directed by thy power, like arrows sent
From the strong bow by the archer's arm.

Thou seest the wicked man exult—his eye
Glistening with joy—his heart with wishes warm'd,
Exulting in his speed—when, like a cloud,
Thy presence blasts his purposes, and all
His hopes are frustrated—he falls—he dies!
Thou look'st upon the just man, and he lives
Before thee—sunshine of his soul thou art!
A fountain in the desert of his heart!
A pillar of a cloud before his path!
A shield and a high tower in times of peril!
And a deliverer in the day of battle!
And a rock, whose foundation cannot be moved!
Thou art the keeper of his steps!—the guard
Of his slumbers!—the calmer of his woes!
The satisfier of his needs and wishes!
Thou clothest him with salvation, as with
A robe of righteousness!—and crownest him
With mercy, as a crown of glory!

Thou art the source of light! Are thy bright eyes
Closed? or do they look through the expanse of heaven?
Thou art the beginning of existence!—Who
Can comprehend thy being without end?
Thou art the judge of all things!—Who can stand
In thy presence, when once thine anger burns?
Who can endure the lightning of thine eye?
Or the full thunder of thy terrible voice?
Thou speakest, and the mighty universe
Trembles to its foundation!—Thou dost breathe
Upon the nations, and they wither away!
Thou frownest, and they are troubled!—Thou
Takest away their breath, and they die!
And return to their dust!
Thou sendest forth thy spirit, and they live!
And renew the face of the earth!

Thou art the same from eternity to eternity!
Time cannot change thee!
Nor can space limit thee!
Nor can any being say, "Thou was formed by me!"
Thou existest by thyself!
Nothing could be before thee!
And nothing shall be after thee!
Thou fillest all things!
And all things live by thee!
Thou art the first cause!
And the last end!
Thou art without parts!
And therefore indivisible!
Who can know thee!
Who can conceive of thee!
Who can express thee!
Who can paint thee!
Thou art incomprehensible!
Thou art invisible!
Thou art without figure or form!
Who shall dare to represent thee!
Who shall dare to make any likeness of thee!
Thou art one!
And there is none like unto thee!
Thou art omnipotent!
Thou art holy!
Thou art just!
Thou art infinite in all perfections!
Thou art the Supreme Being!
Thou art what thou art!
And thy name is I AM!

From the American Messenger.

The Hope of the Unbeliever

Is there comfort in the hope of the sinner? Not he is not happy at no hour—the existence of God, and he certainly cannot be if he attends it. There is no comfort to the man who denies his accountability to God—none in the darkness of infidelity—none in the idea of annihilation. Such a man, feels no hope—no trust in the God who made him; no happy love to the souls of his fellow-creatures—no comfort in existence, no object under heaven, no value in the future hour of his departure. He may seem to have no belief in a future state, no fear of a judgment, no faith in the appearance of death, no end of misery, will be known but annihilation.

Do you remember the melancholy story of the steamer Atlantic? If you belong to God class, who live without God and without hope in the world, still to avoid the dreadful curse. In that moment of life or death, are you sure that you could have found spirits drawn as calmly as did the venerable Dr. Armstrong, who with others expected to be drowned on the wreck, he said to his friends, I hope we shall all reach the shore in safety; but if not, I have prepared myself for the event. I am ready to die. I am willing to die. I am happy to die. I have no fear of death. I have no hope but in the mercy of God in Christ Jesus. I am a poor sinner, and I know it; but I trust in the mercy of God in Christ Jesus, and am ready and willing to go.

Those are the language of real Christians! Do not my unbelieving friends, desire to have such confidence in death, such peace of mind, such hope of heaven? Has he the treasure of heart upon his life and happiness upon the point of the first sunken shall sink the ship? He has no foundation on which to hope which, by any possibility, can carry him into the presence of death with the confidence of that good man, whose soul was in heaven the moment after he entered the boundary line between life and death.

There is but one hope, faith in existence beyond the grave, and looks for all his enjoyments in time, watch that tear, and you will see anxiety and restlessness that are but too common. If the comforts of life last, would not surpass his expectations, or if on arriving up of the account there be experience when death lands it over to the judgment by final settlement. On this point, hear the testimony of a man worthy of all confidence, now about fifty years of age, who during the greater part of his life was an infidel and an unbeliever. The writer is intimately acquainted with him, and has the statement from his own lips.

"From early boyhood, say for the last fifty or sixty of my life, I was a disbeliever in the Bible, the day of judgment, and even in the existence of God himself. I was a controlling power all around me, but never accorded it with a divine person. My creed extended to the world as the end of all things, and sought if happiness was to be found at all, it must be reached in this life. The fact is, at the age of thirteen years I discarded all the influence of my pious parents and friends, and claimed the right to control my own acts.

