

THE DAY WE CELEBRATE.

Kickers From the Cockade—Peace and Good Will.

Thanksgiving Day is not peculiarly a southern institution. In fact, it is about the best northern custom that the land of Dixie has ever adopted.

To-day public worship has been very general. The Baptist held union services at the Second church, the Methodist at Centenary, and the Presbyterians at the First church.

So much for its religious observance. Regularly there is not much to be written. Business of various kinds was partially suspended.

At the armory and at other places, thanksgiving dinners were given, and the hotels put up an extra feed.

All the charitable homes, asylums, the jail, the penitentiary and other resorts of the homeless, the friendless and the unfortunate were remembered.

At the Young Men's Christian Association Hall to-night Rev. Mr. Clouston lectures on a "Horseback Ride Through Judea."

In has been a very bright day—grateful indeed after the cloudy rains and dark days of the week.

It has passed, as far as has been heard, without accident, disaster or serious incident. In some households the shadow of grief and sorrow hangs heavily, but it is trusted that many have been illumined by the sunlight of happiness.

A Woman's Discovery.

"Another wonderful discovery has been made and that by a lady in this county. Disease fastened its clutches upon her and for seven years she withstood its severest tests, but her vital organs were undermined and death seemed eminent.
