COLINA DRY BY $43,000.

Result of Tuesday's Election Surprising in Many Ways.

DURHAM WET BY GOOD MAJORITY.

Results from the County Gives Anti-Prohibition Ticket the Lead.—Many Other Counties Vote Prohibition by Big Majorities.

The result of the election today was a surprise to many many ways. It had been expected and conceded all along that the entire State would vote by a safe majority, and many were of the opinion that Durham would have a part in the majority and it took the counting of the votes in some ways to convince the friends of prohibition that they were deceived.

There was not but two precincts to be counted the poll-holders completed their work early in the evening and before ten o'clock Tuesday night almost all precincts were heard from; it showed that the prohibition forces had polled 1278 votes the anti crowd had polled a majority of 631.

Election day passed off as usual as any other day in Durham. It was noticeable that everywhere that could do so, went to the polls early in the day and his ballot in favor of his choice.

AT THE VOTING PLACES.

Any interesting and amusing incidents took place at the polls during the election. The manner of both sides was quiet and general good feeling reigned throughout the day.

Hunt's Store one man stepped up and selected his ticket and just as it was about to be cast he discovered he had voted for prohibition and he intended to vote against it.

At Eakes' Store precinct two men were working for each other when a man came up that was not a vote. The wet man knew how the fellows would vote, so he arranged that his brother should be called by telephone to give him an opportunity to have his man vote. The dry brother returned in time to be too late and his brother of stealing a vote. The court house a man walked up to the polls and was asked if he wanted a ticket for or against. He promptly replied that his ticket should read against, meaning against prohibition, but after he had voted the dry crowd smiled as they learned how he stood.

Taken as a whole the election passed off very quietly. In some cases hard words have been said but they will soon be forgotten and the prohibition campaign, the warmest contest we have seen, will be a thing of the past.

Kitchin's Week.

The Craig forces came out with tooting horns again this week. Their man lead in the primaries last Saturday by about 4 votes. This was no surprise to the Kitchin men, in fact they expected more than their enemies got. You just watch and see how the things look next Monday morning. This is going to be a Kitchin week, and if the signs do not fail us, it will be a Kitchin week from now until the Convention meets in Charlotte on June 24th. Mr. Kitchin will steadily lead the possession until then, when at that time he will be nominated to the high office of Governor of North Carolina.—Person County Courier.
