

Wm. H. Bayne, Editor and Proprietor.

FAYETTEVILLE, N. C. JUNE 7, 1851.

Seventh Congressional District. FOR CONGRESS, WM. S. ASHE.

NOTICE .- The editor of the Carolinian will be absent from Fayetteville for a few weeks, during which time, the foreman, Mr Wm. J. Yates, will attend to the conduct of the paper, and the business transactions of the office. Should any friend of the editor have time and inclination to assist Mr Yates in giving interest to the paper, the favor will be gratefully acknowledged.

The editor expects to have a severe struggle with old Neptune, (in the way of sea-sickness) but if he should not be too badly used, he will furnish the usual letters.

EXECUTION OF DAMON.

Damon, the negro who killed his master, Tilghman Hunt, suffered the penalty of the law, by hanging, on yesterday. He was attended from the prison by the Rev. A. Gilchrist, Rev. J. H. Wheeler, Rev. J. Depo, and the Sheriff, Alex. Johnson, Esq., with his Deputies, escorted by the Fayetteville Riflemen to the place of execution. On ascending the gallows, Rev Mr Wheeler gave out a hymn, which was sung, assisted by

The Sheriff then read the death warrant, and after bidding the criminal farewell, descendedfrom the gallows, and soon after let the trap fall and the criminal was hurried to eternity.

On the evening previous to the execution, the criminal expressed his thanks and gratitude to the jailor, Wm. L. Callais, for his attention and kind treatment.

PLANK ROAD TO RALEIGH

A preliminary meeting of the stockholders of the Fayetteville & northern plank road (that is the Raleigh road) the various places were handed in, containing many and large conditional subscriptions-for instance, some of the subscriptions in Fayetteville were conditioned that should enough be subscribed to build the road to Raleigh, they were to be absolute; and at various other points conditions were attached. Only about $3000 were absolute,

There were two parties represented in the meeting-one wishing the road to pass west of the Cape Fear and cross at McNeill's Ferry, the other wanted it to cross near Judge Strange's and pass up on the east side of the River. The Commissioners pledged themselves (the absolute stockholders agreeing) that if an amount exceeding $17.000 was now made absolute, they would close the books and continue them closed until opened by a vote of the stockholders. Joel Williams, Esq. then subscribed absolutely $17,000, and the books were accordingly closed, and a general meeting of the stockholders called on the 28th inst. to elect officers. &c., (as will be seen by an advertise-ment in another column.) The Road will therefore go to Releigh on the east side of the Cape Fear.

THE RALEIGH ROUTE Under the new contract.

On the first of July coming, the carriage of the mails by the new contractors commences. The contract between Fayetteville and Raleigh, we are gratified to know, has been taken by a Fayetteville man, Mr Murdoch McKinnon. This is the first time in the memory of the oldest inhabitant, that such has been the case. We hope Mr McKinnon will realize a reasonable profit. He is a man of enterprise and industry, and is the more deserving of encouragement from having made all he has by his own efforts, commencing, as he did, a poor boy.

Mr McKinnon will put good coaches on the line; he will reduce the fare to Raleigh from five to four dollars; and he will no doubt exert himself to make the staging comfortable and agree-

A "MEAN" MAN'S OPINION.

The editor (senior editor we presume) of the Fayetteville Observer is of opinion that it was 'rather mean" in the editor of the Carolinian to publish three lines of Mr Webster's speech (as we did last week) and not publish a few lines more that would have entirely contradicted the three lines we published! For while in the three lines he "regretted the existence of slavery, and regretted Congress had not the power to act upon it," or abolish it! and prayed for "some dispensation of Providence to remedy it!" he in the next breath declared that he "holds on to the Constitution of the United States," and will maintain the rights of the south to the utmost of his power!

A man with one eye can see the inconsistency of these positions.

And what has led Daniel Webster into this inconsistency? OF The distant view (to him apparently brightening) of the Presidential chair !

This is the whole secret of the game Daniel Webster has been playing for the last 12 months. And the Washington Union, the democratic organ, has been duped into a free use of its columns for eulogizing him, and publishing his speeches. It could see nobody-hear nobodypraise nobody, but Daniel Webster. And Henry Clay was the bosom companion and secret counsellor of the dotard editor Ritchie! and we fear the present editor is falling into the same snare.

These are facts; and it is also a fact that Ma Webster is seeking the Presidency.

We firmly believe (we may say we know) Mr Webster to be a deceitful, designing, corrupt politician. And looking at his past life, public and private, we cannot have any faith in him, even if he did not blow hot and cold in the very peech from which we quoted.

God help the slaveholders when they have no one to uphold their rights but Danl. Webster.

In fact the whole troop of politicians (those who are looking for and courting national preferment) now find they have such difficult parts to perform, that when they make a speech they remind us of the man in the play making love to two damsels-his face is alternately turned to each as he vows to them warm and eternal affection. Such a state of things must prove deceptive, and somebody must be cheated. Such a state of things cannot last long, and God forbid

Now we have given the "mean" man's opinion of our treatment of Mr Webster, and we can say to him in all sincerity, it suits us better that such is his opinion than if he had said we acted "rather" noble.

will of a dog than his ill will, but there are exceptions to all rules.

PROTESTANT EPISCOPAL CONVENTION

This body adjourned on Monday last, in the afternoon, after a stormy session of five days,

A committee had been appointed last year to nquire into the conduct of the Bishop in regard to the promulgation of a pastoral letter and other writings and teachings in which he went clear over to Pusevism; amounting to an authoritative infusion of certain Roman Catholic doctrine into the Protestant Episcopal faith.

