

E. C. HACKNEY, PROPRIETOR

THURSDAY, JULY 18, 1895.

Peru and Bolivia are at loggerheads and a war is imminent.

The North Carolina Press association meets in Greensboro today.

Concord has a new daily, The Sun, owned and edited by P. C. Page.

Ira Johnson, a negro murderer, was lynched Monday night. You either have to lynch them or they go free.

Mrs. Patsy Arrington now has something to her liking. The grand jury of Wake county has found a true bill against her for libel. Barnes Bros., the printers who got out her sheet, have also met the same fate.

It looks as if the Rev. John Massey will have enough of newspapers when he gets through with the Pilot case. If he wins the suit he will not be the gainer by the investigations that have been made and the facts that have been brought to light.

When a $1.50 a day laborer went to sign a city pay roll at Chicago the other day his chief noticed that he wore a $250 diamond ring. It turned out, relates the New York Mercury, that he was in a political ring, also, and drew pay on three rolls.

J. W. Bailey has been appointed editor of the Biblical Recorder to succeed his father, the late Dr. Bailey. As he has successfully conducted the paper for the last two years, the selection will no doubt meet with the approval of the patrons of the paper.

The Weekly Globe, under Mr. R. H. Cowan's editorship, made its appearance Thursday morning. This, the first number, is one of the best weekly papers in the state, and the able editor promises to improve it. We wish Mr. Cowan success and believe he will attain it.

The report of the Philadelphia Custom House for the past fiscal year throws some important light upon the operations of the new tariff. The amount of duties collected during the year was $11,640,904, as compared with $7,714,000 in the preceding year, an increase of more than 50 per cent. This increase in the receipts of the port results from the duty of 40 per cent ad valorem upon sugar and 2 cents per gallon on molasses, which have been collected during ten months of the year just closed, and which amount to $4,607,882.

THE SHERWELL VERDICT.

The Raleigh News and Observer speaking of the acquittal of Shemwell at Lexington Monday morning says: The acquittal of Shemwell will come as a shock upon the people of the state who, while not desiring vengeance, believe in the punishment of crime. There have been two juries trying the case—one the twelve men, picked from the neighbors of the slayer and his victim, and the other the reading population of the state, for no case in the annals of the state has been so rally and fairly reported. The first jury of twelve men, all the parties, and was in a position to be influenced in rendering its verdict by local coloring. The second jury knew neither of the parties, and made up its verdict from the evidence as it appeared in cold type. The verdict rendered by the twelve does not agree with the verdict of the reading public.

When the judge refused to remove the trial, a well known citizen said: "That is the first mistake in the trial. I know something of the county. Shemwell is rich and he and his friends have a knowledge of the feeling of nearly every family in the county. They know who are the friends of the Paynes, and they know who they can rely on. Shemwell will be acquitted, but it will be a decision wholly unwarranted by the facts." He was a prophet. Every law abiding citizen will feel in Shemwell's acquittal that there has been a miscarriage of justice.

Imprisonment for life would have been a small punishment for the blood of which he was guilty. It is greatly to be doubted whether he would have escaped hanging in any county in which he had no acquaintance.

Shemwell has been acquitted by the laws of his country and every good citizen will acquiesce in the verdict. But a thousand verdicts cannot wipe the murderous blood off of his hands. He is a marked man, and has escaped the gallows by a hair's breadth. He ought not to have escaped at all.

WEATHER CROP BULLETIN.

The reports of correspondents of the Weekly Weather Crop Bulletin, issued by the North Carolina State Weather Service, for the week ending Saturday, July 13, 1895, though generally favorable, indicate that the week was a little too cool and that rain is needed, especially in the central portion of the state. On the last four days the temperature was considerably below the normal, averaging in the central portion a deficiency of five degrees daily. The sky was generally cloudy or hazy. Favorable showers occurred on four days, which yielded the largest amount of rain-fall in the east, sufficient in places to make crops very grassy. It is very dry at most places in the central district, though no serious injury is yet reported. Curing tobacco has begun in the eastern district. Corn is going to be one of the finest crops ever harvested.

