

The Durham Recorder.

STRANGE story of money re-ferred come from Liverpool chimney sweep cleaning an a flue found £40 in coin in a house. On telling the lady of the house she burst into tears and wept. She had put the money away herself years ago, and had forgotten the fact had accrued her son, who was rather id, of stealing it, with the result that he had left the house in indignation and had never returned.

RUDYARD KIPLING, as he showed himself to his intimate friends just before he became known to all the world, will be the subject of a paper in McClure's Magazine for July. It is written by the man with whom Mr. Kipling was associated in the editorship of a newspaper in India, and it will be illustrated with portraits and pictures from photographs furnished by Mr. Kipling's family. "A Coast and a Cape," a very lively bicycling story, and a humorous love story, by Robert Barr, will also appear in the July number of the magazine will be on sale at T. J. Gattis & Son.

HON. MATT W. RANSOM, United States minister to Mexico, arrived in Washington Wednesday on a leave of absence from his post. He is now at his home in this State taking a much needed rest.

It is now thought that McKinley will be nominated for president on the first ballot, at St. Louis next Tuesday. The national committee, which is now in session, has seated all McKinley contesting delegates from Alabama.

THRACKERY tells of a lord who never saw a vacant place on his estate but took an acorn out of his pocket and dropped it in. The acorn cost nothing, but it might sprout into a prodigious bit of lumber. So deal with your compliments through life, says an exchange. Never have a chance of saying a kind word, of doing a kindly act, of obliging your brother's motives of the best. It costs nothing, but the little act may be productive of great good.

Of the 29,000,000 inhabitants of England and Wales at the last census, 20,800,000, or over two-thirds, lived in towns and only 3,200,000 in the country. Scotland one-half of the population lived in towns of more than 10,000 inhabitants, though in Ireland the proportion was about one sixth.—Augusta Chronicle.

THAT New York City consumes nine hundred and sixty million eggs in one year; nearly one hundred thousand pounds of butter every day; and as many gallons of milk; and it consumes three hundred and five million pounds of beef in a year—most astounding.

WASHINGTON correspondent photographed his paper a day or so ago that "President Cleveland is disgusted with politics, public life, politicians, the people and everything." We think about time he is getting disgusted at something. The country has been "disgusted" at for some time.

POLITICAL corruption has been in this country to an alarming extent. An attempt is being made to make the silver masses—laborers and business people of the country, bow down and worship it. But these people could remember what Moses did when he returned with the Golden Tablets during his absence from the Tribe, to receive the Tablets from the Lord—and take them. And also, that the son of David drove the money changers from the Temple with the scorpions.

SOME folks are so fond of trouble, says the Atlanta Constitution, that they can't enjoy honey for thinking of what might have happened if the bee had stung 'em.

WHAT to do with the negro delegates to the National Republican convention is a problem yet unsolved by the National committee. Money will not induce the Hotels to take them. When a little boy we heard a parable about a fellow who caught an elephant and didn't know what to do with him.

COLONEL JOE LEFFEL, the smallest perfectly formed man in the world, has announced himself as a Republican candidate for mayor of Springfield, Ohio. He is only 46 inches in height, and is 63 years old.

It pays to be true; it pays to respect the heart and the hopes of our fellow creatures of every sort and condition. Only he with one fixed and high standard of honor can make and keep that friendship and good will of his fellows, which it is perilous in any given instance to abuse.

Blaine was for Silver.
In 1880 James G. Blaine, then a United States Senator from Maine, made a speech in the Senate which clearly defined his position on the monetary question. He was in favor of silver being put back on an equal with gold. An extract from his speech is as follows:
"On the much vexed and long mooted question as to bimetallic and monometallic standard my own views are sufficiently indicated in the remarks I have made. I believe the struggle now going on in this country and in other countries for single gold standard would, if successful, produce wide spread disaster in and throughout the commercial world. The destruction of silver money, and establishing gold as the sole unit of value, must have a ruinous effect on all forms of property except those investments which yield a fixed return in money. Those would be enormously enhanced in value and would gain a disproportionate and unfair advantage over every other species of property. If, as the most reliable statistics affirm, there are nearly $7,000,000,000 of coin or bullion in the world, very equally divided between gold and silver, it is impossible to strike silver out of existence as money without results which will prove distressing to millions and utterly disastrous to tens of thousands.
"I believe gold and silver coin to be the money of the Constitution; indeed, the money of the American people anterior to the Constitution, which the great organic law recognized as quite independent of its own existence. No power was conferred on Congress to declare either metal should not be money. Congress has, therefore, in my judgment, no power to demonetize either. If, therefore, silver has been demonetized, I am in favor of re-monetizing it. If its coinage has been prohibited, I am in favor of ordering it to be resumed."

