

NORTH CAROLINIAN. Wm. H. Payne, Editor and Proprietor. FAYETTEVILLE, N. C. OCTOBER 27, 1849.

The editor of the Carolinian expects to be at Sampson Superior Court, where he hopes to have a settlement with those indebted to him.

PLANK ROAD.—We are informed by the President that there are about 60 hands employed on the first ten miles of the Road, and that the clearing and grading will be so nearly completed that the hands from each end will meet, or at least be in hearing of each other, by the evening of to-day.

A large quantity of lumber will be brought to Fayetteville by the river, and must be hauled from thence by teams. From the scarcity of wagons here now, in proportion to the hauling, those in the country who have teams, might find employment for them.

Eighteen American gentlemen, who were in Paris at the time of the demand of Czar Nicholas upon the Sultan of Turkey for the surrender of the Hungarian leaders, addressed an appeal to the American Minister at Constantinople, to use all his influence and the influence of his government to sustain the Sultan in his good resolution, not to accede to the demand.

THE CENSUS of South Carolina has recently been taken by authority of the State. It shows a white population of $280,355. The number of negroes was not taken.

SULPHUR SPRINGS, N. C.—Mr Deaver, the proprietor of these Springs, makes a statement in the Asheville Messenger, by which it appears that during the past summer, he has had 647 boarders at his Springs.

THE WIRE BRIDGE suspended over the Ohio river, at Wheeling, Va., was completed on the 20th inst., and Mr Ellet, the architect (the same who built one recently over Niagara river at the Falls) rode over it with horse and buggy amid the firing of ordnance.

The Raleigh Star publishes the Mississippi resolutions in regard to the Wilnot proviso, and takes a decided part in their favor. It says "we are opposed to the Wilnot proviso in every form and place."

THE MORMONS.—A part of this religious sect are located in Covington, Ky., and publish a small paper. They appear to be highly incensed at the other Mormons who have settled in the new territory taken from Mexico, and declare that those Mormons are conspirators against the United States; and that they are under an oath to avenge the death of Joe Smith, their prophet, who was killed in the Mormon rampus some years ago.

TEMPERANCE STATISTICS. We learn from the "Spirit of the Age," that the fourth annual session of the Grand Division of the Sons of Temperance, met in Raleigh on Wednesday the 17th inst.

There were 57 representatives from 24 subordinate Divisions. It appeared from the various reports from 67 Divisions, that the number of "Sons" in those 67 amounts to 2,500. And it is estimated that the remaining 13 Divisions which neglected to report, might swell the number to 3,300.

The following are the officers of the Grand Division for the ensuing term: James H. Spis, of Salisbury, G. W. P. Geo. D. Boggan, of Wadesboro, G. W. A. A. M. Gordon, of Raleigh, G. S. James Littleford, " G. T. Wm. T. Shields, of Hillsboro, G. C. Henry Hardie, of Chapel Hill, G. S. J. M. C. Breaker, of Newbern, G. Chapman. Rev. S. Pearce, Travelling Agent.

The semi-annual session of the Grand Division is to be held in Newbern on the fourth Wednesday in April next.

AN ADMISSION.—In remarking upon the conduct of the Secretary of State in conducting the foreign relations of the government, the Pennsylvania says that so palpable are the blunders of this Department of the Government, that the New York Courier and Enquirer, which is a staunch defender of the administration, is compelled to declare:

"That errors in judgment and errors in policy are inevitable; but we freely confess that these errors have been more numerous, or, at least, have been rendered more palpable under the existing administration, than that of any of its predecessors."

GREENS, alias COLLUDS.—A correspondent of the Wilmington Journal, writing from Six Runs, Sampson county, tells of a "colewort" (what an outlandish way to express cabbage by, when every body uses the short, simple, modest, phonetic word "colluds") over 7 feet high, and 41 feet in diameter.

