

The North Carolinian.

"CHARACTER IS AS IMPORTANT TO STATES AS IT IS TO INDIVIDUALS; AND THE GLORY OF THE STATE IS THE COMMON PROPERTY OF ITS CITIZENS."

BY W. H. BAYNE

FAYETTEVILLE, SATURDAY, AUGUST 7, 1847.

[Volume 8—Number 442]

PUBLISHED EVERY SATURDAY.

TERMS:
In advance, per year, $2 00
If not paid in advance, 2 50
If not paid till six months have expired, 3 00
If not paid till the year has expired, 3 50
No subscription taken for less than a year, unless the price be paid in advance.
No paper will be sent out of the State unless the subscription price be paid in advance.

TERMS OF ADVERTISING:
One square of 24 lines, or less, 1 insertion, 50 cents; and for each subsequent insertion, 30 cts., except it remain for several months, when it will be charged $3 for two months, $4 for three months, and so on; for 12 months $10.
Liberal privileges given to yearly advertisers.

COMSTOCK'S SARSAPARILLA.

Of superior quality, and half the price of any other. For the cure of scrofula, general debility, scaly eruptions of the skin, pimples or pustules on the face, boils from an impure habit of the body, pain and swellings of the body, and all diseases arising from an impure state of the blood, chronic rheumatism, cutaneous diseases, tetter, mercurial or syphilitic disease, ulcerations of the throat and g. liver affections, exposure and impudence in the excesses in the use of mercury, &c.
Sold only by S. J. Hinsdale in Fayetteville.

DEAFNESS—DR. McNAIR'S ACUSTIC OIL.

The deaf from infancy, often receive in a most miraculous manner their hearing when they least expect it, by the use of this Oil, which shows them how easily they might have sooner had their hearing and saved themselves and their friends the pain of conversing to a loud tone, without pleasure or of being neglected and abandoned, to avoid that distress which is felt mutually by the deaf person and his hearers. How sacred a duty therefore it is, that we use all necessary means to remove such an ailment, and enjoy the social qualities implanted in our natures! This Ear Oil has the effect to relieve the tension, and bring into use the natural action of the parts, as to restore the hearing when lost or impaired. This is proved by so many well known cases, that it is not possible to praise it too highly. The great wish of the proprietor is, that each may speak to others of its uncommon virtue, till all suffer from it may be relieved and restored by its use.
Known by my signature, on the flask. Price, $1 per flask.
DANIEL D. McNAIR, M. D.
Cott. & Co., New York, are the wholesale agents of this Oil.
Sold in Fayetteville by S. J. Hinsdale.

A Balm to all Families and Sufferers.

Proof too plain to be doubted and too strong to be denied is obtained that all the following are cured by LINN'S BALM OF CHINA, name is, B. Burns, chilblains, tooth-ache, cuts, sore throat, burber's itch, sore eyes and ulcers, rheumatism, old scars, sore nipples, white swellings, scalds, chafe, pimples, fester's bruises, carbuncles, sore lips, ague in face and breast, prickly heat, rough hands, general sores, itchy parts, fester, erysipelas, strain, piles, eruption, rheumatism, tooth-ache, broken breast, blister surfaces.
For Burns it is a specific.—Question—Will any human man be cured by this Balm? Answer—It is good for so many things that no house should be without it. Let all heed this warning. Price 60 cts, or 6 bottles for $2 50. Sold in Fayetteville by S. J. Hinsdale.

Hay's Lintiment for the Piles.

Piles often cured by this certain remedy. The sale of this article is steadily increasing, notwithstanding the many counterfeits got up in imitation of it. Persons troubled with this distressing complaint, declare that they would not be without this preparation in their houses for the price of ten boxes. The public will recollect that this is only a remedy for the piles, and is in reality of any value whatever. In places where it is known, every family has it in their house. Its price is not considered as all. It is above all price. Comstock & Co., 23 Courtlandt street, New York, sole proprietors.
Sold only by S. J. Hinsdale in Fayetteville.

Oldidge's Balm of Columbia for the Hair.

