General Barringer's Letter.

On the third page of this paper is General Barringer's letter on the wisdom, and probable good results, of President Hayes' policy. We endorse the general theory of the gentleman; but he did not go far enough. He says, truly, that Mr. Hayes does not merit credit for all this good work, when the fact is, that force of circumstances compelled the fraudulent executive to remove the military, the accursed arm of despotism that the imperious tyranny of Grant left as a leprosy spot on the government, and as a legacy of cruelty to his successor, from the States of South Carolina and Louisiana. The tendency of popular sentiment, both Democratic and Republican, has been since 1872, towards granting free government to all the States, and it only failed to exist, universally, in the nation, by reason of the obstinacy of Grant, and the demagoguism of Blaine, Butler and Morton, and their satellites, who vied with them in cruelty, but lacked their ability for mischief. Mr. Hayes' policy, according to General Barringer, is that of which Tilden, Lamar, Bayard, Lord, Hampton, Key, (God save the mark,) Morgan and others were the representatives; and it is true, but lo! when do we find Mr. Hayes adopting this policy? Not until he had occupied the chair that he knew he had not a shadow of title to hold, honestly, for more than one month, and until he had satisfied himself that the people of Louisiana and South Carolina were determined to be governed by men of their own choosing, even though the people of the United States would submit to be ruled by a fraudulent executive, did he do this good work, adopt this wise policy, endorse this Democratic doctrine. We admit freely that it is a wise policy, and we know that it will be sustained by the nation, and that it will, and ought to be popular; but honor to whom, and to where, honor is due! It is Democratic rule forced on a Republican President, who holds the high office by a wicked outrage, but it will be sustained by the Democratic party because it is its own offspring.

Gen. McClellan.

The New Jersey Democratic Convention, last week, nominated this gallant soldier and accomplished gentleman their standard-bearer for their State Governorship. Never was there a better nomination made, and never was a nomination made that bore with it a stronger prestige of victory. The question with all parties and classes in that thorough Democratic State is not, will 'Little Mac' be elected, but rather what will be his majority. We have no fears of his triumphant success. A better, or braver, or more excellent man does not exist on the face of the earth, and the nation owes him the highest honors, and most exalted distinction that is within her gift, for his zeal, and fidelity, to her interest, both in the military arena and in civil service. We would hail with gladness McClellan for President in 1880.

Silver.

The Chicago Inter-Ocean, recently addressed a letter to all the members of the Congress, shortly to assemble, asking their views on the money question; the 'remonetization' of silver question. About two hundred have replied; and the I. O. classes answer thus: For repealing the law of 1873, and the restoration of the dollar of the fathers' to its old place in the coinage there are 181 For recomination, with certain conditions attached. 15 Against re-monetization. 18 Undecided. 81 Decline to answer. 2 We give below the replies of such North Carolina members as appear. I have opposed the demonetization of silver from the beginning, and shall use effort to repeal the act.

General News.

The Presidential party arrived in Washington, on Tuesday night. So the show is over.

Andrew Shiffit was hung at Harrisonburg, Va., on Tuesday the 25th instant. He protested his innocence to the last.

A fire occurred on the 24th inst. in the Patent Office Building, Washington city, but was subdued before it became extensive. Loss about $6,000.

Eight colored men quarreled and got into a fight, corner of George and Elon sts., Cincinnati, during which four of them were wounded, one fatally.

A private dispatch reports the loss of the bark Cricket, from Brazil hither. One of the crew was lost. Her cargo consisted of 7,480 bags of coffee, valued at $200,000.

The Republicans of New Jersey have nominated William A. Williams, of Hudson, for Governor. He will be voted on by 15,000 by George B. McClellan.

A Minneapolis miller asserts that flour manufactured from the new crop of wheat will make forty pounds more bread to the barrel than the flour from last year's wheat.

Two men from North Carolina were arrested in Baltimore, a few days ago, for passing counterfeit money. They had with them $5,000 in $50 bogus bills.

