FEVER AND AGUE CURED WITHOUT FAIL.
SHAW'S PILLS
A reliable remedy for this disease. Call and purchase one of these Pills, if you are troubled with Fever and Ague. He deems it unnecessary to give any of the reasons for the cure generally almost as bad, and his Pills, but would request the public to give them a trial.

WILD CHERRY AND SARSAPARILLA PILLS.
DR. LE BOY, a Licentiate of the Royal College of Physicians in London, having used in his private practice, for a number of years, the Wild Cherry and Sarsaparilla Pills, has made an extract of them, which with other ingredients, he has compounded, and which he has sent to the European Community, and which met the approbation of the American people.—They are the most efficacious purgative and tonic yet discovered.
THE WILD CHERRY is an excellent tonic, possessing astringent and aromatic properties, which is found in Juglans, Juncus, and Prunella of the Stomach and chest.
THE SARSAPARILLA
is an excellent diuretic and is given in Rheumatism, Scrofula, Diseases of the Skin, and to eradicate the effects of Mercury. In the operations of all other purgative medicines, debilitation and purification go hand in hand; they remove the good, as well as the bad; thus weakening the system, which they were only required to cleanse and making the cure generally almost as bad, and consequently much worse than the disease. Dr. Le Boy's Pills, on the contrary, strengthen and tone the system while they purge and purify. And this is their peculiar virtue, and the principal cause of their unrivalled popularity.
The virtues of the Sarsaparilla and Wild Cherry Pills are well known to medical men and the community to be beyond further detail.
Price, 25 cents per box.

R. F. HIBBARD & CO'S WILD CHERRY BITTERS.
This preparation is a certain Sedative allaying all Nervous Excitability and calming Nervous Irritation. Palpitation of the Heart—Dizziness of the Head—Faintness, and all morbid feelings arising from a Sympathetic Affection of the Stomach, are entirely relieved by a very few doses of these BITTERS.
It has already become a favorite with many Medical Practitioners.
The Rev. J. N. Maffitt, who has used it, speaks of it as follows:
BROOKLYN, JAN. 1847.
Gentlemen: Having suffered for years from the effects of sedentary habits and close application to study, I was induced to try your preparation of Wild Cherry. Its beneficial effects were soon apparent, and I take great pleasure in recommending it as an excellent medicine especially adapted to excitable temperaments, and one that should be generally known and patronized.
Yours, J. NEWLAND MAFFITT.

The Long Island (N. Y.) Farmer, a paper printed at Jamaica, L. I. gives the names of persons at that village who have been benefited and cured by its use.
The following named persons have been benefitted by their use in Jamaica: M. S. Huntington, James J. Brenton, Charles Welling, Hendrick
A. Hendrickson, J. E. Altemand, Mr Manwaring, Daniel Hieble, Springfield.
Hibbard's Wild Cherry Bitters.—Three obstinate cases of Fever and Ague, have been cured recently by the use of Hibbard's Wild Cherry Bitters. Mr Watts, at Springfield, says that it cured him after other remedies had been tried in vain. B. F. Hibbard's Bitters Pills, should be taken in a dose of two or three pills, three or four times a day. Two of these pills are a dose, and are equal to 4 or 6 pills of any other kind.

Mr Ward, of the firm of Gales Stout & Ward of this city says that he has found it very beneficial in a severe attack of fever and ague. The number of persons that have been cured and benefitted in Jamaica alone, would establish the reputation of the article.

The oldest Establishment in America!
THIS CANTON TEA COMPANY has been popularly to all principles that tend to elevate the character of a large house, is well understood, and has already secured them a patronage probably larger than all other Tea Establishments united, and they consequently are determined to sell Tea purer, more fragrant, and perfect for the purpose, than any house in the world.

They most zealously invite the attention of the Inhabitants of this town and vicinity to their Agency's complete assortment of goods on hand; they feel no hesitation in stating that wherever a single trial is made, it will be found to be superior to all other Teas of the CANTON TEA CO.
Reader, make the experiment! Subject in all cases to the return of not approved of.
These superior Teas are put up in one pound, half pound,

BALTIMORE PIANO FORTE MANUFACTORY.
VERY IMPORTANT INVENTION.
It has long been a question among teachers and amateurs of music, as to the most suitable touch for a Piano Forte.
Some at this time contend for light touch, while others with equal ability, advocate the heavy. This question is now permanently settled. WISE & BROTHER have invented a contrivance by which the same instrument can be instantly set to any required touch, by the turning a single screw, varying, if necessary, three hundred and sixty different degrees. The advantage of this is evident, both to teachers and amateurs, as lessons may be practised on the heavy, and exhibited the lighter touch, to suit exactly any physical capacity, which is agreeable to fact and progressive lessons. The contrivance is simple, and may be applied to any common Piano. We invite the most critical investigation. Patent is about to be taken for the improvement.

REVOLUTION IN EUROPE.
From the Charleston Courier.
THE SCENES IN BERLIN.—We have been favored with the following extracts of a letter, written by a young student, a native of Charleston, pursuing his studies in Berlin, to his father in this city.
It will be seen that the writer was residing in the immediate vicinity of the scene of blood-shed and violence which took place in Berlin, and was consequently a personal observer of the tumult. The letter is of a late date, and gives a particular and clear account of the whole affair. We can find room only for the following extracts:
"BERLIN, April 1, 1848.