Mr Fremont, (Mr Benton's son-in-law,) has accepted the appointment of Commissioner to run the boundary line between Mexico and the United States, in place of Mr Weller, who was appointed by the last administration, and who had entered upon his duties.

THE RESULT IN GEORGIA. We learn from the Macon Telegraph that Gov. Towns majority is 2416, which is a gain of 2127 votes over his vote in 1847.

OHIO.—Mr Amos E. Wood, democrat, has been elected to Congress in place of Mr Dickinson. (also democrat) deceased.

It is also fully ascertained, says the Washington Union, that there is a small democratic majority in both Houses of the Ohio Legislature. A rare case, and looks bad for whiggery.

MISSISSIPPI.—A letter to the editor from De Kalb, Miss., says: "Our elections come off soon. The democratic ticket will be carried throughout the State, except in this (the fourth) District, of which there is some doubt. McWilli and Gray are the candidates. The district is democratic, but Gray being very popular, will carry more than his party vote in the eastern counties; but the election will be very close."

CONNECTICUT.—The Hartford Times gives returns from 79 towns, of the election held on the 1st inst. Of that number the democrats had gained 19, as compared with the last fall election. Fifty towns had elected democratic officers, and 24 only whigs. Three towns were divided. East Hartford and Wethersfield have each elected democratic assessors and board of relief, which are gains from last year. In Bristol a "liberal ticket" was elected—last year, whig—Union.

A RAILROAD MEETING was held a few weeks ago at Hendersonville, N. C., says the Asheville Messenger, in regard to the Greenville (S. C.) Railroad. This road is built partly by paying for stock in work and materials. The subscriptions at this meeting were $13,000. This road, says the Messenger, is entirely in South Carolina, connecting Columbia and Greenville, and yet, here are $13,000 subscribed by the county of Henderson, to help to build it to Greenville, which is probably within 25 miles of Hendersonville the county seat of Henderson.

ANOTHER MEETING, says the Messenger, was held at Asheville on the 10th inst., to raise subscriptions, and $18,000 were subscribed. Many of the old and steady farmers, says that paper, have marched up with great cheerfulness and liberality.

Asheville is about 50 miles from Greenville, but the hope of the people of Buncombe is, that when once completed to Greenville, its great advantage to the farmers of the western Carolinas, giving a speedy transport to their produce to the markets of Columbia and Charleston, that it will soon extend to the mountains, and over them. $31,000 subscribed in North Carolina to a South Carolina railroad. We call that neighborly, and we are glad to see such liberality.

HURRA FOR ROBESON. We learn from a friend that a gentleman owning a piece of land on Ashpole Swamp in the lower part of Robeson county, has raised 90 bushels of corn to the acre on it. We call that hard to beat, in this section of country. To be sure we have heard of 300 bushels to the acre, but we were not green enough to believe that it could be done.

By a communication in the Charleston Mercury, we learn that the great American sculptor, Mr Powers, is accomplishing a statue of Mr Calhoun. It is expected to be ready for shipment to this country in a short time. The place of its erection has not been determined, but will probably be in Charleston or Columbia. A few gentlemen of Charleston (the writer says) contributed the amount among themselves to pay for its execution.

John Tyler and family, of Virginia, are at the Irving House, New York. John Tyler—John Tyler? Who's John Tyler.—Boston Bee, a whig paper.

Why John Tyler is a tolerably honorable gentleman who in 1840, stooped to make a tool of the whig party by which to hoist himself into the Vice Presidency; and at that time was thought by the whigs to be one of the greatest of living men—

But when the time came round for the whigs to make a tool of him by making him forewear his former political faith, he served them as the gun did the sportsman—kicked them over.

Charles Napoleon Bonaparte Evans, (what a long tail our cat's got,) editor of the Milton Chronicle, (a whig paper,) that the editor of the Standard keeps for his amusement) has been appointed Postmaster at Milton, N. C., says the Hillsborough Recorder. The editor of the Recorder says: "This is as it should be." In course it is. "Scratch my back and I'll tickle your elbow," as the classic has it.

