

Local Observations.

—The cut worms are still cutting.
 —The wheat cutters are still cutting.
 —The Grasshoppers are still hoppers.
 —The doctors say there is no measles in sight.
 —The printing business these days is pretty much like baseball, every fellow has a turn at the bat.
 —That Col. Al Fairbrother will make THE OLD RECORDER a hummer with horns" when he takes hold next week is reassuring.
 —The University summer school for teachers at Chapel Hill began yesterday. Tickets at reduced rates may be bought at all stations, good to August 1st.
 —Crops are looking well and promise an abundant yield. The wheat crop is now being harvested and the yield is large, much better in some places than last year. The oat crop is rather inferior.

—When news reaches some of our old friends that this is the last issue of this paper under the old management, and that they must shut up, they will no doubt save air with their whiskers.
 —Mr. James B. Lashley, of Lenoir, was in the city yesterday. We learned from him that his brother who was struck by lightning at the depot in that village Monday evening, was improving.

—The Alliance at its inception as a good thing capable of improving the farmers by social intercourse, by giving new ideas on agriculture and better methods of farming, but in the last few years politics has driven away one of the members and the organization is smaller than it was years ago.

—Let us take time for the good kiss. We shall go to the day's work with a sweeter spirit for it. Let us take time to speak kind words to those we love. By and by, when they can no longer hear our foolishness will seem more than our best wisdom. Let us take time to be pleasant. The small courtesies which we often neglect because they are small will one day look larger to us than the wealth which we have coveted the fame for which we have struggled.

—The wages of not less than 100,000 men in the United States have been advanced materially during the last 90 days. Careful inquiry throughout the country indicates an advance averaging about 12 per cent. The New York World has compiled a list of embraces more than 250 which have within the last few weeks advanced the wages of their employes. A notable feature of this great industrial improvement is that the wages of these 250,000 men have with hardly an exception been advanced voluntarily by the employers. This has been remarkably free from strikes.

—There is a familiar figure in the city of Durham today than Mr. C. Hauckey, who has been the editor of the Recorder for nearly 14 years, beginning the newspaper business here with plenty of hope and encouragement, but with a small amount of pocket change. With industry and close attention to his affairs, he soon had a multitude of personal friends, among them the Hebrew citizens they have been liberal patrons from time to time. Three years ago he branched out into the real estate business, and by his shrewdness, he has prospered. The Durham Mallory Cheroot company is distinctly the best in the South to-day. While he could not give old paper the attention it should have had, the man who had led to the turning of the ink never saw him depressed in his manner, and was always bright and alert. The man who has been with him all these years those who have been taking the paper for years, and who have never paid a cent, and who used to be of the old school—kind, hospitable and high-minded should now come forward and do.

Funeral Notice.
 Tuesday, June 23, 1893. E. J. Hett, aged 81 years, two months and twenty-two days. Funeral services to be held at the residence of his sister, Mrs. M. H. Fairbrother, Alston, at 5 p. m. today, Wednesday, conducted by Rev. L. B. Smith. Interment in city cemetery. Members of family invited.

Married in East Durham.
 Yesterday the people of West Durham were a little surprised when the noon train stopped at that station and Mr. W. H. Rigbee, accompanied by Miss Della Albright, went aboard and informed their friends, whom they were leaving behind, that they were going to be married. When the train stopped at East Durham they got off and went to the home of the Rev. McDuffie, where they were made man and wife. The bride is 24 years of age, while the groom is 34.
 THE HERALD wishes them much happiness.

Died in Granville.
 Yesterday morning Mr. L. N. Grissom, of this city, received a telegram bringing the sad news of the death of his father Mr. J. D. Grissom, which occurred near Creedmore. Mr. Grissom has been in bad health for several years but for the past few days he has been much worse until yesterday morning when death came. He was a good Christian gentleman and loved by all who knew him.
 He was in his 72 year. He leaves a wife and four children to mourn their loss. His son Mr. L. N. Grissom left yesterday to attend the funeral which takes place this afternoon conducted by Rev. J. W. Wellons, of this city.

Mr. Hatchett Dead.
 Dr. R. J. Hatchett died yesterday afternoon at the home of his daughter, Mrs. M. H. Fairbrother, on Alston avenue. Dr. Hatchett, while living here with his daughter, Mrs. Fairbrother, for the past three years, was not well known to our people, as he has been an invalid for several years, and has been about Durham but little. He was in his 82d year. He was born in Laurensburg county, Va., and for forty years practiced medicine, being a graduate of a Philadelphia school. He came to North Carolina in 1855, locating at Henderson, and about three years ago came to Durham. His wife, two sons and daughter survive him.
 The funeral will take place at his daughter's residence today, Wednesday, at 5 o'clock, the interment being in the city cemetery.
 Dr. Hatchett professed the Presbyterian faith and was a man who lived well his years, and when he knew that the inevitable hand had claimed him—he died resigned—hopeful and peaceful. The sympathy of friends is extended to the bereaved in this dark hour of their affliction.

Our Schools.
 Charlotte News.
 The poorest paid people in North Carolina, editors excepted, are our public school teachers. There is very little to induce men and women of talent to devote their lives to that profession. The compensation is so very small that most teachers teach as a stepping stone to something else.
 The masses are dependent upon the public schools for their education. These schools cannot be efficient without competent teachers, and these cannot be secured without fair compensation. I thought, be it said to their honor, there are hundreds of men and women in North Carolina who are devoting their lives to the education of the young, therefore a mere pittance.

We favor any every effort made to arouse interest in or increase the efficiency of our public school system. The Teachers' Assembly, held at Morehead City annually, has been the means of gathering together large numbers of teachers annually for the discussion of interest to teachers, and has done great service to the cause of education by introducing new methods and arousing enthusiasm among the teachers. For these reasons we regret to note a gradual decrease in the attendance of these assemblies.

At the present session Capt. C. B. Denson, of Raleigh, president of the Assembly, delivered a strong address on education. In summing up what education should be he said:
 "To sum up the whole it has been well defined, the harmonious development of every power for thought, action, duty and happiness."
 "Upon this development throughout the American people depends the ultimate judgment of the world upon the power of self-government by man, and whether the twentieth century shall usher in the most extraordinary march of the race to the utmost pinnacle of difficulty that man may surmount, or whether the red flag of anarchy or the black emblem of despotism shall be planted among the ruins that shall mark the retrogression of humanity, and the colossal failure of modern civilization."

 There is great truth strongly expressed. The ability of any people to govern themselves depends on their intelligence and patriotism. How can the masses vote intelligently upon the great questions that are now pressing for solution unless they have education? Unless wisdom and patriotism guide the people and their leaders our ship of state will go to pieces on the rocks.