Eastern District.—There was a peculiar irregularity in the distribution of rain fall this week, many counties reporting too much rain and want of sunshine, others in between reporting rain still needed. Excepting the deficiency in temperature during the last four days, which slightly retarded progress which crops might have made, the week was favorable. Cotton continues small, but is looking well, and is making weed almost too rapidly in the south; blossoms are increasing; rice are still doing a little damage. Tobacco is growing up fast, with great improvement in appearance; a few farmers have commenced curing. Peanuts are looking fine, though small in places, and will soon receive last working. Rice is doing well. Melons are nearly ripe, but to some extent are not as good as last year. Fruit is small.

Central District.—There has been less rain in this district than in the east, and rain is needed in most counties of the district, though crops are not suffering to any extent. Considerable cloudy, hazy weather prevailed during the week, with a few showers, rather small in amount, except locally, when there was sufficient. Cotton is still improving and blooming freely; the crop is still being injured by lice to a limited extent. Any unfavorable conditions between now and October will result in one of the small est cotton crops ever grown. Corn is in silk and tassel, and is remarkably fine nearly everywhere, promising a very large yield, equal to if not better than last year. Lying by late corn and cotton will continue into August. Tobacco is doing very well, and a large portion of the crop will be topped this month. Threshing continues. Some spring oats are being cut. Sowing peas about done. Sweet potatoes are vining nicely. Some rotting of grapes is reported.

Western District.—Another week of fine growing weather is the general report. Showers occurred in nearly every part of the district, but a few correspondents say that more rain is needed. There was not enough rain to prevent a good week's work—threshing wheat, cutting oats, laying by corn, preparing land for fall turnips, etc. Wheat will turn out to be about the average crop it seems; while some report the yield fine, others say it is not as good as expected. Oats are generally reported to be a good crop. Some farmers are making hay still. Cotton is beginning to bloom.

Corn is undoubtedly a fine crop; the reports are almost unanimous in saying that the crop is very promising. Melons are growing off fairly well now, but they are late. The weather has been favorable for tobacco, and it is doing well.

A ROMANCE OF TWO WORLDS.

Husband and wife separated by the prison cell in Russia arriving in this country almost at the same time but each unaware of the other's presence have been brought together by the Children's Aid Society. The woman is Sonya Kulaski, a refined Russian woman of 23 years, the daughter of well to do parents. Her husband occupies a position of trust in Montreal, Canada, and thither the wife with her child is now hurrying.

Only the bare facts of the little romance are known to the officers of the Children's Aid Society owing to the limited ability of Mrs. Kulaski to speak English. The romance began in Russia six months ago. Her husband met with reverses, was tempted and fell and was sent to the mines for employment. The disgrace caused Mrs. Kulaski to come to this country.

Shortly after she arrived a child was born to her at the Jefferson Maternity Hospital. Speaking no English, having no money and no friends the Aid Society became her protector. It invoked the aid of the United States commissioners of Immigration to restore her to her home in Russia but a technical difficulty arose. The child being born an American the commissioners could not send it back and Mrs. Kulaski refused to return to her home unless she could take her child with her. Through the intervention of the society a place of service was secured for her.

Friends meanwhile had intervened for the husband and his release was secured. He came direct to the United States to begin life anew. After some time he found lucrative employment in Montreal.

The society began a correspondence with relatives of their ward from whom was learned the story of the husband's life after the separation. Then a letter found its way to Montreal. The sequence was an urgent appeal from the husband and a reunited happy family.—Philadelphia Press.

PERSONAL.

Past assistant Surgeon P. C. Crandall has been detached from the Vermont and ordered to the New York navy yard.

Mr. Cleveland has the great comfort of knowing that none of his family is likely to break into politics as the son of his father.

