The Effects of the U. S. Bankrupt Act on Leases.

It is important for the safety of lessors, that leases hereafter made should make provision for the bankruptcy of lessee, as on such an event his estate and interest in the premises will pass to his assignces, if they choose to accept it, they may transfer it to whom they please—even to a beggar—and the assignces will not remain responsible for rent after such

It is insufficient and immaterial that the original law contains a special clause, avoiding the lease if the lessee should underlet, &c., because such a clause applies only to voluntary transfers of the lessee, and not to assignments by the act of law. Such a clause will not prevent the interest of the lessee from passing to his assignees, in bankruptcy, nor restrict them in the disposal of it.