But the Recorder says "he is honest, capable, and faithful to the constitution." Well, we will not question his honesty for his family's sake, if he has any; but as to his being capable, if he is like he used to be, it depends much upon the state of his equilibrium. As to his being faithful to the constitution, he has rather over shot the mark in that regard. The constitution gives every man a vote, but he tried to vote twice in the same day; and only got off from prosecution we believe, by proving that he was in a most disinterested state of unconsciousness.

"United we stand, divided we fall." A wag says this is not true in regard to the "Sons of Temperance," for the more "Divisions" they have, the better they stand. Very true, for every Division is an addition, and multiplies the whole.

A PARODY.—There is a very touching little song, the first stanza of which runs something like this: "And lovely woman stoops to folly, And finds too late that men betray, What art can soothe her melancholy, Or wipe her shame away."

The Richmond Republican, under the Police head, where a drunken woman was taken up for vagrancy, committed the following parody on it: "When lovely woman stoops to folly, And finds too late that men betray, What art can hide from any body, Her tipsiness by night or day."

By speaking of this paper as "The Anson county Argus," does the proprietor of the Loco-foco sheet at Fayetteville, mean to insinuate that the Argus has a less general circulation, or presents a less grand and imposing appearance than his own miserable little, Cross-Creek, fifteen-hundred-year-old, palpitably mis-called, unblushingly nicknamed—"The North Carolinian"? THE NORTH CAROLINIAN!! Heaven save the mark! It is just as much misnamed as the editor would be if he were called SOLOMON—or CHRISTIEFIELD—Wadeboro Argus.

That is very witty! very! But it would have been much wiser so if he had put it in Latin. The editor takes a hint very well. We might have supposed that Anson was peopled by the Latini, as much as the Argus was printed generally in Latin, a language not much used by the masses, and when much used by editors, is considered an evidence either of pedantry, or that his paper is only intended for a few doctors and lawyers, or now and then a learned professor.

We never assumed to give the humble "North Carolinian" "a grand and imposing appearance." It would then have misrepresented its State and people. We leave grandeur, &c. to be displayed by those who have to make up in that way their lack of more useful traits. Our "sheet" appears to be big enough for the little town of Fayetteville, and our aim is to make it useful to its patrons, rather than to furnish them a large sheet fit only for waste paper.

Of course it is necessary that the large commercial city of Wadesboro should have a very large newspaper, and a good deal of Latin in it. We are not so "imposing." If we live on Cross-Creek, we are thankful that we are neither cross-eyed nor cross tempered; nor sit cross-legged at prayers.

The Argus newspaper reminds us of an extensive farm on a sand ridge, where the corn stalks look like they had the consumption and the corn all rubbins.

The barque Eureka, which we noticed last week as having started from Cleveland, Ohio, for California, by way of the great lakes and the St. Lawrence, was found too large to go through the Welland canal. What will be done with "Mammy and Josh" in that case?

A stray paragraph in the papers says that a machine has been invented and patented, that will unload a wagon "in no time."

We see that the "undivided two-thirds of the Natural Bridge" in Virginia, is offered for sale in Richmond. It must be nearly new, as Gen. Taylor said it was not built when he went along there.

A BAD SIGN.—A physician who would place a tomb stone over for a sign, would be thought very silly or very eccentric, but we see a druggist in Wilmington has a representation of an urn with his advertisement. It was probably intended for a mortar and pestle, but we should call it a mort-l'pester.

The Wilmington Journal says that there is a family in that place directly descended from Oliver Cromwell, the Protector.

INTERESTING INTELLIGENCE.—The Paris Moniteur, of the 5th inst., states that the French Government entirely disavows the conduct of M. Pousin, and announces the appointment of M. Boissle Compt, at present French Minister at Turin, to be Minister Plenipotentiary at Washington.—Wilmington Commercial.

