And the "dove-like eye's soft brightness,'
Is darkly curtained now.

But ah! the sad habiliments
That clad that silent form,
Tell that the loving heart beneath,
Is chilled by Death's cold storm.

Oh! bitter desolation,
For a moment we forget,
That her gentle spirit still survives,
And smiles upon us yet.

Death, perhaps thou art an angel,
Thou surely not earths foe,
Then when to us comest for loved ones,
Why sadly change them so.

Did ye know her? Then ye loved her,
And lingered in her way,
For the heart grew happier and more glad,
Beneath her gentle sway.

Blest spirit! in thy happier home
Remember us till we,
Redeemed by Calvary's Sacrifice
Claim Heaven at last with thee. AMICUS.

CHARLOTTE HOTEL.

THIS Hotel situated in the centre of the town of Charlotte, convenient to all the places of business—is still kept open for public accommodation. The proprietor has been engaged in keeping a public house at the stand for fourteen years. He now offers to the use of the public a new edition of his former house greatly enlarged and improved, presenting in front a two story VERANDA 100 feet in length by 12 feet in width, handsomely shaded by trees in the side walk, affording a pleasant promenade at all hours of the day.

The house is thoroughly furnished throughout, and in every part of it creature comforts are abundant and tangible, especially in the DINING ROOM, where the inner man is renewed day by day.

Connected with this Hotel are stables affording room for 100 horses, abundantly furnished with grain and provender, attended by faithful and obliging hostlers.

The proprietor feels confident that with his long experience and many new advantages added to his own native disposition to be pleasing and agreeable, he is prepared to offer his friends and the rest of mankind, as many comforts and as much good cheer as will be found anywhere, perhaps a little more so.

SELECT
English and Classical School.

THIS is the first time in my scholastic history that I have addressed a communication to my friends and patrons. The following circumstances have rendered such a course, on my part necessary: On the 16 inst., Mr. Harry commenced, as a Teacher, taking young ladies under his charge. Simultaneously with this commencement, a report was circulated that Mr. Harry would soon have twenty young ladies in his school, as those parents who had daughters under my charge would immediately transfer them to him; and it was added that such a course of conduct on the part of parents was suggested by me, and would receive my hearty concurrence. Of the origin of this report, I am as yet, entirely ignorant; I am convinced, however, that the object of the circulator, or circulators thereof, was to do me a serious injury. I have too much confidence in the integrity of Professor Johnston and Mr. Harry, to suppose, for a moment, that either of them would originate, or give currency to any such report. The report needs not any contradiction, for it carries its absurdity with it. Grateful for the liberal patronage which my friends and patrons have extended to me, I take this opportunity of informing them, and the public generally, that the present session of my school will close on the 15th of August, and the next session will commence on the first Monday (1st day) in October, 1855. If my school should increase, I will employ a competent and faithful assistant; all parents, therefore, who desire to put their children under my charge are most respectfully requested to do so.
