There never was a more cruel, wicked, unjustifiable act than the beheading of Anne Boleyn. She was tried before a jury of twenty five peers, not one of whom dared to interpose in behalf of an innocent Queen, against the cruelty of their tyrant. Though unassisted by counsel, says Hume, she defended herself with great presence of mind; and the spectators could not forbear pronouncing her entirely innocent. The King, himself, made the most effectual apology for her, by marrying Jane Seymour, the very day after her execution. Perseverance. - Rev. John Wesley, founder of Methodism, was a man of untiring industry. It is said that he rose every morning at 4, and labored diligently, travelling or writing, until 10 p. m. He delivered more than two sermons for each day of the last 50 years of his life. In 1773, eighteen years before his death, his published works, divinity, ecclesiastical history, sermons, biography, &c. amount-ed to 32 volumes, 8vo. He enjoyed excellent health, and continued to labor until a week before his death, which took place in his 88th year.

RULES FOR SUCCESS. Be firm; one constant element in luck Is genuine, solid, old Teutonic pluck: See you tall shaft; it felt the earthquake's thrill, Clung to its base, and greets the sunrise still. Stick to your aim; the mongrel's hold will slip, But only crow-bars loose the bull-dog's grip; Small as he looks, the jaw that never yields, Drags down the bellowing monarch of the fields.