Its positive qualities are as follows:—
1st—For infants, keeping them free from scurf, and causing a luxuriant growth of the hair.
2d—For ladies after child-birth, restoring the skin to its usual strength and firmness, and preventing the hair from falling out.
3d—For any person recovering from any debility, the same effect is produced.
4th—It used in infancy till a good growth is started, it may be preserved by attention to the latest period of life.
5th—It from the head from dandruff, strengthening the roots, imparts health and vigor to the circulation, and prevents the hair from changing color, or getting gray.
6th—It causes the hair to curl beautifully when done up the other night.
7th—No ladies' toilet should ever be made without it.
8th—Children who have by any means contracted vermin in the head, are immediately and perfectly cured of them by its use. It is infallible.
Sold only by S. J. Hinsdale in Fayetteville.

Mother's Relief—Indian Discovery.

All expecting to become mothers, and anxious to avoid the pains, distress, and dangers child-bearing, are earnestly entreated to calm their fears, allay their nervousness, and soothe their way by the use of this most extraordinary vegetable production. Those who wish to avoid the pains, and the most approved of their kind, every kind and affectionate husband will feel it his most solemn duty to all-viate the distress his wife is exposed to, by a safe and certain method, which is the use of Mother's Relief.
Further particulars in Pamphlets intended for the Female Sex, to be had gratis where this humane Cordial is to be found.
The Mother's Relief is prepared, and sold, by the sole proprietors, Comstock & Co., Graduate of the New York Medical College, and Public Lecturer on the Theory and Practice of Medicine.
Orders may be addressed to them, 21 Courtlandt street, New York.
Certificates, and further particulars, can be seen where the Relief is sold.
Sold only by S. J. Hinsdale in Fayetteville.

A Certain and Permanent Cure for Salt Rheum, &c.

Dr. CHURCHILL'S FALIAN WHITE WASH Will Cure Salt Rheum, Tetter, Ring Worms, and all Diseases of the Skin.
It excels all other medicines, producing a constitutional and lasting cure by acting on the bowels by absorption through the pores of the skin, and happily combining a local and general effect. Directions with each bottle, sold at 50 cents, by the Druggists generally.—Comstock & Co., New York. Sold only by S. J. Hinsdale.
February 6, 1847.

BLACKSMITH SHOP,

At the junction of Bridge and Person Streets.
THE undersigned would beg leave to return his thanks to his friends and the public generally, for their patronage heretofore, and would now inform them that he has engaged the services of Mr. Anos Williamson, under whose superintendance the work will be conducted, and in whom the public will find a competent workman, always ready to serve them with good substantial work, at prices to suit the times.
The horse-shoeing department will have particular attention, and will be executed by that renowned colored son of Vulcan, David Pookan, who as a horse shoer, is not surpassed by any workman in the place. He solicits from his old customers a continuance of their patronage; to all others he desires only an opportunity to secure their custom. Boat work particularly attended to, as well as all kinds of job work.
E. C. HALL.
Fayetteville, March 27, 1847.

The Cheapest GOODS.

Wm. G. Matthews,
WISHING to change his business, has reduced the price of Goods, and is determined to sell LOWER than they can be bought elsewhere, viz: Colored and half mourning Lawns and Muslins at 15, 17, 20, 25, 30 and 40 cents; Balzores and Berages from 20 to 30 cts per yard; English, French and American Prints (in style) from 6 to 20 cts; English, French and American Gingham, 18 to 30 cts; colored and half mourning Gingham Muslin, 30 to 35 cts; Grass Cloth for shirts, 9 cts; skirts ready made $1 15; Swiss and Book Muslins from 25 to 50 cents per yard; plaid Jaconet and plaid Cambrics from 15 to 40 cts; silk and serge Scarfs from $1 25 to $6; silk tringles for 8 cts; silk buttons for ladies dresses from 5 to 50 cts; prisms; corded Gimp 2 1/2 per yard; thread and bobbin Edgings from 6 1/2 to 25 cts per yard; cotton do. at 1, 1 1/2 and 2 1/2 cts per yard; the piece; worked collars, single and double, from 35 cts to $2 50; superior kid Gloves, all colors from 65 to 75 cts; cotton hose, $3; hair from 10 to 25 cts; prime "Hollow's" solid-headed Pins, the best article made, all sizes, 7 1/2 cts per paper; "New York" do. do. Pins, at 5 and 6 cts per paper. A great variety of new style Bonnets, and children's bonnets and flowers, at low prices; a large assortment of Ribbons, with every other article you may call for in the Dry Goods line, both for Gent's and Ladies wear, in proportion with the above prices. Call and see the Goods and we'll make the prices suit.
No. 3 Green street.
May 1, 1847. 428-1.

