

LOCAL DEPARTMENT.

Terms of the Recorder. For 1 year, $1.00. 6 months, 75. Payments always in advance.

Mr. Mann S. Valentine Jr. is our authorized agent for the city of Richmond, Va.

Owing to difficulty of getting paper last week, our edition was short. Subscribers who failed to get their papers will excuse us. No paper is now to be had South of Baltimore; and the supply we ordered came just one day too late for our last issue.

Acknowledgments.

We apologize for our delay in acknowledging the courtesy of an invitation to attend the Charlotte Fair, extended by Col. C. R. Jones, Secy; and also to the Roanoke and Tar River Fair, by Col. Long.

A fine rain fell on Saturday night and Sunday morning, effectually laying the dust at rest, and also reducing the unusual high temperature of the last three weeks.

Mr. Robert Pace of Lynchburg and Mr. Mac. Smith of Danville spent Friday and Saturday in Durham. Both gentlemen are well known in the tobacco world.

A white tramp was found near Pogue and Brown's brick yard on Friday night, lying in a marshy place near by, nearly dead with wet and weakness. Dr. Wilson was sent for and restored him, and we believe he was sent next day to the Poor House.

J. Q. A. Haddaway, Esq.; of "Episcopal Methodist," Baltimore, Md. writes: "With much pleasure I testify to the good effects of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup in my family. Have used it in many cases, and in each instance the result was entirely satisfactory. Price 25 cents a bottle."

Some Northern gentlemen visited Hillsboro last week to prospect for mining property. They profess to be satisfied with the indications, and believe they have found a bed of valuable iron ore within a mile of the town. We hope they are not deceived, but think the ground has been gone over before.

Thorne's Comedy Troupe performed in Hillsboro last week, and besides giving great satisfaction by their exhibitions, won universal commendation by their courteous and gentlemanly manners while remaining in the town.

Our friend A. H. Stokes has recently sold 500 7/8 barrels to Mr. R. H. Wright & Co. to Mr. R. H. Wright.

We were much pleased to see in his old quarters on Saturday last Mr. W. H. Osborne who is out at last after a long and dangerous illness. He will go to Oxford, his former home, to recruit his strength thoroughly.

Thorne's Troupe, and the Fay-Templeton Company were both here last week and had good houses; the latter giving our citizens a first acquaintance with the famous Pinafore.

We will give as soon as we get them on official authority, the list of awards at the late Fair to exhibitors from Orange, Alamance, Caswell and Person.

If you want your baby to look bright do not let it sleep with lantern in room, but use Dr. Bull's Baby Syrup. 25 cents a bottle.

Sudden Death.

Mr. John Fowler, a young man well known in connection with the home of Mr. Jas. A. Check of Hillsboro, died on Monday morning after a brief illness from paralysis. He was found on Sunday morning by Mr. Nathan Hooker and others, who gained access to his room by a ladder, propped and helped on the floor, where he had apparently lain all night. Medical assistance was at once summoned, but Mr. Fowler never rallied and died at 55 years of age, and a man of good habits.

The new Warehouse near our office is lifting itself rapidly into notice. Col. Wilkinson will soon be ready for his old friends.

That sad news Mr. Tomlinson's is we hope, the precursor of more of the same sort. But dig them deep. Go down into the rock.

The new Warehouse on the front of the new building of Blackwell & Co. on Main Street begins to show its beautiful character. It is only equalled by the work on the Post Office building in Raleigh.

Dr. D. A. Robertson will visit Hillsboro professionally on the 27th inst. Monday, and will be ready to meet those with whom he has appointments, and also others desiring his services.

Pinafore is dying, and BAWLS tells you in his new ad, what is the cause of it. See what's the matter.

HUNT & HUNT advertise a splendid stock of clothing. Hats, Shoes &c; all new and selected specially for this trade. See the ad, and measure your movements accordingly.

MANGUM'S Restaurant is now in full perfection with abundant supplies of fine oysters, fresh fish &c.

DURHAM AT THE FAIR.

We take great pride in noticing the conspicuous figure made by our town during the late Fair, and to rejoice in the decided confirmation given to the general impression of her growing greatness of the practical demonstration of her substantial merits.

