Fayetteville FEMALE SEMINARY.
HAVING declined further supervision of the FEMALE SEMINARY, it is but just that I should express to its former patrons and friends my confidence, that in the hands of Mr. Spencer, it will be conducted with ability and faithfulness, on the general plan heretofore pursued. Mr. Spencer as a teacher, is laborious, accurate and persevering.
R. W. BAILEY.

THE Subscriber will open the Seminary on the 15th of October next, and hopes by giving his entire and exclusive attention to the business—aided in each department by competent, efficient FEMALE TEACHERS—to merit the patronage heretofore bestowed. In regard to the plan he intends to pursue, he has only to say, at present, that he is DETERMINED to give a course of instruction in each department as THOROUGH as possible. The Academic year will be the same as before, commencing on the 15th October, and closing on the 15th July, and divided into two sessions. Pupils charged from time of entrance to close of session, and no deduction made for absence, except in cases of sickness.

LAND! LAND! LAND!
NOW offer for sale a very valuable farm on the Eastern side of Cape Fear River in the county of Bladen, about 16 miles below the Town of Fayetteville, and immediately on the River. There are 763 acres of land (over survey) and 12 acres of back land joining the same. About 250 acres were in cultivation the present year, and there are suitable buildings for the convenience of the farm. Persons are requested to examine the same before the crop is housed, as they can then judge properly of its production. It is unnecessary to say it is a first-rate farm, as all will be satisfied of that fact when they see it. Terms will be made to suit the convenience of the purchaser. JOHN T. GILMORE.

FIVE DOLLARS REWARD.
RAN OFF on the 22d inst., from my residence on the Cape Fear River, 8 miles above Fayetteville, my negro man APRILL. He is a little bright complexioned, with thick bushy hair, very low-legged, when walking 20 paces very much, and has a great impediment in his speech, particularly when frightened. Said boy is about five feet five or six inches high, and weighs about 145 lbs.; aged about 30 years. The above reward will be paid for his delivery to me at my residence, or for conveying him in any Jail so that I can get him again, and all reasonable expenses paid. It is more than probable that he may make an attempt to go to Mr. Arch'd. McArns, Robeson County, near Gilchrist's bridge, who owns one of his brothers, whether he has made the attempt to go heretofore.

UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA.
From the message of the Governor, published in the Raleigh Register, giving information in relation to this institution, in compliance with a resolution of the Legislature, we have compiled the following facts, which will be found interesting:
The forty-first section of the Constitution of the State adopted on the 18th Dec. 1776, declares, "that a school or schools shall be established by the Legislature for the convenient instruction of youth, with such salaries to the masters, paid by the public, as may enable them to instruct at low prices; and [that] all useful learning shall be duly encouraged and promoted in one or more Universities."

The Constitution of the United States was adopted by North Carolina on the 21st Nov. 1789; and "the University of North Carolina" was incorporated on the 11th day of the following month.
The first meeting of the Trustees was held in Fayetteville, on the 15th November, 1790. Immediately after the organization of the Board, Mr James Hogg presented a deed from Benjamin Smith, Esq. of Brunswick, subsequently Governor of this State, conveying to the University twenty thousand acres of land.
On the 3rd August, 1792, more than two years and a half after the charter was granted, the entire amount of property held by this Institution, consisted of the sum of $2,705 41, invested in the funded debt of the United States; $423 84 cash; subscriptions payable in five equal annual instalments, amounting to $200; lands in Orange county, yielding an annual rent of $33; and the lands before mentioned, given by Gov. Smith, which were at that time, and for more than twenty years thereafter, in the occupancy of the Chickasaw Indians.

The loan of $10,000, granted by the State in 1791, was subsequently converted into a gift; and since that donation, no direct advancement has at any time been made from the Public Treasury. The grant of confiscated estates was revoked in 1804; the donation of arrearages and debts due to the States, proved nearly unproductive; and with these exceptions, "this great and useful school was established and has been supported, since the 13th February, 1795, until the present time, by funds derived from escheated estates, and the donations of beneficent and patriotic individuals, influenced by a zeal for the morals, learning and liberties of the State."

The various sources of public patronage have been already indicated. The largest donations received from individuals, were the conveyance before mentioned, of 20,000 acres of land, by Gov. Smith; the devise of 13,000 acres of valuable land, by the late Maj. Charles Gerard; and the gift, by General Thomas Person, of Granville, of $1,025 in cash, in April, 1796. The benefactions of the two latter gentlemen have been appropriately commemorated, by connecting their names with the Public Halls of the institution.

Shortly after the selection of Chapel Hill as the seat of the University, twelve individuals residing in the vicinity, conveyed to the Trustees, for no other consideration than that of enlightened patriotism, 1392 acres, including all the real estate at present held by the corporation.
In 1802, the ladies of Raleigh presented a pair of globes, with a compass; and in 1804, the ladies of Newbern a quadrant, "the best they could procure," as an evidence that the "sex could never be indifferent to the promotion of science, connected as it is with the virtues that impart civility to manners and refinement to life."

The earliest contributions to the Library were made by the late Judge Williams; Jas. Reid, Esq. of Wilmington; General William R. Davie, of Halifax; and David Kerr, Esq. of Chapel Hill, in 1795. By the late Richard Bunnahan, Esq. of Orange; Abraham Hodge, Esq. of Halifax; the Centre Benevolent Society of Iredell; and Francis N. W. Burton, Esq. now of Murfreesborough, Tenn. in 1796. By the late William Henry Hill, Esq. and Edward Jones, Esq. of Wilmington; and Joseph P. Gautier, of Bladen, 1797. By the late Governor Davie, of Halifax; and Joseph B. Hill, Esq. in 1799—and by Gen. Calvin Jones in 1800.