The Graefenberg Vegetable Pills.

30,000 Boxes Sold Each and Every Week.
THE GRAEFENBERG COMPANY
Herby give notice that their General Agent for the State of North Carolina is W. M. JONES, Lenoirburg, Frank in county, N. C.
The General Agent is fully prepared to appoint sub-agents wherever there is no branch of the Company; either on personal application, or by letter post. The reputation of these celebrated pills, and the extraordinary cures they are constantly effecting, render them, by far, the most popular pill of the age. An Agency will consequently be very valuable.
The Graefenberg Pills are incomparably superior to any ever before discovered. In all bilious complaints; in general derangement of the system; in all disorders which result from a bad state of the blood, these pills are a sovereign remedy.
In the class of diseases called chronic, the Graefenberg Pills achieve their highest triumphs. Here the duty of a competent physician, within the hidden recesses of the system, they quietly but surely purify the blood, root out disease, and give tone and vigor to the body.
CURES ARE CONSTANTLY EFFECTED by these Pills, in cases where every other remedy had utterly failed. The most abundant proof of this could be given, but a trial of one single box will convince the patient. They can be ordered and sent by mail, at trifling expense. The price is 25 cents a box. Where two dollars are worth are ordered and the money remitted, the Company will pay the postage on the Pills. Remittance at the Company's risk. Wherever there is no Agency of the Company they can be ordered by mail.
These Pills are taking the place of all others, and no sick person should be without them.

ALL BILIOUS COMPLAINTS,

Bowel Complaints, Constipation, Dyspepsia, Fever and Ague, Headache, Jaundice, Liver Complaints, Rheumatism, all Stomach Complaints, Green Sickness, &c. &c., yield at once to the Pills. They purge away offensive humors, arrest the progress of disease, and at the same time restore force and vigor to the system. In case of general derangement of the health, they are Sovereign.
By their use, the weak will become strong; the aged and infirm complexion be renewed; the skin perfectly fresh and healthy color; all the bad symptoms will be one by one disappear.
June 5, 1847. 433-1y.

ON CONSIGNMENT,

A fine trotting MARE in harness. Apply to JACKSON JOHNSON, Wagon Yard.
May 29, 1847. 433-1y.

ICE CREAM SALOON.

H. Erambert's Ice Cream Saloon is now opened, where ladies and gentlemen can be accommodated with Ice Cream and Lemonade.
May 15, 1847.

State of North Carolina—Robeson county.

Court of Pleas and Quarter Sessions—May Term, 1847.
Sarah Pitman vs. Win. R. Leggett, and others.
Petition for distributive share.

It appearing to the satisfaction of the Court, that Jesse Pitman, one of the defendants in this case, resides beyond the limits of this State, it is therefore ordered that publication be made for six weeks in the North Carolinian, a paper published in Fayetteville, for the said Jesse Pitman to appear at the next term of this Court, to be held for the county of Robeson, at the Court House in Lumberton, on the fourth Monday of August next, and plead, answer, or demur to this petition, or the same will be taken pro confesso and heard ex parte as to him.
Witness, Shadrach Howell, Clerk of our said Court, at office the 4th Monday of May, A. D. 1847, and of American Independence the 71st year.
J. H. HOWELL, Clerk.
July 2, 1847.—437-6H. Pr. adv. $3 25.

JUST RECEIVED,

30 Dozen blue and black INK, in 2, 4, 6, and 8 oz. bottles.
Caster and Sweet Oil in all sizes of bottles.
36 Doz. Essence Lemon, Cinnamon, and Peppermint.
July 2, 1847. JNO. M. ROSE.

CARRIAGE MANUFACTORY.

Nearly Opposite Liberty Point.
The subscriber having taken the stand lately occupied by Simpson & McLaughlin, respectfully returns his thanks for the liberal patronage heretofore extended to him, and hopes by unremitting attention to business, to merit a continuance of the same.

