HOTCHKISS' Vertical Water Wheel.

There are several hundred of these wheels in operation in different counties in North Carolina. For proof of their great advantage over the common flutter wheel, or any other wheels now in use for saw mills, we confidently refer to those who have applied them to their mills. We can recommend them particularly for their superiority in cases of a low head of water, or back water.

We still keep a supply of Wheels, suitable for different heads of water, at Wilmington, Newbern, Washington, Edenton, and Fayetteville. The wheels may also be had of E. A. Brevard, Lenoir, and Irish Wells, Petersburg, Va.

Persons wishing to obtain the right to use the wheels, will be served on application to D. McNeill & Co., Fayetteville, N. C.

DR. SHERWOOD'S Vibrating Magnetic Machines.

By recent improvements in these Machines, their power is doubled in cases of the same size, and the prices reduced to $12 and $14 each; the $12 sizes being greatly superior to the $12 sizes of other machines. They now run with more power and smoothness, and are better adapted for magnetizing patients than any other in use. Each case is accompanied with a Manuel (11th edition, p. 400, 32 mo.) in the English or French language, according to order, which contains clear and minute directions for the proper use of the instrument in the various diseases to which it is applicable, which are found to include many of the most peculiar and obstinate that are known to the medical profession. The Manuel also contains a synopsis of the different systems of medical practice, Allopathic, Homeopathic, and Magnetopathic, with a full glossary.
 Physicians and others are cautioned against purchasing the imitations of these machines, as they will be found of comparatively little value. No premium has ever been obtained over these magnetic machines at the American or any other Institute, as is represented by the manufacturers of interior machines.

NOTICE.

DR. H. H. SHERWOOD having deceased on the 15th of September last, his medical practice is continued by us in accordance with his testamentary instructions under the direction of A. S. BALDWIN, M. D. We also continue the publication of the valuable medical works of Dr. Sherwood, and the preparation of his well known Magnetized Remedies of Compound Chloride of Gold for the cure of all Tuberculous or Scrophulous Diseases. These remedies have now been many years in extensive use, and are a Specific for those Chronic Diseases of the organs and limbs which are invariably distinguished by pain produced by pressure in the most sensitive spaces along each side of the spinal column, no matter what name may be given to the malady by physicians.

We have in our possession, subject to the examination of any who may call upon us, numerous letters from patients in various parts of the country, and from many physicians who have long used these remedies in their practice, which fully establish their remarkable success in the cure of Scrophula in its worst forms, Consumption, Chronic Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, and other chronic diseases.
 The Treatise of Dr. Sherwood upon Chronic Diseases, explains fully the nature and effects of these remedies, and will be sent by us without charge to any persons desirous of information upon these points in any part of the country.
 DR. SHERWOOD'S MAGNETIC MACHINES, which have long had an established reputation as superior to any others in medical use, for power and simplicity combined, are also manufactured by us, as heretofore, and can be sent to the States, or to other parts of the World.
 Physicians and Agents can be supplied both with the machines and remedies upon the same terms as were customary with Dr. SHERWOOD.
 All orders and letters for medical advice, should be addressed to
 H. H. SHERWOOD'S Successors,

Later From Europe.

Opening of the German ports.—Advance in cotton.—Breakstuffs depressed.
 The following despatch came to hand last evening from our correspondent at St. John:
 St. John, Aug. 31, 1849.

The royal mail steamer Caledonia arrived at Halifax at one o'clock, p. m., yesterday, whence her news was transmitted to this place by express this morning at 8, a. m.

The steamer Washington arrived at Southampton on the 14th from Bremen, on her way to New York. She left Bremen Haven on Saturday, and brings intelligence of the actual departure of the Danish blockading squadron, and the withdrawal of the cruising vessels from off Helgoland, which have departed for Copenhagen, permitting free ingress to, and egress from the respective ports. A number of merchant vessels had entered the Weiser, and commerce was resuming its wonted activity.

In Liverpool there is a marked improvement in nearly every branch of business. The produce markets have been more fully supplied, but as buyers have manifested a greater desire to operate, a large amount of business has been done—in some instances at higher rates.

Advices from the United States, respecting the growing crop of cotton, being considered very unsatisfactory, have operated in favor of holders. The demand is good, and large sales are daily reported.

Before the close of the market on that day, the quotations of American descriptions were 1d. higher than on the 10th. A large business was done on the following day at a still further advance. On Thursday the market had a somewhat subdued appearance, but the advance was fully maintained. The committee's quotations yesterday were declared to be 5 1/2d. for fair Uplands, 5 1/2d. for fair Mobile, and 5 1/2d. for fair Orleans.