It is to be regretted that all our manufacturers did not join in the plan of presenting in one conspicuous whole a picture of the industries of Durham. It probably had not occurred to them that it was important or that it was desirable. But enough was done to attract marked attention and to reflect credit both upon exhibitors and the town.

Of course, tobacco was the typical idea of Durham; and it was presented to show in the order in which we name it. First came W. S. Roulhac's Tiger Smoking tobacco, in liberal display and handsome style; then E. H. Pogue, who was large exhibitor of plug, having no less than thirty two boxes, including all his brands; and all taken out of his stock; which was the case also with his smoking tobacco, of which there was a large supply.

The next Durham exhibitor was J. R. Day & Co. who had been at pains to add the charms of art to their display; for a fine oil painting, emblematic of their new brand, the Lone Gem, adorned the walls together with pictures of lower notes, while on the tables underneath were spread piles of the Lone Gem and Standard of the World, the former being put up in a new style of fancy sacks of great beauty. Mr. Sam Dickson had the management of this exhibit and was actively instrumental in bringing it into notice.

Blackwell & Co. had, none on exhibition; but they were the donors of one hundred pounds of their best Genuine Durham Bull Smoking tobacco to the Society.

In the trade's procession of which we speak elsewhere, H. A. Reams made a conspicuous and impressive figure; for he presented to the spectators the actual workings of a genuine live Durham Tobacco Warehouse. A large platform, mounted on wheels, and over which was fixed a splendid banner with appropriate devices, was a miniature picture of a Warehouse floor, on which were placed piles of tobacco, around which were gathered the usual crowd of sellers and buyers, pin hooks included. Sellers were standing by with interested anxiety, buyers were imploring of examining with selected indifference of eager expectancy.

Reams was following up the bidding with his usual "Oh this won't do boys! bid up!" while Barham was vociferous and participating with all the eagerness of a real sale; and Galtis seemed to have worked himself up into the illusion that this meant business.

It was a lively picture, and let light in upon what had been a mystery to many.

The Durham Light Infantry

accompanied by J. F. Freeland, net Band, went down to the Fair on Thursday by the train which left about 9 o'clock, reaching Raleigh about 10. The Company was formed at the N. C. Depot and marched up into the city, halting in front of the Yarborough House. Here was gathered an immense throng awaiting the hour of moving to the Fair Grounds; and here the Light Infantry was in the very focus of criticism, favorable or adverse. It is with profound pleasure that we record a unanimously expressed opinion of commendation. The soldierly bearing of the men and accurate movements in the drill proved them veterans rather than a new organization; and moving off up Fayetteville Street to the inspiring notes of their splendid band, they strode with elastic step under the double impulse of music and openly expressed popular admiration. The Band received an unusual share of attention. All knew it was a new one; and we were surprised at its proficiency which could only have been the result of individual members; each one remembering, as should always be done, that he bore upon his own shoulders the honor of the town he represented.

Another Death on the Rail

On Wednesday evening last, Joseph Markham of Wake county, while returning home from Durham, walking on the rail road track, was run over by an extra train between this place and Hillsboro, and instantly killed. He was very old and did not know the train. A companion, Yancey Roubelle had stopped to talk with some one on the road side, and did not know a train was expected at that time, had left Markham to wait on alone, and was not near enough to warn him when the train, which was running rapidly, came up.

Really this frequent killing by trains is a very sad thing, and is very preventable. It is to be hoped that some one will make it a business to make quick time on the rail.

We learn that in Person county the cure of bright tobacco are regarded as the best ever known in the history of the industry, and that bright yellow leaves are an unusually large proportion to the crop.

As bright yellow brings good prices, we hope this year a fair 10. We prepared the usual complaint of those who want the "brightest" tobacco in the country.

GRANVILLE COURT.

We visited Oxford for the first time last week, spending Tuesday of Court week there. We concerned ourselves very little about the matters of the Court, which on that day were somewhat with first class of offences not to be heard by any police. Granville, creditably to herself, did not give occasion for deeper interest.

Oxford is a beautiful town with its broad well shaded streets, its handsome and commodious mansions, retired with impressive dignity back from the streets, embowered in foliage and adorned with shrubbery, its clean gray soil, and its prettily undulating surface; and with its cultivated residents, must make it a very attractive place.