I have on hand several vehicles: Carriages, Barouches, Buggies, Rockaways, Waggon, &c., of the most approved style, which, for lightness and durability, will compare with any made here or elsewhere.
Persons wishing to purchase will do well to call and examine them, as I am determined to sell very low for cash, or approved notes.
Having had several years experience in one of the largest establishments north, I am prepared to manufacture Carriages of any description, at the shortest notice. All work warranted for twelve months; and repaired, free of charge, should it fall in point of workmanship or material.
REPAIRING neatly executed at the shortest notice, and most reasonable charge. Orders thankfully received.
A. C. SIMPSON.
Fayetteville, April 3, 1847. 424-1y.

CAPE FEAR LANDS FOR SALE.

The Subscriber has permanently settled in Warren County, and now offers for sale his Tract of Land in Chatham county on the South side and immediately on the Cape Fear River, one half mile above Avenet's Ferry, and three miles below Haywood, containing between eight and nine hundred acres. The greater part of this Tract is rich bottom land, adapted to Tobacco, Cotton, Corn, Wheat, and Oats, &c. There is enough open land to work twelve or fifteen slaves to advantage, the most of which has been resting for the last five years, and is now in a fine state for making good crops. Terms will be made accommodating, and possession given in time for sowing fall crop.

Mr. Oradiah Ferry, who lives on the land, will show it to any person who may be disposed to purchase, and I can be addressed at Warrenton, North Carolina, on the subject.
M. T. HAWKINS, Jr.
July 10, 1847. 428-1y.

Johnson's Military Walnut Oil

Shaving Soap, the best article in use for having a new supply just received and for sale by S. J. HINSDALE.
February 13, 1847.

JUST RECEIVED,

500 lbs prime CHEESE,
500 lbs CANDLES,
And a variety of other nice wares, at H. ERAMBERT'S.
May 22d, 1847.

NEGROES FOR SALE.

A negro woman and three or four children will be sold on reasonable terms. She is young and likely, and the children hearty. To be sold for no fault. Apply at this office.
July 31, 1847. 441-1y.

State of North Carolina—Sampson county.

Court of Pleas and Quarter Sessions—May Term, 1847.
Moses Cox vs. Daniel Strickland.
Attachment—20 acres of Land levied on.

In this case, it appearing to the satisfaction of the Court that the defendant, Daniel Strickland, has absconded or so concealed himself that personal service of notice cannot be made; it is ordered that publication be made for six weeks in the North Carolinian, published in Fayetteville, directing the defendant to appear at the next term of the Court of Pleas and Quarter Sessions to be held for the county of Sampson, at the Court House in Clinton, on the 31st Monday in August next, and answer the complaint of the plaintiff; otherwise the judgment below will be affirmed with costs in this Court.
Witness, Thomas I. Faison, clerk of our said Court, at office in Clinton, the 3d Monday of May, A. D. 1847, and 72d year of American Independence.
THOS. I. FAISON, Clerk.
July 10, 1847—438-6H. Pr adv $3 25.

NEW DRY GOODS.

CASH BARGAIN STORE
Save 25 per cent! Save 25 per cent!
The subscriber having established himself on Hay street, for the purpose of conducting the Dry Goods business, on the CASH principle, would respectfully invite the attention of the inhabitants of Fayetteville and surrounding country to his well selected stock of FRESH SPRING DRY GOODS.
As he is desirous of making Fayetteville his permanent place of residence, if it is his advantage to keep only such Goods as will, by price and durability, please, and thereby insure a share, at least, of the custom of the community.
Having been transacting business at the North, which caused him to be constantly in the market, purchasers can rest assured of having shown them such goods only as have latest made their appearance. His stock consists of ladies and gentlemen's dress, white, Muslin, and housekeeping Goods; Shawls, Handkerchiefs; Gloves; Mitts; Hosiery; and Negro Clothing, together with a lot of Notions, making in all a stock too tedious to enumerate.
COUNTRY MERCHANTS will be supplied on terms so liberal as will, we think, obviate the difficulty of going further. Call and see for yourselves.
JOHN EASTER, Jr.
Hay street, north side, a few doors west of the Market, nearly opposite the new Lafayette Hotel.
May 1, 1847. 428-1y.

JOSEPH S. DUNN offers his services

as a mason and builder, to the citizens or others disposed to contract for building; rjobbing Terms liberal.
A reason for going to Church.—Burgot, the German poet, satirizes the sleepers at church in an epigram; of which, we have met with the following version:
"All the night long I have not slept a wink,
On Sunday morning said a languid fair,
'This bard—but I'll creep to church, I think,
And possibly may doze a little there.'"

