The signed. - Newbernian. question, it must be admitted, was a doubtful one, and, Scott, under similar circum-stances, had done exactly as Worth did; yet it is to be regretted that the latter did not waive his claim, since his departure from the army deprived him of sharing in the glory of Palo Alto and Resaca de la Palma. It is well known that, on hearing of these battles; Worth withdrew his resignation and hurried to the camp.

Col Twiggs commanded the right wing of the army at Palo Alto. Though a Colonel of Cavalry, he is unable to ride on horseback, in consequence of physical inability; and accordingly on that day he drove about the field in a little open wagon. At both Palo Alto and Resaca de la Palma, Twiggs behaved with that indomitable bravery which is his characteristic and which has originated the remark that . he would as soon fight as eat." Gen Taylor, in his despatches, compliments Twiggs highly. On the fall of Matamoras, Twiggs was appointed Governor of that place. Congress having authorized the selection of two new Brigadiers, he was shortly after appointed to one of the commissions. At Monterey, Gen Twiggs had a division under him that the most terrible fighting third day he dashed into the town drove the enemy along the streets, and was rapidly approaching Worth, advancing from the other side, when the capitulation took place. He was appointed Governor of the town, where, as at Matamoros, his strict discipline, combined with impartial justice, maintained order. Here he remained until Scott, who was about to begin the siege of Vera Cruz.

This apparently impregnable city surrendered : and now began that famous march to Mexico, which has had no parallel since the days of Cortes. On the 17th | Whose very women aroused for arms and of April the army arrived at the pass of annexation.
