GAZETTEER OF THE U. STATES.

A complete Descriptive and Statistical Gazetteer. of the United States of America, with an abstract of the census of 1840, by Daniel Haskel, A. M., late President of the University of Vermont, and J. Calvin Smith, Geographer, author of a new map of the United States, &c.

HIS is one of the most useful works that is presented to the public. It contains valuable information of a statistical nature; but its great ilk and single and double sied Albert duto; bon- merit is the perf et and complete arrangement and portance, &c. For example:

" Celina, post village, capital of Mercer co , Ohio, 126 miles w. n. w. of Columbus, 507 w., situated of the north of the Grand Reservoir of the Miami Canal, which will be 10 miles long and 5 broad, when completed. It has a court house, one Presbyterian church, 3 stores, 75 dwellings, and about 500 in-

Many places are described at much greater length out the above will serve as an example. We suboin the opinions of other presses :

From the New York Tribune, April 3, 1843. " We have no other Gazetteer in this country at all comparable with this, whether for comprehensiveness or correctness. In no other work in existouce can so large an amount of minute, accurate and desirable information be found, nor in any col. lection of works, at a price comparable with this." From the N. Y. Conrier & Enquirer, March 30, '43. " We have no hesitation in recommending this Gazetteer as the most perfect of any yet published in the United States; indeed, we may say it is as complete as human industry and research can make

From the N. Y. Com. Advertiser, March 31, 1843. " By far the most complete Gazetteer of the Republic that has ever been published -- and, we have reason to believe, nearly as perfect as is possible for such a compilation to be made."

The Agent for the above may be found at the Latayette tiotel, where a splendid sample of McKenney's Indian Portrait Gallery may be seen; a'so, the Lady's Musical Library, and God-y's Lady's Book, &c., &c. Fayelteville, Sept. 26, 1843.

(Successors of Henry Erambert,)

Respectfully inform their friends, and the public that they have purchased the entire stock of Henry Erambert's, 9 is in and carrying on the above business at the NEW Store, on Hay street, next door to Mrs Brown's Millinery establishment, and 7 doors west of J. & J. Kyle's store where they will always thankfully receive all orders in their line, and warrant all work to be as well done as at any other establishment in town. They solicit the patronage of the old customers of Mr. H. Erambert, and the public generally, and assure those that think proper to employ them that no pains will be spared to give satisfaction. All work that don't suit will not be allowed to be taken from their shop. Prices will range as follows:

For making corded or bound coats, $10 pantaloons, plain, 1 50 vest, plain. 1 50 JAS. D. McCALLUM, DANIEL CLARK.

A Card.

Henry Erambert would respectfully inform the public and his customers, that he has sold out his entire establishment to Mr Jas. D. McCallum and Daniel Clark, of this place, and from his knowledge of their superior workmanship, can recommend them to all his old customers, and hope they will patronize them; and all favors bestowed on then will be thankfully acknowledged by him. will please call and settle the same. Dec. 31, 1842 -- 201-16

MANUFACTURE OF SMALL FEET. ! Captain Biogham, in his "Expedition to China," gives an interesting account of the manufacture of small feet at Chusan:

"During our stay at this auchorage, we made constant trips to the surrounding instead of doing at once what ought to be islands, in one of which -at Tea Island-we done. This practice almost diminishes the had an opportunity of minutely examining the beneficial effects of our actions, and ofter far-famed little female feet. The leg, continual. from the knee downward, was much waisted; the foot appeared as if broken up at the insten, while the four small toes were bent flat and pressed under the foot, the great toe only being allowed to retain its natural position, By the breaking of the justep a high arch is formed between the heel and toe, enabling the individual to step with them on an even and the consequence of not doing so, is fresurface; in this respect materially differing from the Canton and Macao ladies; for with them the instep is not interfered with, but a very high heel is substituted, thus bringing the point of the great toe to the ground.

When our Cauton compradore was shown Chusan shoe, the exclamation was "Heyaw! how can walkee so fashion?" nor could he be convinced that such was the case. The toes doubled under the foot, I have been describing, could only be removed by the hand sufficiently to show that they were Webster, though, having a remarkable me tals. Their gate is not unlike the little mincconstantly to be seen going out without the aid of any stick, and I have often seen them at Macao contending against a fresh breeze, with a telerable good sized umbrella spread. The little children, as they scrambled away before us, balanced themselves with their arms extended, and reminded one much of an old hen, between walking and flying.

ANECDOTE OF A PARROT. The following, which we derive from a Boston friend, who assures us that it is a statement of a veritable occurrence," we can very readily believe. Indeed, we have never been able to doubt any thing which a bird might say since we heard Uncle Bezonet's " Poor Mingo," in Nassan street, laugh and sing, and exclaim "Good morning!" "What's your name?" "Uncle John! Uncle John! somebody's in the store;" and then, changing his tone, remark, what nobody could deny, "What an extraordinary bird!" But to his "Boston cotemporary." "I came I heard, several times repeated, the words, run for glory has gone -gone -for ever !!!! "Lord ha' massy on poor Poll, a sinuer! Lord ha' massy! Ameu!' Turning round. I perceived they were uttered by a parrot, who, with one claw drawn up, head bent reverently now following her ejaculations by the most world. piteous moans. Talking parrots are generally sad creatures, and seldom very choice in their language. 'But here,' thought I, 'is an a king to one of his generals who had long exception; and surely a race which has in it been petitioning for some favor. DRAMATIC TALENTS .- There exist about this city (New York) a great many histrionic establishments, where stage struck heroes endeavor to enact the characters of "Shakespen:e's proud representatives." THREE BAD HABITS .- There are three weaknesses in our habits which are very common, and which have a very prejudical influence on our welfare.-The first is giving way to the ease or indulgence of the moment, to show us her feet: but a very pretty inter- taught to do what they are told at once. The esting girl of about sixteen was placed on a second weakness is, when we have made a stool for the purpose of gratifying our curiosity. good resolution, and have partially failed in At first she was very bashful, and appeared executing it, we are very apt to abandon it anything else; if we cannot do all we intend, or make one slip, we are apt to give it up entirely. Now, what we should aim at is,

The third and last weakness to which I allade, is the practice of eating and drinking things because they are on the table, and esnecially when they are to be paid for. How seldom it happens that two men leave a few glasses of wine in a decanter at a coffeehouse, though they have both had enough; quently to order a fresh supply; but, at any rate, even the first excess is pernicious. Excess, however slight, either in solids or liquids, deranges the powers of digestion, and of course diminishes the full benefit of any meal. A very small quantity will cause the difference between spending the remainder of the day profitably or agreeably, and in indolence and dissipation.

A FACT FOR THE PHRENOLOGIST .- Danl. ten been astonished at seeing how well the mory of incidents, has no ficulty for rememwomen contrived to walk on their tiny pedes- bering names. In his defence of Wyman, in discussing the allegation of the government ing walk of the French ladies; they were counsel, that the dates of many of Stanley, Reed and Skinner's notes were fabricated by Wyman, Mr W. had occasion to mention the firm several times, and on every occasion he uniformly named them wrong; sometimes calling the second member Fiske, generally the first Stanton, much to the amusement of the crowd and his own vexation; until, to cap the climax, he came out with "Stanton, Fisko & Nichols," There was a burst of laughter, and Mr W. turned abruptly round, saying, "He believed he should call them so till the day of his death." The next time, however, he came out very triumphantly and deliberately with Stauley, Reed & Co., in full. The same peculiarity is also mentioned of Napoleon-dates and names he could not remember, but incidents and localities, particularly the latter, he seldom forgot.

> In the "Voice of Warning," a Millerite paper, we find the following extra flourish in a theological way:

"There the lattle babes, for they will all go across a pious pairot the other day, while up in that day, are to be taken from their strolling down towards the wharves. It was wicked parents' arms, and those parents are the first of the class I had ever seen. I was left! left!!! left!!! Left to what!
