Poetry.

Work and Think.

Hammer, tongs and anvil ringing,
Waking echoes all day long,
In a deep tenor voice are singing
Thrifty Labor's rough song.
From a thousand fly-wheels bounding,
From a thousand humming looms,
Night and day the notes are sounding
Through the misty factory rooms.
Listen! workman, to their playing—
There's advice in every clink;
Still they're singing—still they're saying
"Wisdom you labor, learn to think!"

Think what power lies within you,
For what triumphs ye are formed,
If, in aid of hand and sinew,
Hearts by emulation warmed,
Mighty thought ye woo and cherish,
What shall hold your spirits down?
Who shall mock your high hopes perish!
Why shall ye miss Fortune's frown?
Do ye wish for profit, pleasure?
Thirst at learning's fount to drink?
Crave ye honor, fame, or treasure?
Ye the germe have—work, and think!

Think! but not alone of living,
Like the horse, from day to day;
Think! but not alone of giving
Health or self, or soul or pay!
Think! Oh, be machines no longer—
Engines made of flesh and blood!
Think! twill make you fresher, stronger!
Look you to the great and good!
Thought bursts ants and lightens labor!
Thought forbids the soul to sink!
Stifles sport and love for neighbor,
Mark the men who work—and think!

Think!—and let the thought new nerve you—
Think of men who've gone before;
Leaving lustrous names to serve you:
You, o'er the path they've pioneered o'er!
Freedom fights and wins her charters
With the sword of thought—the pen!
Tyranny can find no quarter
In the ranks of thinking men.
Think! for thought's a word of power—
Power to make oppression shrink;
Grasp ye, then, the precious dower!
Power is—wield it—work, and think!

Hold your heads up, toiling brothers;
Stronger we be, we're mightier
Labor, for ourselves and others,
Is for man a noble lot.
Nobler far, and holier, higher,
Than the vain luxury of sloth,
If but toil that mortal requires,
Also time gives for our souls.
Power to conquer time is given—
Power that forms the strongest link
Twixt an upright man and Heaven,
Her noblest power—the power to think!

Miscellaneous.

JONES AND JOHNSON.

BY MARIA D. CUSHMAN.

William Johnson and Edwin Jones were both of them farmers, and they were also near neighbors. Their farms were beautifully situated; the soil naturally productive. So far there was not a particle of difference between the two places. Yet they wore a very different aspect. Johnson's buildings looked nice and tidy. His door yard was clean, his house was neatly painted, his windows whole. His barn and out-buildings were snug and comfortable, his orchard looked thrifty, and the trees were carefully dressed. Now Mr. Jones had no more of a family to support than his neighbor, yet the aspect of his house and farm were very different. Old rubbish was kicking around in the yard, that should have been in less unsightly places; his barn looked weather-beaten and neglected; rags were seen in spots where panes of glass were expected to be found; there were large cracks in his barn through which the winds of heaven had free course. His apple trees were disfigured by old bark and dead limbs; in short everything seemed to wear a look of dilapidation and neglect.—Edwin Jones was a hard working man, yet everything was at loose ends with him, and he often caught himself wondering how it was that this neighbor Johnson kept along so smoothly and quiet, yet had everything in perfect order.

One rainy day in the fall, after harvesting was over, Johnson was at work in his tool chamber when his neighbor Jones entered.

"Johnson," said the latter after he had watched his neighbor's plane a few moments, "how much did that sled of yours cost? I have got to have one this winter."

"Oh, that cost me nothing; I made that myself. I got out the timber last winter, so that matter's disposed of; and I feel proud of it too. It's my first attempt."

"Well, neighbor Johnson, I don't see how in the world you get along so. Your farm don't produce any more than mine does, and I don't believe you work as hard as I do. Your wife don't make any better butter than mine; your sheep don't grow any better wool. You raise more fruit, to be sure."

"I have not so many trees as you."

"No, but the fruit is of a better quality, and finds a ready market."

"Yes, because I have taken pains to obtain the best grafts. My trees were the same as yours when we started. My cows give more milk than yours do in winter, for they have a warmer barn. I raise more pork than you do, because my pens are tight and comfortable, and so on."