The aggregate amount of Receipts into the Treasury of the University, from the 15th November, 1790, to 20th November, 1840, is $520,782 42.
The endowment of the University consists, at the present time, of about nine hundred acres of land, nearly surrounding the village of Chapel Hill, including the grounds on which the College Edifices and the residences of the Faculty are situated.
The College buildings are five in number, constructed of brick, and in good repair.
The centre (known as the south) building, is three stories high above the basement story, 117 feet in length, and fifty feet in width, exclusive of the projection.

The east and west wings are three stories high, 96 feet seven inches long, and forty feet one and a half inches wide.
In addition to the Library, Laboratory, Philosophical Chamber, the two Halls appropriated to the Literary Societies, and three Recitation Rooms, these edifices contain sixty-five dormitories, 18 feet in length and 16 feet in width, affording comfortable accommodations to one hundred and thirty students.
Person and Gerard Halls are smaller structures, devoted to the public exercises of the institution and to Divine Worship.
The Steward's Hall is a plain framed building, pretty well suited to the purposes for which it was designed.
The Professors' houses are structures of a similar character, sufficiently neat and comfortable, but neither of them in a very good state of repair.
The Lands and Edifices, Chemical and Philosophical Apparatus, Mineralogical and Geological Cabinets, and Library, may be fairly estimated at $115,000 00
1,000 shares of Stock in the bank of the State of North Carolina, 100,000 00
Due on bonds, supposed to be entirely secure about 35,000 00
Aggregate, $250,000 00

The Faculty is composed of
1. The President, who is Professor of National and Constitutional Law.
2. A Professor of Chemistry, Mineralogy & Geology.
3. A Professor of Mathematics & Natural Philosophy.
4. A Professor of the Latin Language and Literature.
5. A Professor of the Greek Language and Literature.
6. A Professor of Rhetoric and Logic.
7. A Professor of the French Language and Literature.
8. A Tutor of Ancient Languages.
9. A Tutor of Mathematics.
The proposed edifice should contain more commodious halls for the two Literary Societies than those they now occupy; a library; and much more extensive and conveniently arranged lecture rooms, and recitation halls, than those in use. These important improvements, however, cannot be effected, unless a successful appeal can be made to individual or Legislative munificence.
The Report of the Treasurer of the Trustees exhibits a detailed statement of the receipts and expenditures during the collegiate year. It will be perceived that the receipts somewhat exceed the expenditures. The amount of tuition fees has been greater during the past, than in any preceding year, and greater than can reasonably be anticipated for the future.

The Faculty are authorized, in all cases, where the applicant is a native of the State, sustains a fair moral character, and possesses the requisite mental endowment, natural and acquired, to admit him into any class in the institution, without charge, either for tuition or room rent.
The young men availed themselves of this liberal provision, during the past, and quite as great a number in each of the three preceding years.
The privilege might be extended to a much greater number, but for the want of dormitories. Thirty students were compelled, during the last session, to seek accommodation in the village. The proposition of the Trustees, which has been so long before the public, to instruct gratuitously any number of indigent young men, who are natives of the State, and for whom dormitories may be provided, would seem to appeal, with a force not easily to be resisted, to those whose peculiar duty it is to provide instruction at low prices, and to promote all useful learning at the University.
I cannot close this communication without congratulating the General Assembly upon the high character which this institution has sustained, at home and abroad, and the uniform and liberal support it has received, throughout almost the entire period of its history.
MANUFACTURES IN TENNESSEE.—The statistics of the Middle district, Tenn., are published in the Nashville Union of the 17th. In the account of manual industry, we notice that there are 23 furnaces for casting iron, producing 14,000 tons; 28 bloomeries, forging and rolling mills, producing 7806 tons; 1,185,846 tons fuel consumed, 2273 men employed, and $1,219,800 capital invested. Of cotton manufactures, there are 423, employing 10,260 spindles; 1259 persons employed, and $252,000 capital invested. Of woollen manufactures there are 18; value of manufactured goods, $12,750; number of persons employed 36; capital invested, $459,415. All other manufactures not enumerated, value $154,553, capital invested, $70,490. Total capital invested in manufactures, $2,110,071.
All this is exclusive of the manufacture of hats and caps, coarse linens, tobacco, leather and leather ware, soap and candles, powder, earthenware, paper and books, cordage, wheeled vehicles, flour, furniture, machinery, hardware and cutlery, bricks, &c. &c. each of which several articles is fabricated to a considerable amount.—[Newark Adr.]

The Report of the Treasurer of the Trustees exhibits a detailed statement of the receipts and expenditures during the collegiate year. It will be perceived that the receipts somewhat exceed the expenditures. The amount of tuition fees has been greater during the past, than in any preceding year, and greater than can reasonably be anticipated for the future.

The Faculty are authorized, in all cases, where the applicant is a native of the State, sustains a fair moral character, and possesses the requisite mental endowment, natural and acquired, to admit him into any class in the institution, without charge, either for tuition or room rent.
The young men availed themselves of this liberal provision, during the past, and quite as great a number in each of the three preceding years.
The privilege might be extended to a much greater number, but for the want of dormitories. Thirty students were compelled, during the last session, to seek accommodation in the village. The proposition of the Trustees, which has been so long before the public, to instruct gratuitously any number of indigent young men, who are natives of the State, and for whom dormitories may be provided, would seem to appeal, with a force not easily to be resisted, to those whose peculiar duty it is to provide instruction at low prices, and to promote all useful learning at the University.
I cannot close this communication without congratulating the General Assembly upon the high character which this institution has sustained, at home and abroad, and the uniform and liberal support it has received, throughout almost the entire period of its history.