ANECDOTE OF BUENA VISTA.—James S. Jenkinson, who was in the bloody battle of Buena Vista, related to us, yesterday, the following anecdote that occurred at the time, or at least gained credence with the soldiers:

On the day of the battle of Buena Vista, and at the time when the 2d Indiana regiment was under full retreat, one of the men came across a private belonging to the Arkansas Cavalry, who was wounded and unable to get off the field. He had dismounted from his horse, and was lying on the ground at the time the Indian came along. The Arkansas man upon seeing the Indian, asked him if he would help him on his horse again, which was standing some twenty or thirty yards off the Indian, glad to get the chance of riding off the field, consented, and catching the horse, helped the Arkansas man on, he, the Indian, getting on before. While they were leaving the field, a cannon ball from the enemy's battery took off the head of the Arkansas man, but the Indian did not notice it. Upon arriving at the doctor's quarters, he was asked what he was going to do with the man he had behind him? He replied that he brought him in to get his leg dressed. "Why, sir," replied the doctor, "he has his head shot off!" The Indian cast his eyes behind him and gazed at the bloody stump for a minute, and replied—"Why the devil! he told me he was only shot in the leg!"

RETURN JONATHAN.—Talking of names, every one knows that a late postmaster-general of the U. States was Return Jonathan Meigs. His father, Mr. Jonathan Meigs, was one of the society of Friends, and accordingly, when he wanted a wife, he paid his address to a young Quaker. The girl was willing enough, as indeed is generally the case when the question is put in real earnest, but her mother was a woman of the old school, and, wishing to saddle her daughter's inamorata with sundry tedious and disagreeable preliminaries, to which he would not accede, she one day gave him his dismissal. The daughter began to sob aloud, the mother began to scold, and before the young Stephen had reached the outer gate, the old lady threw up the parlor-window, and, at the top of her shrill voice, called out, "Return Jonathan! this shall have my daughter!"—Jonathan did accordingly measure back his steps, and, in remembrance of the happy invitation, called his first son Return Jonathan Meigs.

Sir Isaac Newton.—This illustrious philosopher was once riding over Salisbury plain, when a boy, keeping sheep, called to him—"Sir, you had better make haste on, or you will get a wet jacket." Newton, looked around, and observing neither clouds nor a speck on the horizon, jogged on, taking very little notice of the rustic's information. He had made but a few miles, when a storm, suddenly arising, wet him to the skin. Surprised at the circumstance, and determined, if possible, to ascertain how an ignorant boy had attained a precision and knowledge in the weather, of which the wisest philosopher would be proud, he rode back, wet as he was. "My lad," said Newton, "I'll give thee a guinea if thou wilt tell me how thou canst foretell the weather so truly?" "Will ye, sir? I will, then," said the boy, scratching his head, and holding out his hand for the guinea. "Now, sir," (having received the money, and pointing to the sheep,) "when you see that black ram turn his tail towards the wind, 'tis a sure sign of rain within an hour." "What!" exclaimed the philosopher; "must I, in order to foretell the weather, stay here and watch which way that black ram turns his tail?" "Yes, sir." Off rode Newton, quite satisfied with his discovery, but not much inclined to avail himself of it or to recommend it to others.

THE WIFE.—It needs not guilt to break a husband's heart; the absence of content; the mutterings of spleen, the untidy dress and cheerless home, forbidding scowl and deserted hearth; these and other nameless evils, without a crime among them, have barrowed to the quick the heart of many a man, and planted there, beyond the reach of cure, the germ of dark despair. Oh! may woman before that sad sight arises, dwell on the recollections of youth, and cherish the dear idea of that tutelary, awake and keep alive the promise she then kindly gave; and though she may be the injured, not the injuring one—the forgetting wife—a happy allusion to the hour of love—a kindly welcome to a comfortable home—a smile of love to banish hostile words—a kiss of peace to pardon all the past, and the hardest heart that ever locked itself within the breast of man will soften to her charms, and bid her live, as she hoped, her years in matchless bliss—loved, loving, and content—the soother of the sorrowing heart—the source of comfort, and the spring of joy.