"And I suppose you are laying up money!" muttered Jones with a great fallen look.

"Certainly I am—about $200 a year."

"So much!" exclaimed Jones with a look of surprise: "why, I can't lay up a single cent; in fact am running behind."

"Let me tell you the secret," said Johnson, in the kindest and most neighborly way. "Last summer I saw you buy two new rakes and two pitchforks; now, how much did they all cost you?"

"Let's see—two dollars and a half."

"Well, my fork handle got broke last winter, so did some of my rakes. I bro't them right up here, and when at leisure just fixed them up. There was so much saved. Now you have nothing at all to do to day."

"No, indeed! it rains too hard."

"But I am at work making my apple boxes; how are you going to get yours?"

"Grainson makes them for me, and I am to give him a barrel of apples."

"Which is as good as two dollars. Now if you hire as good a sled as mine made, it will cost you at least twelve dollars. You see how these little things count up."

"And all this comes of your having tools to work with," returned Jones, whose eyes were beginning to open.

"Yes, neighbor."

"Well, if I had tools I might save a good many sums in the course of a year, but I never have the money to spare for them.—Why these ere tools of yourn must cost mor'n fifty dollars."

"Just about that."

"Then I'm mighty afraid I shall have to scrape along with borrowed tools. I shall never have that sum to spare."

"You don't understand. Let me explain the secret. I should never have gone with a fifty dollar bill and bought these things. I have produced one at a time with my grog and tobacco money."

"Grog and tobacco money!" repeated Jones, with a look of blank surprise.

"Yes," said Johnson with a smile. "Now I am going to give you a lecture. I am going to give you the benefit of my experience. The first year I began on a farm I used to have spirits by me, and every now and then take a drink to keep up my strength, I said to myself. In the long, warm days, in haying and harvesting, the bottle used to be patronized liberally. But I finally began to see that it was growing hard for me to resist; and so after deliberating upon the subject I came to the conclusion that rum and tobacco did me no good, and might do much evil, and I would leave them off, and I did. So I commenced laying up the money they cost me. I saw how much might be saved if I could do the work myself, I had been obliged to pay for, and so I began buying such tools as I thought would come handy. At the end of the first year I found I had quite a collection, and it had all come from money I might otherwise have drank and smoked up, and I felt healthier and happier than the year before. I knew I had laid the foundation for future good. Time passed on, my grog and tobacco money kept coming in.—It was now a hammer, then a saw, then an augur, and an other plane, a bit-stock, &c., till I have now an excellent stock of tools; and they are not only a source of great profit, but solid comfort into the bargain. I believe, friend Jones, in giving up my grog and tobacco I have been a great gainer.—Now, do you not think you would do as well without it?"

"Johnson," said Jones, at length, after a protracted silence, "I wish you had told me of this long ago."

"I was afraid it might offend you; it is a delicate matter at best."

"I know it, but Edwin Jones is not the man to be offended with a neighbor for friendly advice."

"Well," said Johnson, with an extreme look of gratification, "it's never too late to mend, and if you get in a pinch where fifty or a hundred dollars will be of use to you, come to me."

Mr. Jones thanked his friend with a suspicious moisture shining in his eye, and shortly after took his leave. The very next time he went to town, instead of refilling his brown jug and empty box, he brought home a new auger, and a proud and happy man was he at work with his own tools. Time passed away, and he soon found himself the owner of quite a little lot of implements.—This thing operated in many ways for good. Now that he had the ability to fix up his buildings without borrowing tools, he began to take pride in doing it. He reset his windows, roofed his hen house, built new pig-pens, tightened his barn, and in rainy weather was never without a pleasant and profitable employment. His cows do not break through the barn floor now, and they give as much milk, his bees make as much honey; his trees yield as good apples as his neighbor Johnson's do, and all this is because he stopped his grog and tobacco expenditures, bought his tools, left off depending up on his neighbors, and so he is now a happy, thriving and contented farmer.

TAX BILLS OF THE REVOLUTION, AD VALOREM!

