When the troubles in the coke region occurred a dozen years ago and the American laborer refused to work at reduced wages, the Frick Coke Company filled up the region with Hungarian and Polish cheap labor. The dezens of bloody riots and strikes that have occurred since then in the coke regions came about largely Republican control, and it appears that the same plan is about being pursued in the South, with the difference that the fusion will be betwe n the Re-publicans and the Third partycoke regions came about largely through this class of labor. Ignorant and debased, a strike plied Gibson, "but this is a free meant a fight to them, and the country, and as I am not work to the country and as I am not work to the country and as I am not work to the country and as I am not work to the country and as I am not work to the country and as I am not work to the country and as I am not work to the country and as I am not work to the country and as I am not work to the country and as I am not work to the country and as I am not work to the country and as I am not work to the country and as I am not work to the country and as I am not work to the country and as I am not work to the country and as I am not work to the country and as I am not work to the country and the country are considered to the country and the country and the country and the country are considered to the country are considered to the country are considered to the country and the country are considered to th meant a fight to them, and the destruction of property. The wholesale importation of this labor by the Frick Company was the turning point in the flooding of America with this south of Europe cheap labor, other manufacturers being quick to take the cue, and it finally resulted in that easily evaded law known as the "act to prohibit the importation of foreign labor under contract."
