From the Buffalo Commercial Advertiser. PERILOUS ADVENTURE AT THE FALLS.

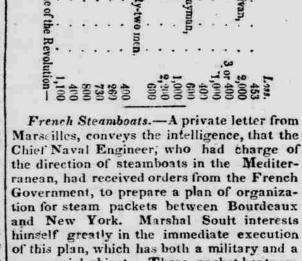

An occurrence of most thrilling interest took place at Niagara Falls yesterday afternoon, attended with imminent peril to the lives of two individuals, but resulted in a most happy and providential deliverance. The new bridge to Iris island is planted in a frightful rapid, where the current is from 20 to 30 miles an hour, and is only about 100 or 150 yards above the brow of the great precipice, or perpendicular fall. A carpenter by the name of Chapin was engaged with others in covering the bridge, and while at work upon a staging about one hundred feet from Iris island, accidentally lost his footing, and was precipitated into the rapids, and in the twinkling of an eye swept away towards the great cataract. Speedy and inevitable destruction seemed to await him; but fortunately he was uninjured by the fall, and even in this most hopeless condition retained perfect himself greatly in the immediate execution self-possession. Turning his eye toward the of this plan, which has both a military and a only point of hope above the fearful precipice, he succeeded, by great dexterity in swiming, in effecting a landing upon a little may readily be converted into ships of war island some twenty feet in width and length, of eighty guns: the outermost of the group of little cedar is-

From the Georgia Constitutionalist.

Vice la Bagatelle .-- It will be remembered, that a short time since, a Durham bull, some where in Pennsylvania, broke into a morus multicautis field and devoured six hundred dollars worth of trees in one night; and the wag of an editor who announced the fact, stated that it was expected the bull would begin to spin in a day or two. This bold outrage upon so important a staple in our trade, has called forth the following amusing parody on Gen. Morris' "Woodman spare that tree."

TO MY DURHAM. TUNE .-- "Woodman spare that Tree."

Durham! spare those trees, Harm not their tender boughs, But let them grow in peace,

And elsewhere seck to browse. 'Twas your own master's hand That placed them in this spot:

Then let my "morus" stand, Thy mouth shall harm them not.

Those green and thrifty trees, My hopes must shortly crown,

Then tread not, if you please, My multicaulis down. Forbear those midnight haunts, I've grass and hay to spare;

The silkworms only share.

'Twas not for idle sport, 1 sought this grateful trade, In all my gushing joy,

Oh! save those tender plants,

I deemed my fortune made. With care those twigs I've reared,

And weeded with my hand--From grass and rubbish cleared; Then let, oh! let them stand.

My hopes around them twine, As round a needful friend,

Each twig shall yield me coin, Till wealth shall make me bend. Old brute! then get thee gone,

And leave this treasured spot, For while I've club or gun, Thy mouth shall harm them not.

All again felt a momentary relief, but still the great labor and hazard of the enterprise remained to be overcome. A cool head and a strong arm only could effect it. Robinson proved equal to the task. Taking his companion on board, in the same careful and deliberate manner, though at infinitely greater hazard and labor, they effected a safe landing on Goat island.
