TOUCHING INCIDENT.—A correspondent of the Methodist Protestant, after alluding to the attacks of the Northern religious journals on slavery, relates the following interesting anecdote:

Being in Surry county, Va., in the fall of 1840, I attended a religious meeting held in an old colonial church; one of the relics of our Union with England. After a warm sermon, an invitation was given to seekers of religion to approach the altar of prayer.—Among others who availed themselves of this invitation was a gentleman, I judge, of forty-five years of age. There seemed to be much sympathy felt for him by those present, and I judged him to be a man well thought of in the neighborhood, which I learned was a fact. But I was particularly attracted by the manifest sympathy of an aged negroe in the congregation. I judged him to be a man of eighty years; his frame, once athletic and erect, was now bent beneath the accumulated weight of years. I learned that the relation of master and slave subsisted between the penitent at the altar and the weeping old man at his seat; which was near to the end door of the church.—The penitent, truly agonized in prayer, and old Jeffrey, for this was the name of the negro, evidently joined with deep feeling the prayer of the wrestling mourner. It was not long ere a shout, as from those victorious in battle, went up and the walls of the house resounded with the praises of the victor; the wrestler had prevailed; prayer was answered, and the happy convert was now here and now there, embracing friends and receiving their congratulations. But none in that house were more joyous than old Jeffrey, and raising himself on his staff which gave him support, he made his way towards his happy young master, (as he called him,) and the master at the same time making toward his slave, they met about midway the church, and the convert fell on the neck of his old servant and wept with joy, in the aisle of the house of God and in the face of the congregation. And words like these were spoken by Jeffrey, "Bless God, my poor boy, I have been praying for you this long time."

There was no dry eye in that assembly; and the two, master and slave, were the only objects of attraction for the time.

THE RESOLUTE.—The English papers are largely devoted to the accounts of the hospitalities tendered to Captain Hartstein, and are rivalling each other in terms of admiration and gratification at his friendly mission. As one of the many paragraphs on the subject, we quote the following from the London Leader:

"Other great States may present gifts to the British sovereign, but they are unable to achieve what the American Republic has just accomplished. The sovereigns of those States possess a command of means which no one man in America can enjoy. The mere caprice of an Emperor could have ordered her to be fitted up at the expense of his subjects, could have sent her back by one of his obedient servants; and probably, on such an occasion, the ceremony on the deck would have been somewhat more studied in its courtliness. Nay, we will not deny that such an Emperor, if he pleased, might have chosen a manly, chivalrous officer to do his duty with grace and zest. Yet how could Queen Victoria have felt in such a case, that Germany or France had presented to her a gift? How could she discriminate, with perfect certainty, between the court ceremony of her welcome, and the heartfelt desire to welcome and to please her? It is literally the people of America, 'my countrymen,' who has made this gift—the whole Republic of the west. It is absolutely impossible that any adulteration of craft or sycophancy can have mingled with the friendliness; and the "personal feeling" which is avowed is thoroughly genuine. How can the gift be returned? It is returned already; every gift handsomely and spontaneously presented is returned when it is cordially and frankly accepted."

THIRTY CHILDREN.—About a year ago Mr. Jesse Harbor, of Concord Township, in this county, informed us that he was the father of 29 children, and that he was not without hope that he would yet be blessed with the thirtieth. Well, sure enough, the old gentleman was in town the other day and told us that his wife had presented him with the thirtieth child. Mr. Harbor is in his 72d year, was one of the early pioneer settlers of the country, and is remarkably active for a man of his years, as will readily be inferred. He has been married twice. By his first wife he had 13 children, 12 of whom he raised. By his second wife, who is 42 years of age, he has 17 children, making 30 in all.—Ubrianna (Ohio) Citizen.

Obituary.

Died, in Iredell county, on the 4th instant, Mrs. J. E. GILLESPIE, consort of Wm. A. Gillespie. The deceased for a number of years was a consistent member of the M. E. Church and adorned her profession by an upright walk and godly conversation. Being admonished for some months previous of her departure, she had only to set her house in readiness for that momentous crisis, and he that had been her stay in former days, forsook her not when passing through the dark valley and shadow of death, and leaning upon his rod and staff she exclaimed, "come Lord Jesus, come quickly."—Com.

DERANGEMENT OF THE LIVER,

Is one of the most common, as well as the most formidable of diseases known to American physicians. It had for years attracted the closest attention of the medical faculty in all parts of the United States, and yet up to the time of the discovery of Dr. M'Lane's great Specific, prepared by Fleming Bros., of Pittsburgh, Pa., it was almost beyond the reach of medical skill. Thousands had perished without even a hope of relief, and although thousands may yet be destined to feel the direful effects of this most complicated disease, it is now, thanks to the research of Dr. M'Lane, most completely brought within the scope of medical control. The proprietors, Fleming Bros., Pittsburgh, Pa., of the Liver Pills feel confident that they offer a remedy which has been fully tested by time and which has never failed of success when fairly tried.

☞ Purchasers will be careful to ask for DR. M'LANE' CELEBRATED LIVER PILL, manufactured by FLEMING BROS., of PITTSBURGH, Pa. There are other Pills purporting to be Liver Pills, now before the public. Dr. M'Lane's genuine Liver Pills, also his celebrated Vermifuge, can now be had at all respectable drug stores.

COLUMBIA MARKET.

COLUMBIA, JANUARY 24, 1857.

COTTON.—There was no material or quotable change in the cotton market yesterday; in consequence of the very severe state of the weather, the receipts are very light, and therefore, the transactions are limited.

BACON.—We have no material quotable change to notice in the bacon market, and therefore we continue to quote 8¼ a 9 for shoulders; sides 10 a 10½; and hams 11 a 12 cents per pound; new bacon freely commands 12 a 12½.

CORN.—There is a good demand for this article, and prices are looking up. We now quote $7½ a 80 cents per bushel.

OATS.—There has been no quotable change in oats since our last weekly report, and we therefore continue to quote 60 a 65 cents per bushel.

FLOUR.—There has been no quotable change in the price of flour since our last report. Still the tendency of prices is rather in favor of sellers.—We still quote, however, $7 a $7½ for common to good brands; superfine $7½ a $8; extra family $8½ per barrel.

CHARLESTON MARKET.

CHARLESTON, JAN. 23, 1857.

COTTON.—There was a very active demand for cotton to-day, which resulted in the sale of upwards of 3,000 bales, at 10½ a 12¼c.

Land for Sale.

I WILL sell on reasonable terms, 120 acres of Land on the waters of Mountain Creek, 5 miles west of Rutherfordton. The Land is on Hickory Nut Gap Road, leaving from Rutherfordton to Asheville. It is finely timbered and well-watered. Some 10 or 15 acres are under cultivation. Some 75 acres of the Land is rich. There are some double cabins on it and a Spring of fine water near the house.—There is one of the handsomest building spots on the road that can be found anywhere. If the above is not as much Land as the purchaser wishes, I can add more to it, or he can buy another tract cheap, adjoining it. I would refer any person wishing further information to James W. Gibson, whose Land adjoins the tract I propose to sell.