At the first session of the General Assembly after the Declaration of Independence, our forefathers smarting under the iniquitous tax bills of the Royal government, passed the following AD VALOREM Revenue Bill. After the preamble:

"Whereas, the levying a tax on property by way of General Assessment, will tend to the ease of the inhabitants of the State and WILL GREATLY RELIEVE THE POOR PEOPLE thereof, and as it is absolutely necessary for the support of the Government charges thereof, that a tax be immediately levied and moneys collected as soon as may be." It was enacted:

That one half a penny be levied on the pound value of lands, lots, houses, SLAVES, money, money at interest, stock in trade, horses and cattle.

White polls not owning £100 value of Property to pay four shillings.

Under the ad valorem system, while the Legislature can exercise a discretion as to what subjects shall be taxed, we have a war debt upon us, we have our taxes. Let us then return to the revenue system of the Revolution.

AN UNFAILING CURE FOR
Gonorrhœa & all Diseases of the Urinary Organs.

THIS REMEDY cures when all other preparations fail. It is entirely unlike every oth er compound; containing no MINERAL Poison or NAUSEOUS Drug; as it is prepared solely from ROOTS, BARKS and LEAVES, and has been handed down, from one generation to another, by the "MEDICINE MEN." It is offered to the public on its own intrinsic merits. It performs its duty quickly and thoroughly. The UNFORTUNATE, of either sex will be repaid by using this REMEDY, instead of ruining themselves at the mercy of some Quack or Professor. This REMEDY strikes at the very Root of the disease; its tendency is not simply to suspend the poison, but to REMOVE THE CAUSE on which it depends.—Full directions in pamphlet form, accompany each bottle.—The speedy and permanent relief afforded by this Remedy, in all cases of GONORRHŒA, GLEET, GRAVEL, STRICTURE, FLOUR ALBUS, (WHITES IN FEMALES), and all Diseases of the Urinary Organs, has astonished the most scientific men of the age. Heimstreet's Inimitable
HAIR COLORING!

A PERFECT HAIR RESTORATIVE, promoting the strength and growth of the Hair, and giving it all the beauty of youth. Do you want it?

SCHODACK LAKE, Essex Co., N. Y., February 8, 1860.

W. E. HAGAN, Troy N. Y.—Dear Sir:

Having used your Hair Coloring or Restorative, and being more pleased with it, I take pleasure in making the following statement: From the effects of a very severe fit of sickness, when about 18 years of age, my hair commenced turning grey, and so continued to grow until it became perfectly white, being very harsh and coarse. Last Summer I had procured my fifty-fourth year, when I was induced by a friend to purchase two bottles of Heimstreet's Hair Restorative prepared by you. I commenced using it according to directions, and in a few days was surprised to find that my hair from the roots outward was turning back to its original color. It so continued to grow until it was as truly brown and glossy as it was in my youthful days, and is now fully restored to its original color.

MYLA SEAMAN.

Essex Co., ss.—Myla Seaman came before me and was duly sworn, that the above statement is true, this 6th day of February, 1860.

JOEL F. POTTER, Justice of the Peace.

FITCHBURG, Vt., Aug. 1, 1857.

I hereby certify, that my hair having become quite grey, I used Heimstreet's Hair Restorative, (prepared by W. E. HAGAN, of Troy, N. Y.) for four weeks, and my hair was in that time restored to its original color. I can fully recommend the article to be all it claims.

WM. KINGSLEY,
Pastor of the Baptist Church, Pittsford, Vt.

MR. W. E. HAGAN: I have used Heimstreet's Hair Restorative for three years, and have found it to be a most excellent article. It not only restores the color of my hair, giving it new life and strength, but it cures myself and wife of a most obstinate eruption on the scalp, which nothing else seemed to benefit. I fully believe it to be the best article in use.

Yours Respectfully,
KNOWLTON HOSLAND.

The above are but a few of the many letters of recommendation which have been forwarded to the proprietors of Heimstreet's Hair Coloring or Restorative. It has been used by thousands of people, and it never fails to restore the color and growth of the hair. This singular effect is not produced as when dyes are used; for it acts upon the natural secretions of coloring matter of the roots, and thus effects the change. The color produced is not a counterfeit, but the natural shade of youth. It does not color the skin.