DEATH.—A dispatch from Paris announces the death of Urbain Jean Joseph Leverrier, the world-renowned astronomer. Leverrier was born in St. Lo, on the 11th of March, 1811.

Frank Prince, of St. Louis, swam six miles in 70 minutes, on Monday, at Sandy Hook. He says he has swam twenty-five miles in three hours and a half, on the Mississippi river.

Wisconsin will have four tickets in the field this fall, after the Democratic convention at Fond du Lac this week. The Republicans, Greenbackers and Prohibitionists are already in the field. The Democrats are very confident of victory in this four sided fight.

A private letter from Port Ellis, Kansas, states that a party of cattle thieves were recently captured in the extreme north-western portion of the State. Seven were shot, and another hung. The thieves were surprised while eating supper. Seven hundred head of cattle were recovered.

Since General McClellan's nomination for Governor of New Jersey, his name is looming up for President in 1880. What a glorious event it would be, for America to have a President who was at once a gentleman and a man of honor. It is long since such an article filled the Presidential chair.

A case of 'pie' occurred in the office of the Wilmington Star last Saturday, a feast, at their tenth anniversary, that was not relished by either the publishers or their devil. The Star has accomplished its tenth year, and is one of the best dailies in the country, and is in a prosperous condition.

Trying to Save his Father. Adam Knapp, of 75 Milton street, Greenpoint, his son aged sixteen years, and Daniel Shafer, started for Hell Gate, in a row boat, to fish, yesterday morning, at about 8 o'clock. In passing Flood rock, their boat was driven by the tide sidewise against a chain, used to secure the building of the Government works there. The boat tipped over. Shafer swam straight to shore, leaving the others struggling in the water. The elder Knapp could not swim, and his son seized his coat collar with one hand to keep him up, while he tried to right the boat with the other. Four times he succeeded in turning the boat right side up, and each time capsized it again in trying to help his father into it. Some row boats passed near the struggling men, but no one tried to aid them. One of these boats, containing three men, passed within 20 feet of the overturned boat.

Young Knapp finally succeeded in getting his father into the boat, which was now full of water. He then towed it ashore. Before the FATAL ACCIDENT.—James M. Justice, formerly of Rutherford county, but who recently removed to Hendersonville, met with a fatal accident at Columbus, the county seat of Polk, on Monday night. He was attending Superior Court for that county, before which he had several important causes—one of them involving a conflict between the State and Federal authorities. It was noticeable during the afternoon that he was drinking heavily, and at an early hour in the night he walked off the second story balcony of Hill's Hotel, sustaining injuries which rendered him insensible from the time of the accident till his death, which occurred on the 19th. This is J. M. Justice of ku klux 'swift witness' fame. Let the evil he done be buried with him. He was a bitter radical politician.

It is plain that Russia has made the common and vulgar error of underrating her enemy, and, as a consequence, she stands beaten and humiliated in her advance towards the Golden Horn. This means short wheat crops in Western Europe, and another good year for American farmers.

The Eastern War. Gorny-Studen, Sept. 23.—The Turks renewed the bombardment of the Shipka Pass positions on Friday from fourteen merrars. The fighting lasted until night.

Constantinople, Sept. 23.—Mehemet Ali telegraphs to day to the Porte as follows: 'The weather prevented operations until noon on Sept. 21, when a furious engagement took place. We advanced to the enemy's intrenchments. Darkness stopped the fighting. The enemy's losses were twice as great as ours.'

Reuter's telegram from Bucharest says persons arriving there from the headquarters of the Czarowitz at Dolme, Monastir, think the Turks will not renew the attack of Friday, but will endeavor to cut the route to Tirnova.

Chevet Pasha telegraphs from Orchaive, Sept. 22, that Hissi Pasha, commanding the convoy of provisions for Osman Pasha, had arrived at Dubnik, two hours' march from Plevna, having defeated fifteen Rus-

Osman Pasha.

