

Sunday Reading.

CONFIDE IN GOD.

There once lived in an old brown cottage, so small that it looked like a chicken coop, a solitary woman. She was some thirty years of age, her little garden, knit and spun for a living. She was known everywhere from village to village, by the cognomen of "Happy Nancy."

Perhaps it is because I have not got anybody but God. I feel that the world is looking up at you. You are rich folk, like you depend upon their families and their homes; they're got to keep thinking of their business, their wives and children, and then they're always mighty afraid of trouble ahead.

Well, but, Nancy, suppose a frost should come after your fruit trees are all in blossom, and your little plants out spruce. But I don't suppose I can ever suppose I don't want to suppose; except that the Lord will do everything right.

There, you are at it again, said Nancy, shaking her head, it's always looking out for some black cat. Why, if I was you, I'd keep the devil at arm's length, instead of taking him right into my heart—well do you a decent sight of mischief.

It would be well for us to imitate happy Nancy, and "never suppose." If you see a cloud, don't suppose it is going to rain; if you see a woman don't suppose a scolding—do whatever your hands find to do, and there heaven will be more than ready to reward you.

THE PERFECTIONS OF GOD. The glory of the crown of Christ, which we are already enjoying, is the glory of God's infinite perfections displayed in the work of redemption.

FARMING BY RULE. If farming is a science and a trade, as we believe, then it ought to be done by a rule. It has system in principle and ought to have in practice.

FAITH WORKING BY LOVE. Christian faith leads in tension all the strings of the soul at once, and extends its influence to all points at the same time. We have seen Leonidas perish at Thermopylae for the salvation of Greece.

what does not follow that is miserable! All this may be avoided by systematic business. Every merchant knows that if his business is not done in order and in time, he is lost.

Agricultural. MOLES AND CORN—ARE MOLES DESTRUCTIVE TO CORN. EDITOR OBITO FARMER:—I would wish to inquire, through the "Farmer," the best way to prevent moles from destroying corn after planting.

REMARKS.—The common American Shrew Mole, (Scalops aquaticus), is blamed with doing a great deal of harm, of which it is entirely innocent. It is the common receipt of opinion that it feeds on grubs, roots of plants, and other vegetable food, while the fact is, that it seldom, if ever, does so.