"As I advanced in life I denounced the clergy, closed my ears to all Christian advice, and my eyes to all the providences of God. I seldom entered a church. My Sabbaths were de-corated by devotion to boating, fishing, hunting, nay, to all sorts of amusements, which I took great pleasure in boldly presenting before the public. I ridiculed and even abused those who were disposed to observe the Sabbath. I have a vivid recollection of the prevailing state of my mind when I heard the Sabbath bells, and looked upon the multitudes repairing to the house of God. I said in my heart, "You fools, I never saw God, and you never did; why not act as sensible beings, and enjoy yourselves as I do?" In a word, I determined 'to sail the ship myself,' and for thirty-six years I did so. Was I happy? No; all was dark and gloomy in the prospect. Death and the grave were constantly before me, and though in perfect health, yet when thinking of the future I was always disturbed.

"My views and feelings are now greatly changed. And why? I gave a moment's honest attention to the salvation of my soul, and by the grace of God I am now happy. Dear fellow-sinner, whether you admit your accountability or not, if you will open your eyes and ears, and fall up your heart to God for mercy and salvation through Jesus Christ, you can secure that same change, and be happy too.

"I was induced to attend the dedication of a church in the place where I lived. The preacher was earnest and warm in his appeal to the consciences of the audience. I was a close listener to his words. Truth was permitted for the first time to light up my dark mind. The Spirit of God became an inmate of my heart. From a listener I became an inquirer. In due time the great truths of the gospel opened upon my enlightened soul. I saw my sins and my ruin. The anguish of my spirit was awful in the extreme. I was actually on the very borders of despair. None but God knows the struggle, and sufferings of that hour, or, blessed be His name, the peace and comfort which I now enjoy. I can tell you of my present happy faith, and of the contrast between the hope of the unrepenting sinner and that blessed hope which by the grace of God now cheers my soul. I can tell you that the future now looks bright, that there is now no sting in death, no victory in the grave, no fears in ignorance. Open your eyes and ears and heart and God will give you the Holy Spirit, and with it a blessing so great that your soul cannot contain it."

THANK GOD—I could not write down twenty cases where I wished God had done otherwise than he did; but which, I now see, had I my own will, would have led to extensive mischief. The life of a Christian is a life of paradoxes. He must lay hold on God; he must follow hard after him; he must determine not to let him go. And yet you must learn to let God alone. God knows before God is one of the most difficult of all christian graces—to sit where he places us; to be what he would have us be, and this as long as he pleases.

BELVOIR, NEAR LENOIR,
CALDWELL COUNTY, NORTH-CAROLINA.

THIS place, late the residence of the undersigned, is offered for sale on very reasonable terms, privately until the 1st Monday of July next ensuing, when, if not previously disposed of, it will be put up to the highest bidder at public auction. The tract of Land comprises

250 Acres,

50 to 60 of which is first rate bottom under the plow. From 20 to 30 acres of good timber is also in cultivation. On the premises of the tract is a well-built, Two Dwelling Houses, a Cottage house, containing four rooms and convenient rooms on the ground floor, with dining room, store room, pantry and library attached by a covered way. There are also on the premises a large, two stories high and very conveniently arranged office for mercantile business and forges; all the necessary out buildings, such as stables, negro houses, &c., a growing and fruitful orchard, containing about 200 trees of different kinds of fruit just beginning to bear.

The situation is one of the most pleasant and desirable in the State, commanding a full view of the finest mountain scenery and falling off in every direction from the house. To any gentleman in the low country desiring a cool, healthy and pleasant summer residence it presents an eligible chance. Further information may be obtained of the undersigned, by addressing him at Charlotte or Lincolnton.

Hoi! for South Troy and Eagle Mills
A MINE OF WEALTH—
A little more help and its riches shall be developed to the astonishment of the world and to the everlasting profit of the south.

THE properties of Eagle Mills and South Troy, the finest impost of cotton lands in the South, are manifesting what powers of increase the valley lands possess by a system of judicious cultivation. Their motto is, "ONWARD! ONWARD!"—and in fact, both Mines have been handsomely remunerative. $4,000, cash each, in eleven months, is not to be sneezed at. And the cash can be realized by a little more investment of capital, which could not be more safely and profitably employed. Any one who has money to invest, and is desirous of making it work for him, should not lose sight of the fact that Eagle Mills, with its recently constructed road to Salisbury for rail-roads it ought to be, connects with the interests of the world. To this end a survey of the route between the two places is now being made, and the Engineer informs us that it will be completed in a few days. Some Troy will go from here to Salisbury, and a portion of the capital will be invested in rail roads. Doctors, Lawyers and Printers, are also encouraged, and would do best here.