GEORGEY SHOT.—The last foreign arrival brings a report from Vienna that Gen. Georgey had been shot by a brother of an Austrian officer whom Georgey had ordered to be shot.

For the Carolinian. Mr Bayne: I hope I don't intrude—I just dropped in to ask a simple question; or our Corporation Attorney, if we have one; if we have none, will the Magistrate of Police answer it. Has any person a right to monopolize all the licensed wagons and drays that haul about town, and to and from the landing? or have they the right to so monopolize any considerable portion of them to the detriment of the general business of the place. A SUFFRAGER. October 25, 1849.

HEALTH OF THE CITY.—In will be seen by the report of the Board of Health that the deaths for the week ending last Saturday, were only 24, and that the deaths by Strangers Fever were but 13. The new cases now are few or none, and although the disease may not absolutely disappear till frost, it has ceased to excite attention.—Charleston Mercury.

IMPROVED WAREHOUSE. We have examined a Warehouse, built by our enterprising fellow citizen, John A. Taylor, Esq., back of the Store of Barry, Bryant & Adams, fronting on Wilkinson's Alley, having an opening on an eight-foot alley in the rear. The Warehouse is 68 feet long, 28 feet wide, two stories high; walls 2 brick thick, first story; on the second 1 1/2, faced with wood's best pressed brick. The first floor is made perfectly rat-proof, having a concrete floor, 6 inches thick, with a stone foundation below it. The doors and window shutters are iron, with hooks fastened into stone which runs through the wall; the jams of the doors are protected by bars of iron worked in the walls; it is covered with tin and a parapet wall all round. It was built by J. C. & R. B. Wood, and is quite a model concern, being entirely fire-proof and rat-proof—no insurance against either being thought necessary by Mr Taylor, under whose supervision it was erected.—Wilmington Commercial.

FASHIONABLE LIFE. That high spirited lady, Mrs Swisshelm, gives the following sketch of things behind the curtain, in the drama of fashion: "There are hundreds of girls in every large city who parade the streets in feathers, flowers, silks and laces, whose hands are soft and white as uselessness can make them, whose mothers keep boarders to get a living for their idle daughters. These mothers will cook, sweep, wait on tables, carry loads of marketing, the most menial drudgery, toil late and early, with very little clothing; while their hopeful daughters spend their mornings lounging in bed, reading some silly book, taking lessons in music and French, fixing finery and the like. The evenings are devoted to dressing, displaying their charms and accomplishments to the best advantage, for the wonderment and admiration of knights of the yardsick, and young aspirants for professional honors—doctors without patients, lawyers without clients—who are as brainless and soulless as themselves. After a while the piano pounding simoleon captivates a tape measuring law-expounding, or pill-making simoleon. The two nineties spend every cent that can be raised by hook or by crook—get all that can be got on credit in broadcloth, satin, flowers, lace, carriage, attendants, &c., & hang their empty pockets on somebody's pillow, their empty heads on somebody's pillow, and commence their empty life with no other prospect than living at somebody's expense—with no other purpose than living genteelly and spiting the neighbors. This is a synopsis of the lives of thousands of street and ball-room belles, perhaps of some whose shining costume you have envied from a passing glance. Thousands of women in cities dress elegantly on the streets, who have not a sufficiency of wholesome food, a comfortable bed, or fire enough to warm their rooms. I once boarded in a "genteel boarding house," in Louisville; there were two young ladies and a piano in the house—hall and parlors handsomely furnished.—The eldest young lady—the belle—wore a summer bonnet at ten dollars—a silk and blond concern that could not last more than three months—silk and satin dresses at two, three and four dollars per yard, and five dollars a piece for making them, and the entire family, women, boys and babies, nine in all, sleep in one small room, with two dirty bags of pine shavings, two straw bolsters, and three dirty quilts for bedding—no sheets, no slips, and there on the wall hung the green, and white satin, the rich silk and lawn dresses. These ladies did not work, but played the piano, accented cards; and nearly broke their hearts the week we were there, because another, who I presume lived just as they did, called on them with a great clumsy gold chain on her neck. None of them had one, and Miss Labinda, the belle, could eat no supper, and had a fit of the sulks to console her for the want of a chain."