Near about the first business in order in th Convention, was the disposal of the report of this committee. On its presentation, a motion was made by Mr Mallett to dispense with the reading of the report, and re-commit it to a committee of laymen and 6 clergymen, with authority to have a conference with the Bishop, and to report to the Convention. On this question an animated discussion ensued, and on a call of the question by orders and by churches, the Ministers sustained the motion by a large majority, and the churches being equally divided, both orders not concurring, the motion was lost. After various mo tions to adjourn-to take a recess, &c .- the reading of the report was about to commence, when a motion was made to clear the house of all except members of the Convention, and close the doors. To this great objection was made, and gave umbrage particularly to the spectators, some of whom, on the adoption of the motion, were so discourteous as to hiss.

Dr F J Hill gave notice that he would, at the first opportunity, introduce a resolution declaring that at all future meetings of the Convention they should sit with open doors, and "all the world" be invited to attend, and on this motion he intended to call for a vote by orders and by churches, to see who was for sitting in secret the northern men will hold on, if they

The audience were then excluded and the doors closed for the night. On the next morn-Convention proceed in the case.

The Bishop appeared before the committee and made, in writing, a thorough and humiliating recantation of all his writings and teachings, including a private letter to Rev. C. F. McRae. He stated that owing to the peculiar state of his mind, which was occasioned either from sickness or constitutional infirmity, he was led away into opinions which, upon re-examination, he wondered he ever entertained-that this change of opinion he thinks is caused by a return of better health of body and mind.

in the case. During the discussion of the report, it seemed generally to have been admitted how he can possibly decide otherwise. that the Bishop's mind had been impaired, but his friends now claim his entire sanity. It was of rowdies, while on parade, on the 26th ult. stated that the Bishop's father died insane, and that he now has a brother in a state of insanity. Some of the members went so far as to say that they did not think the Bishop had been amenable to the laws of the Church for a considerable length of time prior to the last Convention at Elizabeth City. The report also contained other matter, but not of public interest.

Mr Badger offered a resolution stating that the Bishop had lost the confidence of the Diocese and requesting him to resign, which Judge Strange moved to amend by striking out the request to resign, and expressing the opinion that an Assistant Bishop ought to be appointed, which was accepted by Mr Badger.

At a subsequent stage of the business, the re solution was withdrawn, and some satisfactory the appointment of Attorney General .arrangement made. The Bishop appeared before Raleigh Standard-

PATENT LEATHER SHOES.

As this kind of shoe is coming very much into use, we can give those who wear them a useful word on the subject. A little oil rubbed on with the finger about once a week, and rubbed off with a piece of rag, will keep a gloss upon the shoe-prevent its cracking so soon as otherwise. and prevent the bad effect of water spilled on it. Be careful to get none of the oil on the cloth, where the shoe is a gaiter with cloth. A mixture of three parts hog's lard, and one part rosin, melted together, is better than common oil.

CHANGE OF COSTUME. We see that a large number of papers are noticing the appearance in some of the northern towns, of women in short frocks and gathered pantalettes. And some of these papers are silly enough to call the dress "decidedly pretty," and to indulge the belief that it is rapidly becoming the fashion.

But a very few of these novelties have appeared, and there is not the slightest ground to suppose that they will become "the fashion."

THE TRUE PLAN OF EDUCATION.

We have condemned for the last fifteen years the present bungling--never-to-be-learnt--orthography of the English language. And we have advocated ever since we became acquainted with it, the plan known for the last ten years as "Phonotypy" In other words, the plan of having but one sound to each character or letter of the language. Instead of a having four sounds, let it have but one.

This system is progressing slowly, and we trust surely, to universal adoption.

The following evidence of its superiority over the present system is furnished by a practical demonstration in the New England States-the seat of education:

PHONOTYPY. - A School of children has recently been taught in Boston in a manner which is exciting a great deal of inwho were of the proper age to learn to months longer, at the end of which time a shock .- Alamance Democrat. public exhibition of the school was given. It was attended numerously by the parents of the children, the teachers of the public schools and the friends of education generally, and the fact appeared to be that and after placing Bishop Ives in a rather ridicul- those children taught in this manner had jumped entirely that tedious period of youthful trial in learning to read, and that they were able to read any English book with as much facility as children taught in the ordinary way after two or three years; beside which the little things had, during the same period, learned to read phonetic short-hand, to analyze words, and to prenounce with great accuracy. So remarkable an improvement in education naturally fixed the attention of the public, which called for additional exhibitions, and the crowds attending them have continued to increase. The last of nine of these public exhibitions was given in the State House before the Governor, Senate, Council and State Board of Education, and ended in a unanimous recommendation on the part of the Board of Education of the introduction of Phonotypy into the Schools of the State as a greatly superior method of teaching children to read ordinary books.

THE HUMBUG EXPOSED.

An investigation in regard to "Spiritual Rappngs" at Rochester, N. Y., has produced, among other things, the following evidence, which explodes the whole humbug of two years standing:

After 1 had obtained the whole secret, I plainly told Catharine that my only object was to find out how these tricks were done, and that I should never go any farther in this imposition. She was very much frightened, and said that she believed that I meant to tell it, and expose them; and if I did, she would swear it was a lie. She was so nervous and excited that I had to sleep with her that night. When she was instructing me how to be a medium, she told me how frightened they used to get in New-York for fear somebody would detect them, and gave me the whole history of all the tricks they played upon the people there. She said that once Margaretta spoke aloud, and the whole party believed it was a spirit.
