FAYETTEVILLE:

Saturday Moraing, December 5, 1840. In giving place in our columns this week, to the Message of Governor Dudley, to the exclusion of ther and far more interesting and valuable matter, we have not been actuated by any regard we have for that document, but solely because many of our readers, in all probability, have no other means of sceing it, and of course will expect it at our hands. In the first place, it spreads out to an immense length, which, if it were an interesting document, would make it tedious, and in the second place, it breathes out from beginning to end animadversions upon the administration of Jackson and Van Buren, which smack of a deep-stated and bitter hatred.

totally unworthy the Governor of North Carolina. His "strictures" upon the measures of Mr Van Buren, are statesmanlike, noble ! generous ! His oppenent is down, and he is magnanimously stamping on him. But we hope and believe, that the day is not far distant, when not only Gov. Dudley,

The Western Carolinian, at the end of an article not bestowing much commendation upon Gov.