So well informed a man as James Payn writes in the London Illustrated News about "the State of Albany" and its proposed legislation.

Commodore Matthews, chief of the bureau of yards and docks, has gone to New York to make an inspection of the improvements that are now in progress.

Mr. Sze, of the Chinese Legation, as the National Capital, is an enthusiastic cyclist, but must ride a woman's wheel on account of the peculiarities of his costume.

Senator Teller has gone on a visit to the Ute Indian reservation. In an impromptu speech at Cortez, Col., he declared he would never "follow the republican party into the gold bug camp."

Mme Dienlafoy, of Paris, has worn men's clothes since 1870. She goes to balls in a swallow tail coat, with her hair clipped close to her head, yet she is called "exquisitely womanly."

Women promoters have been tried at the Covent Garden Theatre in London with success, as it has been found that their voices carry better across the stage and are less audible in the auditorium.

bought for $10,000 and presented it the Louvre the Boscoreale treasure, consisting of silver articles found at Pompeii, which the Boston Museum was trying to purchase.

The up-to-date women of the Trinity Protestant Episcopal church, in Townson, Md., are raising money with which to buy a bicycle for the rector of the church, which he is to use in making pastoral visits and in attending to other duties.

Max Lebady, the new owner of the Le Soir newspaper in Paris, is the son of a foremaster. He is extremely wealthy and extravagant with his father's money, but charitable and witty. He won a fortune at the Grand Prix this year by betting on Andree. Because he is as delicate as whipped cream or marmelade the Boulevards have named him "La Petit Sucrier"—the Little Sugar Bowl. Le Soir has been a serious, independent evening paper.

Wilkesboro correspondent of the News and Observer: Revenue officer Dancy was attacked in this county one night last week by three men, who pulled him from his horse, and two held him while the other stamped him with both feet. In the meantime Dancy got his hands on his pistol and shot one of them through the shoulder blade, and immediately the other two took to their heels. Upon the wounded man attempting to run Dancy was about to shoot him again but the man exclaimed, "For God's sake don't shoot you've nearly killed me already." They had a grudge against Dancy, as he was leading the company when young Hayes was shot in Mulberry township a few weeks ago.

HUMORIST.

Young Mr. Saprey—I wish I could get me a hat that was suited to my head.

Miss Palisade—Why don't you try a soft hat?—Clothier and Furnisher.

Critic (in the art gallery).—I don't see any art in that dab of yours.

Amateur Painter (dejected).—Aha! You think I have the art that conceals art.—Chicago Record.

The Usual Way.—"How many did you have at the caucus last night?"

"Five or six. We had enough to nominate a full ticket."

"What are you going to call it?"

"The People's of course."—Chicago Tribune.

Squibbs—Crosses, the miser, was drowned last evening.

Hibbs—How did it happen?

Squibbs—He fell from a steamboat. I reached down and asked him to give me his hand. He said he had nothing to give and sank.—Washington National Tribune.

Greatest on Earth.

James M. Brooks Washington Ave., St. Louis, Mo., makes affidavit that he suffered from Rheumatism for years, until persuaded to try Drummond's Lightning Remedy, and that by its use he has been fully restored. He says the remedy is the greatest on earth. This is high praise, but fully warranted by other miraculous cures. If you want to be cured, send $5 to the Drummond Medicine Co., 48 Maiden Lane, New York, and they will send to your express address two large bottles of their remedy. This treatment lasts one month, and will cure any ordinary case. Agents Wanted.

A Million Friends.

A friend in need is a friend indeed and not less than one million people have found just such a friend in

Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs, and Colds. If you have never need this Great Cough Medicine, a trial will convince you that it has wonderful curative powers in all diseases of Throat, Chest and Lungs. Each bottle is guaranteed to do all that is claimed or money will be refunded. Trial bottles free at BLICKNELL & SON Drug store. Large bottle 50c. and $1.00.