Price 50c and $1.00 per bottle. Sold everywhere.

CHARLOTTE HOTEL,
BY
J. H. KERR,
CHARLOTTE, N. C.

THE Proprietor of this Hotel is still at his post ready to furnish the duties of "mine host" to the travelling public and others who may call on him, and he flatters himself that as comfortable quarters can be found with him as any where in this vicinity. Being situated nearly in the centre of Charlotte, Business Men will find this Hotel a most convenient and desirable location. He has been engaged in the business at this stand nearly eighteen years, and in that time he has made several additions to the former house, and it has been greatly enlarged and improved, presenting in front a two story VERANDA 100 feet in length by 12 feet in width, handsomely shaded by trees on the side walk, affording a pleasant promenade at all hours of the day.

The House has been thoroughly furnished throughout, and in every part of it creature comforts are abundant and tangible, especially in the DINING ROOM, where the "inner man" is "crammed" day by day.

Connected with this Hotel are Stables affording room for 100 horses, abundantly furnished with grain and provender, stripped by faithful and obliging hostlers.

The Proprietor feels confident that with his long experience and many new advantages added to his desire to please, he is prepared to offer his friends and the "rest of mankind," as many comforts and as much good cheer as will be found anywhere, perhaps a little more so.

☞ At any rate TRY the Charlotte Hotel.

It contains

Scrofula, or King's Evil, is a constitutional disease, a corruption of the blood, by which this fluid becomes vitiated, weak, and poor. Being in the circulation, it pervades the whole body, and may burst out in disease on any part of it. No organ is free from its attacks, nor is there one which it may not destroy. The scrofulous taint is variously caused by mercurial disease, low living, disordered or unhealthy food, impure air, filth and filthy habits, the depressing vices, and, above all, by the venereal infection. Whatever be its origin, it is hereditary in the constitution, descending "from parents to children unto the third and fourth generation;" indeed, it seems to be the rod of Him who says, "I will visit the iniquities of the fathers upon their children."

Its effects commence by deposition from the blood of corrupt or ulcerous matter, which, in the lungs, liver, and internal organs, is termed tubercles; in the glands, swellings; and on the surface, eruptions or sores. This foul corruption, which ponders in the blood, depresses the energies of life, so that scrofulous constitutions not only suffer from scrofulous complaints, but they have far less power to withstand the attacks of other diseases; consequently vast numbers perish by its orders which, although not scrofulous in their nature, are still rendered fatal by this taint in the system. Most of the consumption which dominates the human family has its origin directly in this scrofulous contamination; and many destructive diseases of the liver, kidneys, brain, &c., inland, of all the organs, arise from or are aggravated by the same cause.

One quarter of all our people are scrofulous; their persons are invaded by this lurking infection, and their health is undermined by it. To cleanse it from the system we must renovate the blood by an alterative medicine, and invigorate it by healthy food and exercise. Such a medicine we supply in the most effectual remedy which the medical skill of our times can devise for this everywhere prevailing and fatal malady. It is combined from the most active remedials that have been discovered for the expurgation of this foul disorder from the blood, and the reform of the system from its destructive consequences. Hence it should be employed for the cure of not only Scrofula, but also those other affections which arise from it, such as ERUPTIVE and SKIN DISEASES, ST. ANTHONY'S FIRE, ROSE, or ERYSIPELAS, PIMPLES, PUSTULES, BLOTCHES, BLAINS and BOILS, TUMORS, TETTER and SALT RHEUM, SCALD HEAD, RINGWORM, ULCERATIONS, SYPHILITIC and MERCURIAL DISEASES, DROPSY, DYSPEPSIA, DEBILITY, and, indeed, ALL COMPLAINTS ARISING FROM VITIATED OR IMPURE BLOOD. The popular belief in "impurity of the blood" is founded in truth, for scrofula is a degeneration of the blood. The particular purpose and virtue of this Sarsaparilla is to purify and regenerate this vital fluid, without which sound health is impossible in contaminated constitutions.

