Wm. H. Bayne, Editor and Proprietor. FAYETTEVILLE:

Saturday Moraing April 26, 1846. MR. DOBBIN'S ACCEPTANCE. The following correspondence has been handed us for publication, by which it will be seen that Mr Dobbin accepts the nomination conferred upon him by the Couvention:

MRs BARCLAY'S, April 18th, 1945. DEAR SIR: We have the pleasure of announcing to you that you have been unanimously selected as a candidate to represent ed States. In your bands we place our banner and our principles, with the most confident reliance upon your abilities to uphold the one and maintain the other. sincerely trust that you will accept this non-With high respect, nation.

FAVETTEVILLE, April 25, 1845. GENTLEMEN: I have received your letter in which you announce that I was unanimously selected by the Democratic Convention at Mrs Barclay's, as a candidate to represent this Congressional District in the next Congress of the United States. Although flattered by this unsolicited desire to elevate me to an honorable station, and grateful for this unexpected testimonial of popular favor-I express my sincere sentiments when I assure you that, had my personal wishes been consulted, the Convention would certainly have nominated some other gentleman. Unambitious of political promotion, I have been quietly engaged in the practice of my profession. The limited part I have hitherno borne on the stage of politics was prompted solely by a disinterested desire to promote certain principles, as I hoped, for the benefit of our country, and not my own personal advancement. Having measures advocated by the Democratic party, were best calculated to secure our country's prosperity -- sincerely apprehensive of dangerous tendency of the prominent meatrankness and zeal contributed my aid to foster the principles of the one party, and discomage those of the other. Aware of the peculiar circumstances which occasioned my selection by the Convention, and of the inconvenience, and perhaps discord and division that might ensue, were I now to decline, I deem it my duty to accept the nomination. And as you remark in your letter, that in my hands you have placed "our banner and our principles," permit me at least to pledge myself to be always found endeavoring to "uphold the one" and "to maintain the other." And should the people of this District honor me with an election, their approbation will be sought for only by pursuing the course of the Representative who acts from au honest desire to promote the welfare of his constituents, and who, in casting his votes, thinks of the consequences to his country first-to himself last. With sentiments of regard for the kind manner in which you have communicated the wishes of the Convention.

I remain your ob't serv't, JAMES C. DOBBIN. and others.

This acceptance, we feel assured, will be hailed with gratification and satisfaction in all parts of the District, but it has been received in Old Cumberland with enthusiastic delight by the political friends of Mr Dobbin, political oppouents.

We stated last week that Mr Clark had been nominated in the Tarboro District. The Tarboro Press speaks confidently of Mr. Clark's election; of his talents and ability to sustain himself, notwithstanding Mr Toole is going to play the spateful part of a disappoint ed aspirant, by tonning " on h . own book "

The Press says and a said to be correct conduct of the conocials landy one.

that he will not soon forget.

Hon. J. R. J. Daniel has been nominated by the Convention of democrats in the Orange District, as their candidate for Congress at the ensuing election.

Wm. W. Cherry has been nominated by the whigs of the ninth or Edenton District.

Mr Thompson of Mississippi has declined the honor conferred upon him by the Governor in appointing him U. S. Senator.

The whige of Montgomery county held a meeting at Lawrenceville on the 9th, and recommended ex-Governor Morehead as the candidate of the whig party in that Congressional District; requesting other counties to acquiesce in the same, or appoint delegates to a Convention to nominate a candidate.

A writer in the Fayetteville Observer, (probably on aspirant) expresses himself dead against Conventions, and proclaims that unless Mr Morehead is the candidate, of which he has no idea, there will be two or more candidates in the field.

Morehead was recommended.

MEXICO. - Rumors of wat with Mexico, ! newspaper press to go upon, in these dry Monday last, by firing at a 36 inch target, at quarters, that the squadron which had been ordered to the Mediterranean, was ordered to the coast of Mexico. This is only a matter of precaution, tending to the protection of American Commerce, not so much from the naval power of Mexico, as from her piratical privateers. For our Government knows the character of Mexico well enough to know that she would connive at the conduct of her citizens iu making reprisals upon American Commerce. The New Onleans Picavune says that the war aspect in Mexico looks more serious than was at first supposed, but remarks that "the absurdity of such an issue this District in the next Congress of the Unit- does not appear to have struck the Mexican Congress or people.

