Burdies Mill.

Many of us miss the joys that might be ours by keeping our eye fixed on those of other people. No one can enjoy their own opportunities for happiness while they are envious of others. Life has its full measure of happiness for every one of us if we will only determine to make the very most of every opportunity that comes our way instead of longing for the things that comes our neighbor's way. Bright, cheerful, hopeful thoughts are friends that will insure success. The ambitious person should learn as early in life as possible to pick out the friends and enemies of success and in many cases it will be found that the greatest enemy resides within our selves.

Morbid thoughts are infinitely greater hindrance to success than opportunities from out side.

No health, no harmony, no real success can exist in the atmosphere of abnormal melancholy. Over come the policy within your own heart and you will have done much towards reaching success in life. Let us believe that there never was a right thing done or a worse move made in vain, although the fruit of them may not spring up in the place designated that the time expected. Endeavor to be courteous to old people, for courtesy is the oil that makes the machinery of life run smoothly.

There are three things in this world which deserves no quarter, hypocrisy, pharism and tyranny.

If you see anything worthy of praise, speak of it, even if you cant do worthy deeds yourself dont be to selfish to commend one who can.

Let us come together in enity, let us do our duty in our shop or our kitchen, the market, the street, the office, the school, the home, just as faithful as if we stood in front ranks of some great battle, when we do that the humblest of us will be serving in that great army which achieves the welfare of others.

Brush your forehead from your eyes and strike right out. Look the whole world in the face; Vow to win or burst a trace. Be as good a man on Monday, as you were at church on Sunday, and strike right out. Dreamer got a valentine.

Dreamer thought it very kind On it are roses and a snowy dove. And jingling verses of hearts and love.

Was bowed with ribbon all pink and blue

Who sent it I do not know.

Where did it come from I can't guess.

It cost a quarter I'm sure not less.

Who was so rich all that to spend.

Who was so kind to send Dreamer.

To Tobacco Growers.

Danville, Va., Feb. 24.—The following circular has been issued by the Tobacco Growers' Protective association of Virginia through H. O. Chairman, addressed to the tobacco growers of Virginia and North Carolina:

"The board of directors of the Bright Tobacco Growers' association believe that the interest of the tobacco business will be advanced by careful review of the past and present condition. Some four years ago when ruin faced the tobacco growers, when the average price was less than six cents the farmers in Virginia and North Carolina met in the city of Danville and organized the association. This association has persistently made just claims which if backed up by the producers would place the producers in position where they could demand and protect their rights. We claim that every farmer and every legitimate business has been benefited by the small amount of work that has been done. We believe that had the farmers continued their old policy of making all the tobacco they could, and delivering it to the trust at $6 and less, without any protest in the shape of public meetings and organizations, that there would have been very little if any advance in prices. We further believe that a large majority of the farmers realize what has been gone to make the movement a thorough success. We urge all farmers to meet with us in Danville, March 17, 1908, at which time we propose to adopt a more systematic measures for pushing the work. We have sold about ninety per cent of the reordered tobacco and settlement will be made on the above date. We also urge farmers to bring in their tobacco to the association as soon as possible that it may be handled to the best advantage."

Durham Pythians Favor Lodge.

Durham Lodge No. 31, Knights of Pythias at a regular meeting held last night decided unanimously that they were in favor of establishing a Stage Orphanage for their organization. For sometime this matter has been discussed among the Pythians of the State and now that the various lodges are taking up the matter, it may not be long before final action is taken. The East Durham lodge has not only voted in favor of such an institution but offer a $4,000 site for the erection of buildings for the home.