"There has been, ever since the news of the French Revolution, an inclination here to follow their example. No open disturbances took place until the 13th March. The next day proclamations were posted on all the street corners, stating that after blasts of the trumpet all those who remained in the streets, would be arrested and punished with six month's imprisonment, or labor. After seven o'clock the streets were quieter than usual till about nine o'clock; a detachment of horse, followed by one of the Princes on a beautiful white horse, passed under our window at full gallop. Shortly after some one brought the news that the people had attacked the soldiers in the Leipziger-st., with stones, sticks, &c., and that a regiment of cavalry and several companies of infantry had been ordered to the spot. A few minutes after we heard the tramping of their horses' feet, and looking out the window saw a thousand mounted lancers pass before us, making off, with the point of their lances gleaming in the moon light and with the black and white flags with which every lance was adorned, a strange and handsome appearance. The people had raised up all the draw bridges across the Spree, to prevent the passage of the troops. At eleven o'clock, as in the evening, all was quiet. The people were fired upon by the soldiers, but, I believe, none were killed. Next day the students held a meeting, which ended in their determining to arm themselves and take revenge for the outrages which had been committed; nothing else happened. The next day the King granted freedom of the press. It seems that the people had assembled before the Palace to thank him for his concessions, but, unfortunately, their "vivat" was mistaken for "a bos" by one of the officers, who ordered his men to charge upon them and disperse them—this was done, and many were wounded, and, if I am not mistaken, some killed. At two o'clock, a little while afterwards, we saw a great multitude of people coming over the platz, many with arms in their hands, which had been obtained by breaking open an arm store in the house where our friend Hoffman lives. When they reached the Jerusalemplatz, they cried out for barricade, and in an instant the horses were cut loose from a wagon of wood which was passing by and upset; they then destroyed the booths which had been erected for the ensuing Easter fair which had just commenced that morning. These were broken to pieces and thrown into the barricade; by continual addition it was in an hour's time increased to tolerable strength. These barricades were within a stone's throw of our windows and we could see all their movements; they next barricaded the Ober and Nieder-wall-st., so that all access to the platz was shut. Shortly after, a battalion of infantry took possession of the barricade at the Oberwall-st.; they received, however, a galling fire from behind the barricade and returned it with equal fury. We could see the balls as they struck off the plaster from the house opposite us. I was looking out of the window at a boy about sixteen years old, who was brandishing his sabre and defying them to advance, when a ball struck him in the mouth and he fell and died without a groan. I saw several others fall behind the barricade, but I am confident that the soldiers lost more, for after an hour's hard fighting they retired. The fighting had now commenced in every part of the city, and you could hear the rattling of small arms, mixed with the occasional report of cannon, in every direction. Nearly every one at the barricade near us had obtained arms by breaking in an arm store in our house. Towards night the house tops were all occupied and the tiles torn out and carried to convenient places for hurling them down upon the soldiers. The landlord of an eating house opposite us made all his waiters go to work tearing up stones and carrying them up into his garret, and placed all his tables and other furniture against the windows to form shields to shoot from. In many places people were torn from their houses and cruelly massacred and others taken prisoners. They stuck with their bayonets through every place where a man could hide himself. The people had several pieces of cannon and made awful havoc among the soldiers. There is a society of citizens here, who meet once a year for the purpose of having shooting matches with rifles. They are mostly good shots and seldom miss their man. They fought on the side of the people and killed a great number. About four o'clock in the morning a regiment of foot arrived and took possession of all the barricades. This they however did with difficulty, as stones were thrown from almost every house. In the Jerusalem street boiling pitch was poured down upon them. It is lucky that the people who had stood upon the roof of our house had left it, or we might have been dragged out and either murdered or taken prisoners.

The brutality of the soldiers exceeded all belief; for instance, a tailor boy was caught carrying ammunition to the barricades, he was taken to the Gardemars Market and first his ears were cut off, then his arm was broken, and then he was beat on the head with the butt of a musket until he died.
At eight o'clock I went out and found the streets impassable for the barricades, and every now and then my foot would slip in blood; the houses were perfectly riddled, and in some places large pieces were broken off by cannon balls. About eleven o'clock, after I had returned home, the sentinels at the Oberwall-street called to arms, and a few moments after saw an officer on horseback, waving his handkerchief and followed by the people, who were shouting at the top of their voices; he was bearing orders from the King for the military to retire. These orders were received with great joy by the soldiers, who had not had a whole night's rest for a week, and had eaten nothing for 24 hours. In an hour's time there was not a soldier to be seen in Berlin. The King granted them nearly every thing they asked; one of their petitions was the organization of a citizens guard, and that very afternoon ten thousand were armed at the Arsenal, and in every place where we used to see soldiers, we see armed citizens. In many parts of the city the people would not trust to the King's promises and refused to take down the barricades until they saw what he promised accomplished, and in the Alexander platz they continued fighting till two hours after peace was made; but when they saw the citizens armed took them all down."

SINGULAR EFFECTS OF ATTENTION.—In the Edinburgh Journal of Sciences, just published, we find a very interesting paper, by Dr. Hancock, on the motions that result merely from mixing a few drops of alcohol with a small vial of laurel oil. To exhibit this singular phenomenon, which seems to bear some analogy with the planetary orbs, the drops of alcohol should be introduced at different intervals of time.
A revolving or circular motion instantly commences in the oil, carrying the alcoholic globules through a series of oscillations and repulsions, which will last for many days. The round bodies which seem to move with perfect freedom through the fluid, turn in a small eccentric curve at each extremity of their course, passing each other rapidly without touching. In the course of his experiments, Dr. Hancock observed particles of the fluid to separate in large globular portions, these commenced a similar revolution, and smaller ones quitted their course and revolved about the larger, while the latter still pursued their gyrations, after the manner of primary planets and their secondaries.—*Scientific

A BRICKLAYER, who was working at the top of a house, happened to fall through the rafters, and, not being hurt, he bounced up, and cried with a triumphant tone to his fellow-labourers, "I defy any man to go through his work as quick as I did."