Durham's Stability.
EDITOR OF HERALD.—Daniel Webster once said "I shall enter no contention on Massachusetts—she needs none." Neither does Durham need praise, if so there are those more worthy and capable than I, of extolling her virtues. For the last four years I have mingled with her people and found friends.
I have found too that energy and unity form the secret of Durham's success—they compose the foundation on which Durham rests today. Energy that builds factories, college and hospital; that hustles cutting one of the brightest morning papers in the state by the time Old Sol shows his radiant face in the eastern horizon. Unity that meets for the common good of all, in spite of creed or politics.

Such a foundation will outlast the free silver question and like issues. As long as unity and energy are written deep in the souls of her citizens, Durham will stand, graded schools, Trinity college and Watts Hospital will stand. And the public library—that will stand too. Women are interested in it. Since the day of Mrs. Eve, women have been capable of getting most anything—bicycles, diamonds, sweethearts and husbands. Of course they will get the library—for they inherit much of Mrs. Eve's getting qualities. They are preparing a good foundation, one that will stand the test of time. 'Twill be as secure as the Duke Mausoleum, as solid as the Egyptian Pyramids—and, well—about as firm as the foundation of that platform on which Mr. Jas. H. Southgate stands. Now won't it be solid?

Our gallant Jim,—the Demos-thenes of Durham—has too much discretion and forethought to risk himself on any shaky platform. I am glad that silver and gold dollars combined, cannot alone, form a platform for him. He stands on a great moral principle, and posterity looking backward will behold the majestic form of Hon. Jas. H., standing as firm as granite when Cleveland, McKimley and Reed shall have been lost in oblivion.

Heretofore, owing to youthful age I have never voted, but think I shall be shackled to no party, but will ever cast my ballot for men of character and ability; only such men will make or guide the state.

Are there not such men in our city? One particularly—wise, liberal, kind. He knows me not (so far I know) from a savage in Africa. Little does it matter.

Freight cars have been running to Raleigh for some time, also mail cars. So far, so good. Yet there is another Carr that must go to Raleigh—Jule. The people of the Old North State want him.

If he decides to run, see if he doesn't arrive at the gubernatorial station, amid the welcoming shouts of both races—"on time."

Many readers of the HERALD, am I not right?
"YOUNG CITIZEN."

Frank Leslie For July.
Many very attractive and beautifully illustrated articles are given in Frank Leslie's Popular Monthly for July, and also several excellent short stories. The leading feature is a description of General Robert E. Lee's part in the battles of Fredericksburg and Chancellorsville, written by Colonel John J. Garnett, of the Confederate States Artillery, and forming the sixth paper in the magazine's great "Lee Series." The article is profusely illustrated with portraits and battle scenes. In "A Glimpse of Dungeness" Frederick A. Ober describes the burial place of "Light Horse Harry" Lee. Another feature of this number is an article on "Colonial Holmes of Virginia," by Virginia Cousins Mayo, accompanied by more than a dozen pictures. Then there is "The Fotheringay Tragedy," in which A. Oakley Hall tells of the last days of Mary, Queen of Scots; Prof. Sulzbacher writes of the University of Heidelberg; a paper on "Canine Warriors" shows the services rendered by dogs on the battlefield, and the Isle of Man is described in an interesting article. Find Your Places.
Every human being, however small and insignificant, has a place to fill and a great work to do that no one else can do for him.

There is always some aching brow that we can soothe; some rugged pathway to be made more easily to travel; some heavy burden that we can assist our fellow traveler in carrying up the hill of life, and some dark life, that is bowed down in grief and despair, that we can brighten.

Every one has his place and vacation and it rests with himself to find it.

Be new, in every sense of the word; find your places and go to work, for life at best is short and what we do must be done now, for tomorrow may be too late. Honest, true men, are what the world wants today and "pretension is always depreciable," it matters not from whom it comes.

Disguised Bessing.
Adversity hath her uses. How few people ever discover and develop the wonderful resources of power that God has laid in their souls, until necessity, the Mother of invention, awakes the latent germ.

Most people are like fields from which the harvest has been gathered, or on while thorns grow rank and thick, which deep beneath the surface, neglected and undeveloped, are rich beds of minerals and precious jewels.

It God did not sometimes drill Artesian wells, and sink deep the shafts of adversity, disappointment and sorrow into the very souls of men—if He did not afflict them in some way, how little would we ever discover of the wonderfully precious interior of the souls—of our resources and capabilities—of the capacity to suffer and enjoy—to create and perform.

"Know Thyself." Use your talents—Glorify God and bless the world.

Baltimore for Sound Money.
BALTIMORE, Md., June 8.—The Democrats of Baltimore county, in convention at Towson, today, passed a resolution indorsing "the President in his views on the money question, and pledge themselves to a sound money currency."

At Westminster the Democrats of Carroll county declared for "a sound and stable currency, as provided for by the Constitution of the United States."

Pertinent Politics.
Since the days when the Triumvirate of Rome, and the fight for the spoils of Empire between the factions of Caesar, Brutus, and the Tribunes wrecked the government, and left Nero to play his sad requiem over the holocaust of its burning greatness, on a discordant fiddle, has there been so much of dangerous political perfidy in a government as exist here today. But when the sitting sun bids good night to the American people on election day in November, the darkness which follows will not obscure the evil deeds of those whose greed and selfishness has been the country's ruin. With the crowing of the cock and the rising of another day's sun, all will be made as clear as the rays of a mid day can make possible, and the verdict of the judge—the great American people, will be "Depart From Me, Ye Accursed, into Everlasting Darkness."

Stand Together.
"In unity there is strength" and it is a solemn obligation that every citizen of this city—every true Durhamite—owes to his town and fellow citizens to stand together and one and all work for Durham first, last and always. "United we stand; divided we fall," and by every citizen pulling together it will be an easy matter to place Durham far ahead of any city in the state.

Napoleon's famous maxim "always concentrate your forces; never divide them," made him the conqueror of Europe. His enemies spread out their bigger armies but he gathered his together and struck at one point and conquered. At the last, when he neglected his own advice, and his own forces became divided, he was himself conquered.

Mrs. Dav is Wi Attend.
Mrs. Jefferson Davis and daughters, Mrs. Hayes and Miss Wianey will attend the meeting of the Confederate Veterans at Richmond this month. A recent dispatch from that city says: At a meeting tonight of the committee having charge of the reception to be tendered Mrs. Jefferson Davis, at the Davis Mansion, during the Confederate reunion here, a letter was read from Mrs. Davis, saying that she would gladly be present.

The "Scenic Route of the World."
On June 14, 1896, the Southern Railway will inaugurate passenger trains Nos. 15 and 16 between Chattanooga, Tenn., and Norfolk, Va., through Knoxville—"The Land of the Sky"—Greensboro and Selma, N. C. Train No. 16 will leave Chattanooga 5:1 p. m., Knoxville 9:05 p. m., Asheville 1:06 a. m.; arrive Greensboro 8:25 a. m., and Norfolk 5:20 p. m. Train No. 15 will leave Norfolk at 10:05 a. m., arrive at Greensboro 7:20 p. m., Asheville 12:35 a. m., Knoxville 4:45 a. m. and Chattanooga 8:20 a. m. At Chattanooga connection will be made with the Queen & Crescent Route and from Cincinnati, Louisville, Lexington, Birmingham, New Orleans and all points in the South, and with the Memphis & Charleston R. R. to and from Memphis and points in the West and Southwest. At Norfolk connection will be made with palatial steamers to and from Baltimore, Washington, New York, Boston and points East. At Salisbury, N. C., connection will be made with the famous "United Fast Mail," operated by the Railway between Washington, the East, and all points South, establishing double daily service between New York, Washington and Asheville and Hot Springs, N. C., Knoxville and Chattanooga, Tenn.

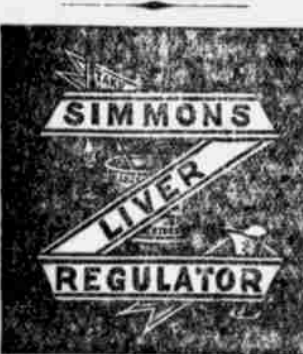

These trains will be equipped with elegant day coaches and Pullman Drawing Room Sleeping Cars, which will run through between Pinners Point and Chattanooga without change.

Congress Has Adjourned.
The congress of the United States has at last adjourned and the country can now take a much needed rest. It was one of the greatest farces ever imposed upon a nation of people and every body should be devoutly thankful that the long eared animals have quit their "braying" and gone home, where it is hoped they will stay forever.

The Charlotte Observer in speaking of the adjournment says: "It is to be feared that the conduct of the congress just adjourned will have the effect of scaring all good men out of politics for some years to come. Such an assembly, in its majority, is not fit company for any God-fearing, patriotic citizen."

WASHINGTON, June 9.—Word has reached Washington that Mr. Hannis Taylor, United States Minister to Spain, has been taken ill in Paris. He was on his return to Madrid from England after sending his family home.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address: F. J. Cheney, Toledo, Ohio Sold by Druggists, 75c.
