DESTINY OF THE IRISH.

THE NORTH CAROLINIAN

In a recent number of the National Intelligen cer, an interesting article is copied from the London Times of Sept. 30th, concerning a visit lately made to Ireland by our Minister to Eng land, Hon. On the 23d of October, Kossuth arrived at Southampton. He was received with an enthusiastic welcome. The Mayor of Southampton, on behalf of the corporation, presented an address, to which Ko suth responded in an eloquent manner, complimenting England and America, her younger brother, as he terms our country. The following passage from his speech foreshadows the course of action which he has in view :

"I hope the Almighty may grant me, before I leave this country and cross the ocean to go party in that State was exactly the reverse. In to that young giant, the younger brother of this mighty race, to thank him for his generous protection which he has bestowed, and to entreat his fatherly hand for the future of Europe -I hope before I leave this country, to see in currence to them it will be found that the sefull activity, and spread over the whole of these ries of resolutions passed by the democratic conglorious isles, some of those mighty associations by which you carry triumphantly every reform, every great principle in this country.'