It was pleasant to see the enthusiasm the beginning of the Rail Road to Henderson has infused into the whole people. No project too vast, no dream too wild that is not now thought to be within reach of accomplishment. It is a fact that the road has been begun, that a large force of convicts will soon be at work upon it, and that before many months it will be finished to its terminus. And straightway upon its completion, from visions of other roads, of a huge tobacco market, of an increased population, and of a great interior city. All of which we profoundly hope to see realized.

We had the pleasure of meeting our professional brethren Davis of the Town of Leont and Biggs of the FERR LANCE, and were glad to learn that their excellent papers were appreciated and patronized at home to an unusually flattering degree, the Granville people taking true pride in sustaining their county papers.

The talk was all of tobacco; and the general verdict was that the cures this year had been uncommonly good. We must one farmer, Mr. Fielding Knott, who ten years ago, bought the farm upon which he now lives, and began work almost at the bottom of the financial ladder. This year he has cured ninety nine bales of tobacco, all bright yellow, aggregating about fifty thousand pounds, from which he is sure to realize handsomely.

The destruction of barns by fire during curing has been very great this fall. It is thought that at least one hundred barns have been burned in the county.

Durham Light Infantry Flag.

The presentation announced in our last did not take place, the flag arriving here after the Company had gone to Raleigh. The presentation will be duly announced when the time is again appointed. We have seen the flag, and it is a superb one. It is of the usual size, of heavy silk. One side is a blue field with the legend "Durham Light Infantry," embroidered in gold. In the center, is the North Carolina Coat of Arms, embroidered in gold; and below is inscribed "Organized, August 6th 1878. The Reverse is a crimson field, on the upper part of which is the inscription, "Presented by the members of the Durham Light Infantry, Sept. 24th '79."

Among the other exhibitors at the Fair, J. Y. Whitted of Hillsboro had five boxes of his fine tobacco, among other brands the Gold Ambassador and Gold Prince, both of which have a national fame. James Webb & Co. also of Hillsboro had ten boxes of plug, embracing all their brands, some of which rank very highly indeed.

Mr. Sam Satterfield of Roxboro had three boxes of "Little Mamie," "Odd Fellow" and "Pride of America," on exhibition. They were well made, were very fragrant, and we have no doubt secured as any home made cigars on the market.

Mr. J. W. Latta had some fine stock. But we fear particulars of this for another issue.

Mr. J. E. Pogue of Henderson had seven boxes of plug on exhibition, which was the only tobacco we saw from Granville.

Journalistic.

We have received a copy of the Bascon, a handsomely printed paper, published semi-weekly in Greensboro by Mr. James W. Albright. It is Democratic, and gives fine promise of usefulness.

Mr. R. T. Fulghum of Raleigh is the purchaser of the Greensboro Farmer, and we presume will soon make his debut as editor. Mr. Fulghum is an editor of considerable experience, and as the head of a paper as much of an old landmark as the Recorder will we trust and believe maintain the high character of the time honored journal.

Mr. R. W. West, well known in connection with the Raleigh Observer, has taken post on HALL'S WEEKLY, a canvasser and general travelling agent in which capacity he has displayed popular qualities which he now brings into the service of the admirable paper to which he is now attached.

We are glad to see the Raleigh News discarding the patent outside, and appearing in a full suit of home manufacture. Though reduced in size, the News is certainly the better for the change.

The lot extending from Main Street back to the next parallel street, on which is situated the store of M. A. Angler & Son and the Recorder office was sold last week at private sale for $10,000 cash. Mr. E. J. Parish being the purchaser for another party. The lot fronts forty eight feet on each street, and the price paid may be considered a good one. We may expect soon to see the present buildings replaced by handsome structures of brick.

Mr. Julian S. Carr and his returned on Saturday last after a pleasant tour of nearly a month, visiting New York, Chicago and other places of note.

The Asheville CITIZEN of the 16th, says, that during the month of October 110 feet of the bench in the Swannanoa tunnel were removed, leaving only 140 feet to be removed, and then the tunnel will be passable for trains. The trains on the other side of the mountains are now running within eleven miles of Asheville; and in six weeks it is thought they will run within six miles of Asheville.