BREADSTUFFS.—The market for breadstuffs is dull. On Tuesday wheat of all kinds declined from 1 to 2d. per bushel: American was selling at 6s. 6d. a 7s. per 70 lbs. Indian corn, on the other hand, had advanced from two to three shillings per quarter; the late-extreme depression having brought an increased demand from Ireland, with some speculation. The quotations are 27s a 28s. per quarter for yellow, and 28s a 29s. for white.

Flour sold slowly during the week; the better qualities realizing former prices, but secondary sorts are 6d. per bbl. lower.
 Subsequently the market became steady, and we now quote prime sound descriptions of American at 23s. 6d. to 25s. per bbl.; white inferior, unselected, is difficult to sell at 18s. to 20s.

From the manufacturing districts the accounts speak encouragingly of trade in both cotton and woollen goods.
 Money continues plenty, and the rates of discount easy. English funds are steady, and a fair amount of business going forward.
 There is a moderate but steady demand for American provisions—prices generally being well sustained. Land is in good demand, with an advance of 6d. per cwt. Sales of 800 bbls. at 35, 6d.

In the absence of speculation iron remains firm.

PUMPING THUNDER.

"John, bring me my shirt and epaulettes; there's a char brewing somewhere"—Pluck.
 "Charles, who wrote Shakespeare?"
 "Ben Johnson."
 "No, it was Mr. Finis; I saw his name at the end of book"—High Life below stairs.
 "Won't you dance the Polka?"
 "Can't you dance the Polka?"
 The joys of earth
 Have little worth
 Unless you dance the Polka!"—Gung!

Afar off upon the solitary plains of ocean, when the tempests have died away and the stormy petrel sits upon the unruffled billow hatching her egg under her wing, the superstitious sailor, as he sits upon the caves of the deep the thunder of the great sea-organ pealing amid the coral sepulchres of ages, mingled with the voices of Mermaids who pour forth strains of gushing music that shake the sternest spirits and unlock the fount of feeling and of tears. Though charmed for a few moments with the anthem of the great sea-minstrel, he soon remembers that the storm begins in the lowest recesses of the empire of waters, and that the music of the ground-swell will soon become the howling of the upper tempest, and away he glides to the deck, with his comrades, to put the staunch old ship in order for the elemental war.

Oh! it is glorious upon the scowling billow to battle with the surges and bid defiance to the gale! Then, mind walks in light upon the night of waters, and amid a thousand perils rides the tempest down. The present hour, though calm as the summer's cloudless eve, is but the precursor of a time of tumult and of strife; and though men, armed to the teeth with the whole panoply of war, may not meet in the field

 "Where streams the life-blood warm and wet Upon the glittering bayonet—" still, there are elements of discord at work around us and amongst us, which, unless met with the prudence and fortitude of the gallant sailor, may wreck our glorious Union upon the midnight deep, and cast her star-gemmed banner like a sea-washed upon a wave-washed shore.

We have written thus much, first because we felt it; and second, because we had no fourth of July oration to call us out, and therefore kept our patriotism upon our stomach until we were afraid of its growing sour. Having thus happily pricked what Mrs Partington has quaintly termed the boil of sympathy, and uncorked our bottle of eloquence, we shall proceed, for brevity's sake, to our subject, by dividing it into fifty heads: and firstly of the first, the devil's to pay in Charles county, and Hagerstown too, and unless John Henry returns from his post in the General's train to his own political stamping ground, he will find but few there to raise their eyes with joyful recognition, and exclaim, in tones of melting thunder, Mud! Mud!

It is an easy matter for a man who has never felt the sting of a hornet to laugh at the diminutive size of the yellow jacketed insect, and to wonder what people are afraid of who make a straight coat-tail from his paper house; but when once spiked by the interesting animal, he is ready to exclaim, with the Irishman who caught the yellow wasp for a fly, "By St. Patrick, how hot the dear little creature's foot is!"

