Missouri compromise, which he based soleby open what he foresas and predicted would be the "reachs." He could find no warrant e "rearcha". He could find no warrant of Constitution for the clause in the act of 1820, restricting slatery by the line of 2022. He regarded such restriction as unjust to the South and in violation of the from France. He had voted in 1850 to reof the Mexican laws prohibiting slavery New Mexico, which were in force at the time of the acquisition. But when it came to voting for the repeal of the Missouri compromise, which had been pracefully acdangerous consequences to the South and to the shole country from the adoption of the measure. He looked as the probable exactly measure. He locked at the probable reachs of the measure, and guided, as he expressly declared entirely by the conclusions which his mind came to as to that those results would be he voted against the repeal, and is so voting, as the results proved, he voted against the creation of the Republican party. It would be a grown libel on the majority who repealed the Missouri Compromise, to suppose they would have done it had they been gifted with the foreight of Mr. Bell, and seen, as his far raching sagarity. and seen, as his far-racking sagneity unbled him to do, the deplorble consequenore which flow from it.
