THE FIELD OF MAGENTA.

Yesterday evening, not without dimcalty, I succeeded in getting here to inspect the field of the glorious battle fought on Saturday lant. My pen is not adequate to describe the heartend ing sense which surrounds me. Trees throse down by the dreadful effect of ar tiller; heaps of dead bodies, human limbs centround about, carriages broken, farm seathered about, extringes broken, farm houses harnt, crops trampied, sinewards de-wasseted, houses plandered—such is the de-plarable sight which has not my eyes since r arrival in this town. Town, however, the tremendous struggle, for it was three taken and retaken during the action. Not a piece of furniture is to be found; not even a chair to sit doos. Some of the details I sent you on a Sanday wate not quite correct. The field guns captured by our troops were not twenty, but four. I was led into an error by a man who showed me some other pains which were captured at Palestee and Horgo Verceill. The battle of Mageitta was not begun by our troops, but by the Austrians, who, although in full retreat towards Pavia, were ordered to change their front and attack our advanced guard, which had crussed the Ticino at Buffalora. One battalian of the Zousses and two companies of the same re-giment, together with two regiments of Gremilines, all belonging to the Imperial Guard, the purposes we first process.