AYER'S
Compound Extract of Sarsaparilla,

Ayer's Cathartic Pills,
FOR ALL THE PURPOSES OF A FAMILY PHYSIC,

are so compound that disease within the range of their action can surely withstand or resist them. their penetrating properties search, and cleanse, and invigorate every portion of the human organism, correcting its diseased action, and restoring its healthy vitalities. As a consequence of these properties, the invalid who is bowed down with pain or physical debility is astonished to find his health or energy restored by a remedy at once so simple and inviting.

Not only do they cure the every-day complaints of every body, but also many formidable and dangerous diseases. The agent below named is pleased to furnish gratis my American Almanac, containing certificates of their cures and directions for their use in the following complaints: Costiveness, Heartburn, Headache arising from disordered Stomach, Nausea, Indigestion, Pain in and Morbid Inaction of the Bowels, Flatulency, Loss of Appetite, Jaundice, and other kindred complaints, arising from a low state of the body or obstruction of its functions.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,
FOR THE RAPID CURE OF
Coughs, Colds, Influenza, Hoarseness, Croup, Bronchitis, Incipient Consumption, and for the relief of Consumptive Patients in advanced stages of the disease.

So wide is the field of its usefulness and so numerous are the cases of its cures, that almost every section of country abounds in persons publicly known, who have been restored from alarming and even desperate diseases of the lungs by its use. When once tried, its superiority over every other medicine of its kind is too apparent to escape observation, and where its virtues are known, the public no longer hesitate what antidote to suppose for the distressing and dangerous affections of the pulmonary organs that are incident to our climate. While many inferior remedies thrust upon the community have failed and been discarded, this has gained friends by every trial, conferred benefits on the afflicted they can never forget, and produced cures too numerous and too remarkable to be forgotten.

THE ONLY PREPARATION WORTHY OF Universal Confidence and Patronage.

For Statesmen, Judges, Clergymen,

Ladies and Gentlemen, in all parts of the world, testify to the efficacy of Prof. O. J. Wood's Hair Restorative, now gentlemen of the Treasury testimonials only can be here given; see circular for more, and it will be impossible for you to doubt.

GENTLEMEN: Your note of the 15th inst. has been received, saying that you had heard that I had been benefited by the use of Wood's Hair Restorative and requesting my certificate of the fact. I had no objection to give it.

I award it to you cheerfully, because I think it due. My age is about 50 years; the color of my hair auburn, and inclined to curl. Some six or seven years since it began to turn grey, and the scalp on the crown of my head to lose its sensibility and somewhat to form upon it. Both of these unagreeables increased with time and about four months since a fourth was added to them, by hair falling off the top of my head and threatening to make me bald.

To this unpleasant predicament, I was inclined to try Wood's Hair Restorative mainly to arrest the falling off of my hair, for I had really no expectation that grey hair could ever be restored to its original color except from dyes. I was however, greatly surprised to find after the use of two bottles only, that not only was the falling off arrested, but the color was restored to the grey hairs and sensibility to the scalp, and caused it to form on my head, very much to the great Beatrice of my wife, at whose solicitation I was induced to try it.

For this, among the many obligations I owe her sex, I strongly recommend all enclosed to value the admiration of their wives to profit by my example, and use it if growing grey or getting bald.

Very respectfully, BEN. A. LAVENDER.
To O. J. Wood & Co., 444 Broadway, New York.

My family absent from the city, and I longer at No. 11 Carroll Place.

Stonington, Ala., July 20th, 1859.

To Prof. O. J. Wood: Dear Sir: Your "Hair Restorative" has done my hair so much good since I commenced the use of it, that I wish it made known to the PUBLIC of its efficacy in the matter, which are great. A mass of human misery is nearly destroyed of bald, and by a resort to your "Hair Restorative," the bald will return more beautiful than ever; at least in my case it has. Believe it!

Yours truly, WM. H. KENEDY.

P. S.—You can publish the above if you choose. By publishing in our Southern papers you will get more patronage south. I was editor of two newspapers in the Mobile Murray, a strong Southern paper. W. H. KENEDY.
