LACY OLDEST IN POINT OF SERVICE

Has Been State Treasurer Since 1900; Is Now 70 Years Old

(By the Associated Press.)
Raleigh, Dec. 5.—Benjamin R. Lacy, who will be sworn in next month for the seventh consecutive term as Treasurer of North Carolina, is the oldest man in the state government in point of service.

Mr. Lacy was first elected treasurer in 1900 and assumed office in 1900 and assumed office in 1901, being successively re-elected every four years since.

Treasurer Lacy served in the administrations of Governors Aycock, Glenn, Kitchin, Craig, Bickett and Morrison. None of the former governors is now living.

All of the cabinet officers who came into office with Mr. Lacy in 1901 are now dead. They were: Secretary of State J. Bryan Grimes; Auditor B. F. Dixon; Superintendent of Public Instruction Thomas F. Toon; Attorney General R. D. Gilmer; Commissioner of Agriculture Sampel L. Patterson. Mr. Lacy has acted as pall bearer at the funeral of each of his former cabinet associates, except that of Mr. Gilmer, who died several months ago. Illness prevented him from attending Mr. Gilmer's funeral.

Mr. Lacy is 70 years old and is a Democrat.

Senator Capper says there is too much hot air about congress, but doesn't say how much is enough. Just when the dark clouds were lifting comes the sad news that more player pianos are being sold.

NEURALGIA & HEADACHE

Give Silver This Christmas The Kirk Repousse

The Kirks have been Silversmiths since 1817, and since then have made various flatware patterns—pre-eminent among which is the Repousse, the tea spoon illustrated herewith.

They are the originators in this country of the Repousse in silverware. Others have followed, but the Kirk Repousse has not been equalled either in quality of workmanship, or beauty or design. Each piece must bear the name: "Samuel Kirk & Son Co."
