FRIDAY, June 14th. The Convention met according to adjournment.

Col Biggs, from the Committee appointed to prepare Resolutions and other matter for the consideration of the Convention, reported as follows:

Resolved by this Convention, That our confidence in our principles as a party, is not only undiminished, but strengthened; and that we are encouraged by past events as well as by the prospects of the future...

ly unprecedented; that by his course on the Slavery question he has contributed and is now contributing, as Mr Clay himself has shown, to produce discord and agitation in the country instead of concord & harmony; and that this course, from first to last, has realized the predictions of evil destined to flow from it...

And Whereas, There are questions of an exciting and agitating character, now pending before the Congress of the United States, growing out of the long-continued and oft-repeated aggressions of the North upon Southern rights; and whereas, the agitation of these questions is fraught with imminent peril to the Union of these States; and whereas, it is greatly to be desired by every lover of his country, that an amicable settlement of all them should be made...

Resolved, That in common with a large portion of the people of this State and of the South, we desire the fall and perfect settlement of all the agitating questions which now distract the country; we desire their settlement upon a basis of equal right and justice to all and every portion of the Union.

Resolved, That the "peculiar plan" originated and persisted in by the President and his Cabinet, will not have the effect of promoting harmony and concord, but leaves the Territorial questions unsettled, the door of agitation wide open, and the Union still involved in excitement and peril.

Resolved, That this continued persistence of President Taylor and his Cabinet in his "peculiar plan," is one out of many violations of his pledge given before his election—a direct and unwarranted interference with and an attempt to forestall the action of Congress; and is not in accordance with the proper duty of an American Executive.

Resolved, That the Missouri Compromise, known as the Missouri Compromise, was adopted in a spirit of mutual concession and conciliation; and though the South feels that it detracts from her Constitutional rights, yet for love of the Union, this Convention is willing to abide by it, and would cheerfully see all the distracting questions settled on the basis.

Resolved, That an amendment to the Constitution of this State ought to be made, abolishing the land qualification for electors of Senators; and that the people ought to be permitted to elect the Judges for a term of years.

Resolved, That we have undiminished confidence in the ability, integrity, and sound principles of the Hon. David S. Reid, of the county of Rockingham; that his self-sacrifice and devotion to the cause in the canvass of 1848, deserves our highest praise and warmest thanks; and we hereby again unanimously recommend him to the people as a proper candidate for the office of Governor of North Carolina at the ensuing election.

The Resolutions were read one by one, and unanimously adopted amid loud and prolonged applause. Gen. Saunders was then called upon from all parts of the House, and he came forward and addressed the Convention for more than an hour in a most able, afffective, and eloquent manner.

Resolved, as the opinion of this Convention, That the Slavery question is one of principle, and not of party; that the rights of the South are to be maintained, and the Constitution and the Union of the States preserved; and in the language of Mr Jefferson, "if there be any amongst us who would wish to dissolve this Union, or to change its Republican forms, let them stand as monuments of the safety with which error of opinion may be tolerated where reason is left free to combat it."

The Hon. Green W. Caldwell was called on and spoke briefly, expressing his cordial approval of the Resolutions and the action of the Convention.

On motion it was resolved, that the Eyingid officers of this Convention communicate to the Hon. David S. Reid his unanimous nomination for the office of Governor, and express to him in behalf of all the members of this body their request that he accept said nomination.

On motion of Mr Shepherd, of Cumberland, it was ordered that the usual Democratic State Committee be appointed, two from each Congressional District, upon the suggestion of names by the Delegates from the respective Districts.

spoke for upwards of an hour, with his accustomed warmth, clearness, and ability. In response to a call, Mr Shepherd, of Cumberland, addressed the Convention briefly, but able and effectively.

On motion of Mr Dick, the thanks of the Convention were unanimously tendered to Gen. Saunders, for the very able and eloquent speech with which he had favored this body.

The following Resolution, introduced by Gen. Saunders, was unanimously adopted: Resolved, That the thanks of this Convention are due and are hereby tendered to the President, Vice Presidents, and Secretaries of the Convention for their able and faithful discharge of duty; and also to the Committee on Resolutions in the admirable and very satisfactory manner in which they have performed the task assigned them.

The President of the Convention then rose, and spoke in animating and eloquent terms of the prospects of the party, and of confidence with which they would enter upon the pending campaign.

Col. Biggs, in rising to move an adjournment sine die, took occasion to say to those in the opposite party, who counted on divisions among the Democrats, that they would be disappointed; that the Democrats, in all portions of the State, would rally as one man to the support of Col. Reid.

From the Charleston Mercury June 12. LATER FROM HAVANA. The United States Mail Steamer Isabel, Captain Rollins, arrived from Havana yesterday morning...

The officers, crews, and passengers of the American vessels still remain in close confinement. Efforts have been made by torture to extort confessions from the captains of the Georgian and Susan Loud, but in vain.

The American Consul was peremptorily refused all access to or communication with the prisoners. To give a color, however, to the proceedings of the Court, the presence of the British Consul was invited.

The chief Engineer of the Matanzas and Savanillo Railroad died suddenly at Havana, and it is supposed by poison, but there is no doubt that his death was occasioned by over excitement and perplexity consequent upon the invasion at Cardenas.

Additional news from Havana. It may be interesting to your readers to learn that we are daily looking for another invasion. Yesterday the Schooner Fairy arrived here from New Orleans, and brings a report that the steamer Fanny was to leave that city on the 1st inst. with 700 men for Cuba.

COFFEE FOR WEAK STOMACHS.—A correspondent sends the following, being the result of experience: Those who are not able to bear much liquid should adopt the following method: Place a quarter of a pound of ground coffee in a jug, pour a pint of cold spring water thereon, and let it stand twenty-four hours; then strain off the clear extract, which preserve in a well corked bottle.

A rain in Murcia, Spain, has excited more attention than a revolution would have done, probably. After a drought of five years, this hapless province was visited on the 8th of May, by a copious rain. It was curious to see the young children, who had never seen it rain in their lives, evince as much alarm as if a frightful accident had happened.

HOLDING A CORPSE FOR DEBT.—A young man, a stranger, died at a boarding house in New York, the other day, and the boarders contributed sufficient money to bury him. The Tribune says: The man of the house sent for the coffin, at his own request, and got one worth $4 or $5, for which he charged $12.

The steamer Saranac, Commander Tattall, left here on the 30th ult. with despatches for the Government at Washington, informing it of the state of affairs, and forsooth we hear of him at Key West on the 3d inst giving a ball, and reciprocating the attentions of the citizens there.

While I am writing these lines the prize bark Georgian and bark Susan Loud are boldly running into port, showing no colors, even while under the guns of the sloops of war Albany and Germantown, which have this morning re-appeared off our harbor.
