Dreadfal Accident. MOBILE Nov. 18.

The steamboat Express, Capt. Maguire, hich left here on Saturday evening last, when within five miles of St. Stephens, on Sunday about 3 p. m. burst her boilers, killing and wounding fourteen persons. A barge was in tow alongside at the time, into which, as we learn one of the boilers was blown, wounding one if not more of the hands; the other boiler it is said, was blown overboard. The account was brought to the city, last evening, by a person who was on board the ill tated boat at the time of the disaster, and may be relied upon as correct in the main, though we can not but express the hope that the frightful detail may be somewhat lessened by the next intelligence from the scene of this painful calamity. Since the above was written, we have been obligingly furnished with the following extract from a letter, written by a gentleman who left here in the steamboat Odd Fellow, shortly after the Express. It will be seen that the distressing intelligence is fully confirmed .-

The plan of publishing in successive numbers, pictorial works, illustrative of the scenery of countries, has long been a popular one in Europe, and is rapidly gaining favor in our own

The proposition to issue such a work, devoted to the scenery of Georgia, although novel, per, Drugs and Patent Medicines. will undoubtedly find universal favor, and be regarded as it is by the editor, a plan at once felicitous and feasible. There is much scenery in our State, that is not surpassed in beauty and sublimity, by that of any other State in the Union. The upper counties abound in scenes, which need only to be known, to command the admiration of all who love the beauties of nature. Much of the scenery of the North, is inferior to our own, but is yet visited by thousands simply because it has been written, sung and 'lionized," by authors and travellers, until its beauty has become universally known and appreciated. It is desirable that attention should be directed to our own resources of the picturesque in natural scenery, and when this is done, our own and Northern tourists will speedily ender our beautiful views as immortal as our

The South is charged with general indifference to the progress of Literature and the Fine Arts; and probably the strongest foundation or the charge is found in her inaction in enterrises calculated to foster these objects. The publication of the proposed work will, it is beleved, be an effective blow at this foundation, and a step towards the establishment of our literary reputation, to which end much honorable effort is now directed.

A third consideration, and the last which will now be urged, is the intrinsic value of such a publication as "Georgia Illustrated." It will embody the representations of the beautiful and subtime in our State scenery, and afford all, at a triffing expence, exact pictures of our mountains, vallies, cataracts, public buildings, & . which they may or may not otherwise behold, but which, in either case, would afford peculiar

The proposed work will be executed in a style superior to any similar pictoral work in the country. The plates will be executed on steel, by eminent engravers, from original drawings, made expressly for the purpose, by Mr T. Addison Richards, of Augusta. The engravings will be accompanied with letter-press descrip tions, prepared for the work, and in this department the editor will secure, as far as possible, the assistance and co-operation of our best writers. In short, no pains will be spared to make the work a perfect gem of its kind, to the end that it may meet a welcome reception not only at home but also abroad.

Conditions .- "Georgia Illustrated," will be ssued in monthly parts, in the quarto form, at $5 per annum in advance, or at 50 cents for each part, payable on delivery.