The country at the present moment is infested with much vermin, and polluted with a vast quantity of foul air—the odor of aristocratic nationality. A good thunder-storm is therefore necessary to clear the moral atmosphere; and to kill off the creatures who breed in slimy pools, and grow fat upon decayed matter. It will be our duty, therefore, if possible, to pump up a respectable shower, and ride like the eagle upon the cone of the whirlwind, and mark the course of the storm. The elections last year placed parties in positions ridiculously false. As it was when the owl brooded over chaos, so is it now in the land of free institutions and liberal sentiments. True, the alien and sedition laws are no longer in force, and the prison doors of liberty's dungeons have not grated harshly upon the ears of an incarcerated freeman for telling the truth for many years; but still, among the party of federalism, who never can forgive our fathers for making this a republic and the Senate elective, there exists the tyranny of the elder Adams and the illiberality of his day of iron fetters and prison walls. The people, however, have a way of curing these evils which is as effective as it is unparliamentary and unfashionable. Sometimes they take the brawlers up and rub their ears, and then sit them down with no easy jolt to legislate again for their country; sometimes they make them undo their dirty work, and then return to unenviable repose among the things that were—the broken crockery of Liberty's back kitchen; and sometimes they spring a mine of indignation under them that blows them so high among the light-houses of the sky, that they come down so singed and altered that they remain political Eunuchs in the harems of the decency party forever afterwards.

Cuba is to be taken, not by the few straggling soldiers of liberty that have crept into that island, but by the home squadron of the United States, and the mock abduction of Rey is to be the pretext of our peace President for this invasion; and to keep up decent appearances, and to lull Spain and the rest of Europe into security, the proclamation, written in the State Department and dated nowhere, was issued. This is our opinion, after consulting with sundry Dutch farmers of Lancaster county, who it is supposed know everything about such matters, and who consulted freely with the Second Washington upon state affairs on his grand tour. If this is true, the correspondent of the Journal of Commerce, who, like Titus Oates, knows there is a damnable plot on foot, has made a light error in his inferences, and will have to hold another mountain-top conversation with the hero of two bloody (not blood-hound) wars upon the blue peaks of Belford, and in the vicinity of its magic well.

The home squadron have long since received orders to demand REY beneath the walls of the Moro Castle, with the men at quarters, the guns double-shotted, and the matches lighted; and the little steamer Alleghany has been sent out to arrest the invasion of Cuba, and preserve the faith of treaty stipulations. Ho! ho! ho! ha! ha! ha! Well, this is diplomacy with a vengeance, which it takes something green to appreciate.

But there must be a thunder-storm—a respectable thunder-storm—or we shall all be smothered in the infected cloud of pollution. To do this we propose to explode a little sulphur, and to stir the wild animals with a tarred pole, until they make their official cages ring again.

There have been more little falsehoods, more mean insinuations, more dirty work done in the last six months, and less thunder, than we have ever known before in any age. We hope, therefore, that every body will see the propriety of helping us to blow the bellows, and raise the wind. It is a matter pro bono publico, and cannot but be acceptable to all. A dirty man is better for being washed, even if he is averse to it himself; and he who amputates a diseased limb, even without the consent of the patient, is a benefactor of mankind.

We wish the Republic would say something about the Denby case and Patrick Collins. This neglect of such great matters is a crime, indeed. Can't you dance the Polka? Won't you dance the Polka? but, 'fore Heaven, if we go on at this rate, we shall never keep a sober face long enough to let it thunder. Boy, put in the sulphuric acid, and let it fix—the people expect something terrible; and by liberty's cap and pole, they shall not be disappointed. The city is now full of cholera bombs—which are called, for short, water millions—and perhaps we can use them to some advantage in the grand discharge!

The circulation of the Republic is so small. We saw a gentleman who did not find a copy of it in western New York; perhaps it was because those who received it filed it away in their pigeon-holes, as a certain Register of the Treasury, who was democratic outside and whig within, once filed away Amos Kendall's Extra Globe in the Harrisonic age.

As this is a weather-breeder, we hope our friends will pardon us for blowing all around the compass; for we have no object but to raise a tempest, and whether we do it in a teapot or in the Atlantic ocean, it is all the same to us.

The Secretary of the Treasury, we understand, is about to die with a broken heart. He removed a democrat the other day, which has occasioned him sharp pains, and a terrible flatulent spirit. Whether he can be cured by reappointing the gentleman or not, is a matter which remains in the maw of the future. We think, however, he will recover without the expiation. We have seen sicker people cured with one glass of Madeira, repeated every hour without intermission.

And now we have raised a breeze: we hear the muttering of the deep-mouthed thunder, and with Page's lightning-machine, and Brown and Nichols's Adelpi apparatus, with a water-pot, we calculate we can make some noise and rain in the world, if we don't belong to either of the cabinets. Those, therefore, who are afraid of getting struck, had better come under our umbrella, confessing their offences and repenting of their sins of omission and commission, and thus wind up, with a clearing-off shower, the "HEROIC AGE."
