Philadelphia Times. Albion W. Tourgee is a peri-patetic Bohemian who suddenly patetic Bohemian who suddenly gained considerable reputation some years ago as the author of a political romance, entitled "A fool's Errand." It was a highly embellished description of life in the South during the reconstruction period when he was posing as a carpet-bage Judge. Sectional feeling was then running at a flood tide, and his novel studiedly pandered to that sentiment. The result was a large sale of his book, and since then he has been at pretty much everything by turns and 18th, and a grand time is a large large but still bobs.

OF THE DURHAM

York was uneventful except that Lawyer Fuller and wife

could not give us up and had to follow us to New York. In New York some of us stopped at the 5th Avenue Hotel; some at the South shall be awarded just protection from lynchers and other brutal oppressors of the race, the next decade will witness the bloodiest revolution of history by the uprising of the blacks to visit retributive venaeance upon the whites. Coming from Judge Tourgee it attracts little attention beyond recalling to the readers of his new "Fool's Errand" that he is nothing if not sensational. Since the first success of his "Fool's Errand" in shape of a novel, he has been practicing the fool' errand from technique that he is nothing if not sensational. Since the first success of his "Fool's Errand" in shape of a novel, he has been practicing the fool' errand from the continental Hotel. I did not stop at the Bartholdi Hotel and some at the Continental Hotel. I did not stop at the Bartholdi this time as I owed the hotel proprietor for back rations for my last visit. We all went over to Hoboken last night, took the steamer Columbia and this morning at 7 a. m., we put to sea, amid the crying and sighing of parting friends, the toot of the horn and the "Boom-deray" of the drum. We have a fine band on board and at intervals during the day it makes eld vals during the day it makes old ocean howl and swell as the discordant notes float away over its angry bosom. As you already know our party consists of the following persons: B. N. Duke, wife, Angier, little Mary, Nurse, R. E. Lyon, wife, Bennie, Mary, George, Buch-anan, nurse and Uncle Wash, Miss Carpenter, also Dr. Carr, wife, Johnnie and Willie They were all present at the breakfast table, but at supper, alas! some of them were not sudden and swift retribution that is now generally visited upon colored men for the offense referred to; and the like lynching of a negro recently in New York State, just over the berder of Pennsylvania, teaches that the South is not alone in applying the swiftest and most violent punishment for the protection of women. The increase of pensions, ship subsidies. The increase of pensions, ship subsidies, bounties, etc., are continuing laws and can only be repealed with the consent of the senate and executive. It is useless for the people to expect repeal as long as either of these branches of the Government is held by the Republicans. It has been the boast of ex-speak-er Reed and the other leade's of the last congress that they had so tied the hands of the Democrats that "billion dollars congresses would be the order of the day for many a long day if not forever. It looks as if Mr. Reed and his fellow conspirators knew whereof they spoke when they made this insolent boast.

All this makes it the more incumbent on the people to elect as soon as possible a Democratic Senate and Executive. Give the Democracy full possession of the federal Government and they would make short work of subsidies, bounties and other wasteful expenditures of the peoples money. It does not seem possible to give reliet to this generation or the next from pension burdens, but much may be done in that direction by eliminating from the pension lists the frauds that have crept in under Republican administration. According to best estimates one third or more of the pensioners are fraudulent. But no reform can be hoped for from Republican leg-