TO THE LADIES. MISS JANE ANDERSON Respectfully informs her friends, and the ladies generally, that she has prepared Rooms in the dwelling of Mrs Black, on Winslow street, south of Messrs H. L. Myrrow & Co's store, where she intends carrying on the MILLINERY BUSINESS in all its branches. She feels confident from the long experience she has had in the business, that she can give satisfaction to those who may favor her with their patronage. October 27, 1849.

COMMON SCHOOLS. THE Acts of the Legislature in relation to the Common Schools having been amended, the Board of Supervisors of the County, will be elected at the December Term of the County Court. The Clerk of the Court will give notice for the meeting of the trustees of the County, on the Wednesday of the Term. The School Committee for the last year, October 1848 to October 1849, are requested to meet on the Tuesday of the week of the Superior Court of the County, that day being the 13th of November. The Board, elected in December will meet in January 1850, to enter on the discharge of their duties, at which time the School Committees will be appointed for the several Districts of the County. The School Committees in the respective Districts will be expected to return the number of children in their Districts, by the 15th of November. They are requested to specify the males and the females as by law they are required to do. Blank forms of returns may be had on application to the Clerk of the County Court. The Committee must hereafter be particular to state the number of the males and females that have been taught in the Schools. Application will be made for the appointment of a Committee to examine for the year, those who wish to become Teachers; as no one can be employed as a Teacher who has not a certificate signed by a majority of the Committee. The School Committees are requested to state the number of School Houses in their Districts. The scholastic year will hereafter begin on the first day of January each year. All those having business with the School Committee, will meet on the Tuesday of the Superior Court, the 13th day of November, at 11 o'clock. EDWARD LEE WINSLOW, Chairman of the Board. ENTERTAINMENT AT FLORAL COLLEGE. THE undersigned respectfully informs his friends and the travelling public, that he has opened, at this place, a House for their accommodation. He solicits a share of public patronage, promising that no pains will be spared on his part, to render all who may favor him with a call comfortable. Active and attentive Servants will always be at hand. To meet the demands of public occasions, he has provided himself with good and extensive Stables, which will be attended by a careful Driver. Term moderate and regular. N. NICHOLSON, 557-3t

VALUABLE TOWN PROPERTY FOR SALE. THE Subscriber offers for sale his town property, situated in Lower Fayetteville, consisting of three dwelling Houses, with all necessary out-houses; one of the best now occupied by T. J. Johnson & Co., and which is a good stand for business; also 3 unimproved lots suitable for building. He is desirous to sell at a low price, and the subscriber is anxious to change his business, as well as his location, and therefore a bargain may be expected, with liberal terms. Those wishing to engage in a speculation could not better employ their capital, as it is expected property will be greatly enhanced in value by the late Clear and Deep River scheme of internal improvement now in progress, especially in that part of town lying immediately on the River, where said property is situated. A description of the property is unnecessary, as those wishing to purchase will doubtless examine the same before purchasing. Inquire on the premises. THOS. J. JOHNSON, Fayetteville, Oct. 27, 1849. 557-3m

LATE.—We see it announced in the Richmond Republican, that the Hon. John Y. Mason, late Secretary of the Navy, is to deliver in that city an eulogy on the life and character of the late ex-President Polk. We always like to see such things done in good season. There is a time for all things; and to our mind, an eulogium should be delivered as soon after the death of the subject as proper arrangements will admit. We never liked the postponing the celebration of an anniversary to the first fair day.