We have no idea that Mexico will attempt to prosecute a war with the United States, unless she has the most fair assurances of Great Britain that she will stand by her side, with her meaus, and perhaps her forces. This assurance Great Britain will bardly give openly, and Mexico will hardly put faith in it in any other way.

We perceive that the New York Express is unable to give any authority for the report circulated in that paper about Genl. McKay's expressions in relation to public defaulters. The Express has a convenient way of falling back upon " one of our exchanges when called upon to produce authority, for any falsehood he has circulated. It was not intended to charge Mr Brooks, one of the editors, and the Washington correspondent of the Express, with being the author, after he disavoured it; but he was called upon as the author. Mr McKay did express bimself in strong terms respecting defaulters; would not any honest man do the same? But these whig pimps about Washington, with characteristic ingenuity, shaped the expressions to suit themselves.

It will be recollected that a few works ago we mentioned that the Annexation resoearly entertained a decided opinion that the lotions of Milton Brown, a Tennessee whig, and which were passed in Congress, were got for the very purpose of finally defeating the measure, by an arowed profession of uniting sures of the "whig party," I have ever, with the two parties on the question, but with a seeret design of so framing them that they would not be acceptable to any one.

> Mr Foster of Tennessee now confirms the statement, as will be seen by the following from the Nashville Union:

> "We are informed by gentlemen of intelligence and unquestionable veracity, that in the course of his remarks he [Mr Foster] said. that when he and his colleagues were preparing the resolutions for annexation which he submitted to the Senate, he had no idea the democrats would adopt them."

> We mentioned sometime since that Commodore Elliott had brought from Syria a Sarcophagus, (in Eastern countries, a coffin for the remains of great men,) and had presented it to the National Institute at Washington, with the understanding that it should be used to embalm the body of Goul. Jackson in, when he should shuffle off this mortal coil.

General Jackson was informed of this fact, To Messre John Purifoy, D. K. McRae, and of the intention of the Institute to apply it in that way, and he immediately replied to the letter, expressing his grateful thanks for the intended honor, but firmly refusing to accept

"I cannot consent that my mortal remains shall be laid in a repository prepared for an and with much satisfaction by many of his emperor or a king. My republican feelings and principles forbid it. The simplicity of our system of government forbids it. I have prepared an humble repository for my mortal body beside that wherein lays my beloved wife, where, without any pomp or parade, I have requested, when my God calls me to sleep with my fathers, to be laid," &c.

COLLEGES. - It is stated in the books that there are 173 Colleges in the United States, of which 10 are under the direction of Bartists, 14 under the direction of Catholics, Tunder the direction of Episcopalians, and We hope they will give Mr Toole a rebake 12 under the direction of Methodists, the rest are mostly free from any positive religious influence, but the Presbyterian and Congregational probably predominate.

> Of these the oidest is the Harvard University, at Camb.idge, Mass., founded in 1638, and has 61,000 volumes in the Library, being more than twice the number in any other College Library, except Yale. The Library at Chapel Hill contains 10,000 volumes. The annual charge at the University of North Carolina, is $50 for instruction, $11 for room rent, &c., $90 for board, and $20 for wood, lights and washing, making a a total of $171 per aunum. There are but three Colleges in the United States that charge higher than this; they are Harvard, William & Mary, and the Mesers. Burges & James, in two neatly and University of Virginia. The University North Carolina stands among the first institutions in the country. CULINARY. - A dessert, known as "bread pudding," which every good housewife knows how to make, is usually made with sweet milk; we have tried them with bonnyclabber instead of the sweet milk, and it is an improvement of A meeting has been held in Anson, also, at least 20 per cent, especially in summer, and delegates appointed to a Convention. In looking over a condensed statement of the affairs of other States, we see in some of them that militia fines are set down as source of revenue; and in Virginia, it is no inconsiderable source, being set down at $13,425 30! Since that time this number has considerably increased : but it is still insufficient to support such a paper as the democracy of the State desire to have at the seat of government. All the friends of the paper, 30 inch, heavy, with whom the undersigned has conversed and corresponded on the subject, think that the list may be increased to at least four thousand.