DR. STRONG'S
PECTORAL STOMACH PILLS.

A remedy for Coughs, Colds, Catarrh, Croup, Hoarseness, Asthma, Consumption, Nervous Diseases, Dyspepsia, Pneumonia, Sick Headache, Diseases of the Heart, Liver and all kinds of Bilious and Pulmonary Complaints. Also Fever in the Chest, Back and Side, and all diseases arising from a disordered Stomach, and to relieve the sickness and fainting from exposure to heavy foods, or noxious and unwholesome vapors.

WARRANTED TO BE PURELY VEGETABLE.

These Pills act as an expectorant, tonic, and aperient, and are designed to operate on the stomach much in the same manner as the form of Expectorants, syrups, Balsams and compositions of the present day, being what the public have long wanted, and put at such a low price that all will be able to obtain them. One box of these pills, which costs but 25 cents, is sometimes more than the power of curing the disease for which they are recommended, than the high priced, one dollar bottles of any of the expectorants, syrups, balsams, or nostrums we have ever before published a fact true of all those will continue any one of the truth of this statement.

They possess properties peculiarly adapted to restore the blood and vital energies to a healthy state. They loosen and discharge all the morbid secretions, assist greatly the expectoration, and render the lungs free from that effete matter which if retained in the blood is liable to produce consumption, or some other dangerous disease. Their operation on the system is gentle and mild, producing no debility, but on the contrary, by relieving every portion of the system from disease, they restore the vital energies to their natural healthy action, and thus impart strength to the whole system.

Each box contains 25 pills.—Price 25 cents.

DR. STRONG'S
COMPOUND SANATIVE PILLS

WARRANTED TO BE PURELY VEGETABLE.

HEALTH is too important to be trifled with; yet we find persons every day who give the most careful attention to their ordinary business pursuits, yet neglect that which is far more important to them, their health. If these invaluable Pills were kept on hand by every family, and resorted to on the first symptoms of disease, they would save many a valuable life, sacrificed by delay. They are a most superior Medicine in the cure of all Bilious Complaints, Chills and Fever, Dyspepsia, Costiveness, Liver Complaint, Jaundice, Sick Headache, Scrofula, Loss of Appetite, and all lingering diseases.

They purify the blood, equalize the circulation, restore the Liver, Kidneys, and other Secretory Organs to a healthy tone and action; and from their tonic effects, prevent that general prostration and debility of the stomach and intestines that is so often the consequence of a free use of other purgative medicines. Hence as a Female Medicine, they have no equal; and when taken according to the directions, they never fail to cure the very worst cases of Piles, and all other remedies fail. They act in concert with nature, and assist her in her efforts to overcome disease; they assist, therefore, exert an influence all-powerful in preserving and restoring the general health. They have been used in every form of disease, and in various climates, and their excellence proved, in cases where medical skill and many boasted remedies had failed to afford relief. Diseases that seemed the most opposite in their nature, have yielded with equal facility to their use, and cures have been effected in cases that seemed beyond hope. Nor is it strange that such should be the case, for all disease, however differently named, disorganizes the secretions, and impairs the vitality of the blood.

A medicine, therefore, that is purely vegetable, and aids nature to restore these SECRETIVE functions to a healthy state, must prove of service in all forms of disease.

DR. STRONG'S COMP SANATIVE PILLS,

possess these rare virtues, and are therefore not a mere purgative medicine, but a general renovator of disease, a purifier of the blood, and a strengthener of the system.

Those who have once tried these Pills never afterwards feel willing to be without them, which is sufficient proof of their good qualities.

Each box contains 25 pills. Price 25 cents.

THE GREAT KENTUCKY
SOUTHERN REMEDY

DR JOHN BULL'S SARSAPARILLA.

IS put up in full quart bottles, and contains the strength of three pints. This Sarsaparilla is the most powerful and concentrated preparation of Sarsaparilla ever offered to the public. It has been a well established fact, for years past, that Sarsaparilla, when pure and properly prepared, was the only true panacea for all diseases originating from an impure state of the blood, the use of mercury, following which, will follow in youth, barrenness, &c. We have never, that JOHN BULL'S FLUID EXTRACT OF SARSAPARILLA is the only preparation before the public, that is prepared on strictly scientific principles, and of sufficient strength. The Sarsaparilla is guaranteed, without regard to price and every pound, before being used is subject to the strictest chemical tests, and if not genuine can still be here being used.

Dr. Bull's Sarsaparilla also contains the virtues of several other valuable medical roots, together forming the best compound, and producing the Greatest Curative Agent in the known World.