THE CORK LEG.—A gentleman in Charleston conceived a very great liking to a young lady from Ireland, and was on the eve of popping the question, when he was told by a friend that his dulcinea had got a cork leg. It is difficult to imagine the distress of the young Carolinian: he was over head and ears in love with her, and would rather have parted with a dozen of the best negroes on his plantation, than give her up. He went to her father's house, knocked impatiently at the door, and when admitted to his fair one's presence, asked her if what he had heard respecting her was true.

"Yes, indeed, my dear sir, it is true enough; but you have heard only the half of my misfortune; I have got two cork legs; having had the ill luck to be born in Cork." This is the incident on which is founded Hart's stepdiece called Perfection.

Abby Folsom, preached a Fourth of July oration, of two days length, from her chamber window in Boston—commencing on Sunday and getting through on Monday night. The Mail says "she preached enough during the two days from her window to wear out the lungs of a lion, and make an elephant hoarse. Her physical powers are tremendous, and her love of the freedom of speech stronger than death."

LATIN SCHOLARS.—The following anecdote is from the Essays of Sir Francis Bacon:—A company of scholars going together to catch conies, carried one scholar with them, who had not much more wit than he was born with; and to him they gave in charge, that if he saw any he should be silent for fear of scaring them. But he no sooner espied a company of rabbits before the rest, than he cried aloud, Ecce multi caniculi, which in English signifies, "Behold many conies;" which he had no sooner said, than the conies ran to their burrows; and he, being checked by them for it, answered, "Who the devil would have thought the rabbits understood Latin?"

A FELLOW in the Mayor's Court of Philadelphia, was called on to plead to an indictment, and to hold up his hand. He held up his left; upon which he was ordered by the clerk to hold up his right hand.

"I am left-handed," said the culprit.

The Arabian Horse.—A most moving incident, illustrative of the extraordinary strength as well as attachment of the Arabian horse, is given by Lamartine in his beautiful Travels in the East:

"An Arab chief, with his tribe, had attacked, in the night, a caravan of Damas, and plundered it. When loaded with their spoil, however, the robbers were overtaken on their return by some horsemen of the Pasha of Acre, who killed several, and bound the remainder with cords. In this state of bondage they brought one of the prisoners, named Abou el Marek, to Acre, and laid him, bound hand and foot, wounded as he was, at the entrance to their tent, as they slept during the night. Kept awake by the pain of his wounds, the Arab heard his horse's neigh at a little distance, and being desirous to stroke for the last time the companion of his life, he dragged himself, bound as he was, to his horse, which was picketed at a little distance. 'Poor friend,' said he, 'what will you do among the Turks? You will be shut up under the roof of a klan, with the horses of a pacha or an aga; no longer will the women and children of the tent bring you barley, camel's milk, or dourra, in the hollow of their hand; no longer will you gallop free as the wind of Egypt in the desert; no longer will you cleave with your bosom the waters of the Jordan, which cool your sides, pure as the foam of your lips. If I am to be a slave, at least may you go free. Go: return to our tent, which you know so well; tell my wife that Abou el Marek will return no more; but put your head still into the folds of the tent, and lick the hands of our beloved children.' With these words, as his hands were tied, he untied with his teeth the fetters which held the courser bound, and set him at liberty; but the noble animal, on recovering his freedom, instead of bounding away to the desert, bent his head over its master, and, seeing him in fetters and on the ground, took his clothes gently in his teeth, lifted him up, and set off at full speed towards home. Without ever resting, he made straight for the distant but well-known tent in the mountains of Arabia. He arrived there in safety, and laid his master safe down at the feet of his wife and children, and immediately dropped down dead with fatigue. The whole tribe mourned him; the poets celebrated his fidelity; and his name is still constantly in the mouths of the Arabs of Jericho."

This beautiful anecdote paints the manners and horses of Arabia better than a thousand volumes. It is unnecessary to say, after it, that the Arabs are and ever will be the first horsemen, and have the finest race of horses in the world.

THE WIFE.—It needs not guilt to break a husband's heart; the absence of content; the mutterings of spleen, the untidy dress and cheerless home, forbidding scowl and deserted hearth; these and other nameless evils, without a crime among them, have barrowed to the quick the heart of many a man, and planted there, beyond the reach of cure, the germ of dark despair. Oh! may woman before that sad sight arises, dwell on the recollections of youth, and cherish the dear idea of that tutelary, awake and keep alive the promise she then kindly gave; and though she may be the injured, not the injuring one—the forgetting wife—a happy allusion to the hour of love—a kindly welcome to a comfortable home—a smile of love to banish hostile words—a kiss of peace to pardon all the past, and the hardest heart that ever locked itself within the breast of man will soften to her charms, and bid her live, as she hoped, her years in matchless bliss—loved, loving, and content—the soother of the sorrowing heart—the source of comfort, and the spring of joy.

THE WIFE.—It needs not guilt to break a husband's heart; the absence of content; the mutterings of spleen, the untidy dress and cheerless home, forbidding scowl and deserted hearth; these and other nameless evils, without a crime among them, have barrowed to the quick the heart of many a man, and planted there, beyond the reach of cure, the germ of dark despair. Oh! may woman before that sad sight arises, dwell on the recollections of youth, and cherish the dear idea of that tutelary, awake and keep alive the promise she then kindly gave; and though she may be the injured, not the injuring one—the forgetting wife—a happy allusion to the hour of love—a kindly welcome to a comfortable home—a smile of love to banish hostile words—a kiss of peace to pardon all the past, and the hardest heart that ever locked itself within the breast of man will soften to her charms, and bid her live, as she hoped, her years in matchless bliss—loved, loving, and content—the soother of the sorrowing heart—the source of comfort, and the spring of joy.

THE WIFE.—It needs not guilt to break a husband's heart; the absence of content; the mutterings of spleen, the untidy dress and cheerless home, forbidding scowl and deserted hearth; these and other nameless evils, without a crime among them, have barrowed to the quick the heart of many a man, and planted there, beyond the reach of cure, the germ of dark despair. Oh! may woman before that sad sight arises, dwell on the recollections of youth, and cherish the dear idea of that tutelary, awake and keep alive the promise she then kindly gave; and though she may be the injured, not the injuring one—the forgetting wife—a happy allusion to the hour of love—a kindly welcome to a comfortable home—a smile of love to banish hostile words—a kiss of peace to pardon all the past, and the hardest heart that ever locked itself within the breast of man will soften to her charms, and bid her live, as she hoped, her years in matchless bliss—loved, loving, and content—the soother of the sorrowing heart—the source of comfort, and the spring of joy.

THE WIFE.—It needs not guilt to break a husband's heart; the absence of content; the mutterings of spleen, the untidy dress and cheerless home, forbidding scowl and deserted hearth; these and other nameless evils, without a crime among them, have barrowed to the quick the heart of many a man, and planted there, beyond the reach of cure, the germ of dark despair. Oh! may woman before that sad sight arises, dwell on the recollections of youth, and cherish the dear idea of that tutelary, awake and keep alive the promise she then kindly gave; and though she may be the injured, not the injuring one—the forgetting wife—a happy allusion to the hour of love—a kindly welcome to a comfortable home—a smile of love to banish hostile words—a kiss of peace to pardon all the past, and the hardest heart that ever locked itself within the breast of man will soften to her charms, and bid her live, as she hoped, her years in matchless bliss—loved, loving, and content—the soother of the sorrowing heart—the source of comfort, and the spring of joy.

THE WIFE.—It needs not guilt to break a husband's heart; the absence of content; the mutterings of spleen, the untidy dress and cheerless home, forbidding scowl and deserted hearth; these and other nameless evils, without a crime among them, have barrowed to the quick the heart of many a man, and planted there, beyond the reach of cure, the germ of dark despair. Oh! may woman before that sad sight arises, dwell on the recollections of youth, and cherish the dear idea of that tutelary, awake and keep alive the promise she then kindly gave; and though she may be the injured, not the injuring one—the forgetting wife—a happy allusion to the hour of love—a kindly welcome to a comfortable home—a smile of love to banish hostile words—a kiss of peace to pardon all the past, and the hardest heart that ever locked itself within the breast of man will soften to her charms, and bid her live, as she hoped, her years in matchless bliss—loved, loving, and content—the soother of the sorrowing heart—the source of comfort, and the spring of joy.

THE WIFE.—It needs not guilt to break a husband's heart; the absence of content; the mutterings of spleen, the untidy dress and cheerless home, forbidding scowl and deserted hearth; these and other nameless evils, without a crime among them, have barrowed to the quick the heart of many a man, and planted there, beyond the reach of cure, the germ of dark despair. Oh! may woman before that sad sight arises, dwell on the recollections of youth, and cherish the dear idea of that tutelary, awake and keep alive the promise she then kindly gave; and though she may be the injured, not the injuring one—the forgetting wife—a happy allusion to the hour of love—a kindly welcome to a comfortable home—a smile of love to banish hostile words—a kiss of peace to pardon all the past, and the hardest heart that ever locked itself within the breast of man will soften to her charms, and bid her live, as she hoped, her years in matchless bliss—loved, loving, and content—the soother of the sorrowing heart—the source of comfort, and the spring of joy.

THE WIFE.—It needs not guilt to break a husband's heart; the absence of content; the mutterings of spleen, the untidy dress and cheerless home, forbidding scowl and deserted hearth; these and other nameless evils, without a crime among them, have barrowed to the quick the heart of many a man, and planted there, beyond the reach of cure, the germ of dark despair. Oh! may woman before that sad sight arises, dwell on the recollections of youth, and cherish the dear idea of that tutelary, awake and keep alive the promise she then kindly gave; and though she may be the injured, not the injuring one—the forgetting wife—a happy allusion to the hour of love—a kindly welcome to a comfortable home—a smile of love to banish hostile words—a kiss of peace to pardon all the past, and the hardest heart that ever locked itself within the breast of man will soften to her charms, and bid her live, as she hoped, her years in matchless bliss—loved, loving, and content—the soother of the sorrowing heart—the source of comfort, and the spring of joy.

THE WIFE.—It needs not guilt to break a husband's heart; the absence of content; the mutterings of spleen, the untidy dress and cheerless home, forbidding scowl and deserted hearth; these and other nameless evils, without a crime among them, have barrowed to the quick the heart of many a man, and planted there, beyond the reach of cure, the germ of dark despair. Oh! may woman before that sad sight arises, dwell on the recollections of youth, and cherish the dear idea of that tutelary, awake and keep alive the promise she then kindly gave; and though she may be the injured, not the injuring one—the forgetting wife—a happy allusion to the hour of love—a kindly welcome to a comfortable home—a smile of love to banish hostile words—a kiss of peace to pardon all the past, and the hardest heart that ever locked itself within the breast of man will soften to her charms, and bid her live, as she hoped, her years in matchless bliss—loved, loving, and content—the soother of the sorrowing heart—the source of comfort, and the spring of joy.

THE WIFE.—It needs not guilt to break a husband's heart; the absence of content; the mutterings of spleen, the untidy dress and cheerless home, forbidding scowl and deserted hearth; these and other nameless evils, without a crime among them, have barrowed to the quick the heart of many a man, and planted there, beyond the reach of cure, the germ of dark despair. Oh! may woman before that sad sight arises, dwell on the recollections of youth, and cherish the dear idea of that tutelary, awake and keep alive the promise she then kindly gave; and though she may be the injured, not the injuring one—the forgetting wife—a happy allusion to the hour of love—a kindly welcome to a comfortable home—a smile of love to banish hostile words—a kiss of peace to pardon all the past, and the hardest heart that ever locked itself within the breast of man will soften to her charms, and bid her live, as she hoped, her years in matchless bliss—loved, loving, and content—the soother of the sorrowing heart—the source of comfort, and the spring of joy.

THE WIFE.—It needs not guilt to break a husband's heart; the absence of content; the mutterings of spleen, the untidy dress and cheerless home, forbidding scowl and deserted hearth; these and other nameless evils, without a crime among them, have barrowed to the quick the heart of many a man, and planted there, beyond the reach of cure, the germ of dark despair. Oh! may woman before that sad sight arises, dwell on the recollections of youth, and cherish the dear idea of that tutelary, awake and keep alive the promise she then kindly gave; and though she may be the injured, not the injuring one—the forgetting wife—a happy allusion to the hour of love—a kindly welcome to a comfortable home—a smile of love to banish hostile words—a kiss of peace to pardon all the past, and the hardest heart that ever locked itself within the breast of man will soften to her charms, and bid her live, as she hoped, her years in matchless bliss—loved, loving, and content—the soother of the sorrowing heart—the source of comfort, and the spring of joy.

THE WIFE.—It needs not guilt to break a husband's heart; the absence of content; the mutterings of spleen, the untidy dress and cheerless home, forbidding scowl and deserted hearth; these and other nameless evils, without a crime among them, have barrowed