Osman Pasha has been requested to make a sortie to establish a junction with this force.

A Russian official dispatch admits a loss in the Shipka Pass on Sept. 17 of thirty-one officers and 1,000 men killed and wounded.

London, Sept. 24.—News has been received at Vienna that 20,000 men under Chevet Pasha have reached Osman Pasha with a fresh supply of ammunition.

The War in Bulgaria.

With desperate persistency Suleiman Pasha continues his efforts in the Shipka Pass, while with a persistency that so far seems but slightly less desperate the Russians continue to assail Plevna. Although the Turkish losses in the pass are not a mere waste of men, since they maintain a division of forces that weakens the advance against Osman Pasha, yet this result seems dearly purchased at that price, for the soldiers killed in the fruitless Ottoman attempts to fight their way down that mountain road, are of far more consequence in virtue of the fact that they cannot be replaced. Turkey, if not beaten otherwise by the Russians, can at least be beaten by the mere waste of war. Although they come forward slowly there are men on the march to replace all the Russian losses. But it is not so as to the other side, hence the assaults of the Russian position in the pass are foolish butcheries. There is just as much butchery before Plevna, the assaults there, also, inflict severe losses on the Ottoman army. If Turkish operations in the pass are unaccountable, Turkish inactivity at other points is not less so. Mehemet Ali's failure to take advantage of the weakening of the Russian left wing is incomprehensible, except upon the hypothesis that he is too weak to risk the offensive. Indeed, this reason for supposing his numbers inferior to what they were reported, taken in connection with the unexpected strength of Osman Pasha at Plevna, suggests the likelihood that the Turkish left has been enormously strengthened at the expense of the right. It is possible that a great portion of Mehemet Ali's troops have been sent by way of Adrianople and Sofia into Osman Pasha's lines. There has been no report of such a movement, but the Turks are able to suppress what they do not wish to have made public, so that that fact is of little value as an objection in their case. If the whole of the Turkish army in Europe is really in Osman Pasha's lines the Russians may continue to hurl their forces against them, but with the enormous concentration of men under Osman Pasha, the capture of Plevna is not probable; and a few weeks more of hostilities will wind up the campaign for this year. Negotiation may succeed in bringing about a peace between the belligerents before another campaign can be entered upon, but it is not likely, as the Russian Bear has got a scent of Turkish blood and will not be easily persuaded to return to his den, until he has slaked his thirst on the sick man's corpse.

The Indians.

A Helena (Montana) dispatch of the 23d says General Terry and the Indian Commission are expected today. It is generally believed that the Commission will be a failure, and that a devastating Indian war will be the result. Sitting Bull, with one thousand warriors, is in the heart of the Canadian buffalo country, near the Wood mountains. Joseph's band is heading straight north, and in addition to 950 lodges of Yanktons, 250 lodges of Unepapas, 120 lodges Santees, and 120 lodges Assinabones, are making their way to Canada. Nearly all of the Northern tribes are believed to be ready for revolt, and all can cross the Canadian border in three days, and would number over 4,000 warriors, exclusive of Sitting Bull's 1,000, and all will join the latter if thought politic.

DEUELING.—Why will newspapers continue to dignify and try to make respectable the cowardly practice of dueling? Baltimore papers and telegraphic dispatches have recently been heralding stuff about two men who tried to fight a duel near Baltimore, which, as usual, ended in 'correspondence.' It is a sign of neither bravery or honor to agree to fight a duel. A gentleman who receives a challenge to fight a duel should tear it up and spit on it in the presence of the man who brought it.—Charlotte Democrat.

AN APPROPRIATION FOR LIBERIA.—An appropriation of $50,000 will be asked of Congress to make a preliminary survey of a railroad from the colony of Liberia eastward one or two thousand miles into the interior of the rich and populous Soudan, and to report upon the country, its population, climate, productions, and practicability of such road; when, if favorable, efforts will be made with a view of extending colonization, commerce, and civilization over the vast interior.
