JUST PUBLISHED. T. B. WELCH'S MAGNIFICENT PORTRAIT OF WASHINGTON.

This superb picture. Engraved under the superinten-dence of THO MAS SULLY, Esq., the eminent and highly gifted artist, is the only correct likeness of Washington ever published. It has been characterised as the greatest work of art ever produced in this country. As to its fidelity, we refer to the letters of the adopted son of Washington. GEORGE WASHINGTON PARK CUSTIS. who says. "it is a faithful representation of the celebrated original." and to CHIEF JUSTICE TANEY of the Supreme Court of the United States. who says. "As a work of art its excellence and beauty must strike every one who sees it; and it is no less happy in its likeness to the bather of his country. It was my good fortune to have seen him in the days of my boyhood, and his whole appearance is yet strongly impressed on my memory. The portrait you have issued appears to me to be an exact likeness representing perfectly the expression as well as the form and features of the face." And say SENATOR CASS, it is a life-like representation of the great original PRESIDENT FILL MORE says, "the work appears to me to have been admirably executed and eminently worthy of the patronage of the public." Says of Stuart. your print to my mind is more remarkable than any other I have seen, for presenting the whole individuality of the original portrait, together with the noble and dignified repose of air and manner, which all who ever saw him considered a marked characteristic of the illustrious man it commemorates."

For the great merits of this picture we would refer every lover of Washington to the portrait itself, to be seen at the office of this paper, and to the letters of the following Artists. Statesmen, Jurists and Scholars accompany. ing it.

BAD NEWS FROM ABOVE. - We learn hat a portion of the Lock at Jones' Falls, about 8 miles above Favetteville, was swept away very recently, and that the keeper, Mr I. N. Clegg, was drowned. It is also stated that the produce from above cannot pass through until the completion of the repairs, which will not be until some time next summer - Bilmington Herald.

It was Mr Champion, the Superintendent of he works, that was drowned, and not her Clegg.

A PEEP AT GUANO WHERE GATHERED. Having anchored between the north and middle island, at the latter of which we are to load, we will borrow the boat and have a closer look at the huge muck heap-Putting half around the island the landing place, we step ashore on a narrow strip of andy beach which appears to be cleared from the surrounding rocks for our especial convenience. Our appearance disturbs thousands of the web footed natives; these thousands count with the old hands as nothing, for they tell us that the shipping have driven all the birds away. Sailing above us is a flock of pelicans, hovering over the clear water like hawks. which they resemble in their mode of darting down or stooping on their prev. One of these, every instant, drops from the flock as though a ball had whistled through his brain, but after a plunge he is soon seen rising to the surface with a fish struggling in his capacious pouch.

Nearer to us, whirling round our heads. are ganners, mews, mutton-birds, divers, gulls, guano birds, and a host of others whose names are unknown to the vulgar. On the detached rocks and the lower edge of the island-member of a pretty numer. ous convocation-stands the penguin, the parson bird of the sailor, whose good name s fairly earned by his cut away black coat, white tie, and solemn demeanor. His short legs planted far back, and his long body, do not fit him for a walk ashore but he will sit for hours on a little rock just washed by the waves, apparently in such deep absence of mind, the passers by are tempted to approach, in the hope of catching him. Just as the boat nears him, and hand already out to grasp his neck, away he goes, head over heels, in a most irrev erent and ridiculous manner, dives under the boat, and shows his head about a quarter of of a mile out at sea, where the sailor may catch him who can, for he is ders, large or small, in New York, Boston and the fastest swimer and best diver that ever

Stepping over the mortal remains of sev eral sea lions, in a few strides we were on the guano and at the next step in it up to our knees. The guano is regularly stratified; the lower strata are solidified by the weight of the upper, and have acquired a dark red color, which becomes gradually lighter towards the surface. On the surface it has a whitey brown light crust containing eggs, being completely honey combed by the birds, which scratch oblique holes into it to serve as nests, wherein eggs, seldom more than two to each nest, are deposited. The holes are often running into each other, form long galleries with several enparticularly those debts due me before the 1st trances, and this mining system is so elaborately carried out, that you can scarcely put a foot on any part of the islands without sinking to the knee and being tickled with a sense of a hard beak digging into your unprotected ankles. The egg shells, and the bones and remains of fish brought up by the old birds for the young, must form a considerable part of the substance of the guano, which is thus in a great measure deposited beneath the surface, and then thrown out by the bird .- Dickens' Household Words

> ANOTHER -- As a collision between Steam Boats had taken place down the River on Wednesday afternoon, so to keep the balance true, another collision occurred up the River on Wednesday night. The steamer Chatham's tow boat came in contact with the Southern, but of the damage to either boat we are not advised, nor whether any body was to blame or whether it was one of those "unavoidable accidents." MERCHANTS LOOK OUT!

"Twenty-four Pesters all in a Row." On Monday morning last, twenty-four Irish pedlers left this place, en-route for Anson county, N. Carolina, with their packs on their backs. We understand that they are well supplied with an assorted stock of goods, consisting of silks, laces, muslins, linens, &c., &c., which they will, no doubt, endeavor to dispose of without the usual taxes levied on merchants and regular pediers. It therefore behooves those who pay taxes for the privilege of selling goods, to keep a sharp look out for these characters. Whent ance in this neighborhood, it was to well a little linnen, the produce of their own hands, to supply the dear wife and children with potatoes, or to remove them to this "blessed countbry;" and their pitiful tales excited sympathy enough in their behalf, to enable them to do a good business. This fact added to their number. until the whole country is overrun with

It may not be generally known, but nevertheless, such is the fact, that the business is systematically prosecuted. not only by these foot-pads, but by men of wealth. In New York there are several large establishments, which import all the goods, smuggling in as many as possible. These establishments send out the foot pads all over the country to retail the goods, in direct violation of law .-Hence their ability to under-sell the honest dealer, who pays the duties and taxes. The system has grown, until it has become a serious evil, and should be put a stop to. We do not doubt there are many who, for the sake of getting bargains, will buy of these men, and keep their secret; but a very little effort on the part those whose interests are most effected, will arrest the evil.

It is possible these men may be abolition emmissaries, and that they may be as intently sowing the seeds of incendiarism. as upon selling their goods. - Cheraw

EMIGRANTS FOR LIBERIA. - We learn from the Secretary of the American Colonization Society that the steamboat Favetteville, which was chartered for the purpose, received on board on the 22d ult., 150 emigrants for Liberia, who were transferred at Smithville to the barque Joseph Maxwell, which had been chartered and fitted out at Baltimore. Of these emigrants, 71 were from Favetteville and vicinity; 13 from Chapel Hill; 12 from Cabarrus county; 9 from Wilmington, 2 from Newbern-making 107 from North Carolina. Of the remaining 43, 36 were from South Carolina, and 7 from Georgia. Of the whole number, 128 were free born; 2 purchased their own freedom, and 20 were emancipated. One hundred and seven of the company were over twelve years of age; the other forty-three were under twelve years. Eighty of the company were males and seventy females.

The Joseph Maxwell, will proceed directly to Monrovia, where the emigrants are to be landed. They are all to be located in the settlement of Millsburg and the vicinity on the St Paul's river. We learn that another company of about two bundled emigrants are to sail for Liberia from Norfolk on or about the 25th inst. About fifty of that company are from Virginia. A third vessel for Liberia will sail from Baltimore about the same time with a company of about filty emigrants, under the auspices of the Maryland State Colonization Society. These will be located in the Colony of Maryland, in Liberia. - Wil. Commercial.

A WESTERN JUDGE - The following well authenticated incident is said to have occured in a magistrate's office not a thousand miles from Cincinnati:

The said office was about twelve by fifteen feet. Across one corner of the room was a slender pine picket fence, that separated the dignitary from the applicants for justice, and the rabble of lookers on. At a small desk thus enclosed, sat the dis penser of the mighty law. During a trial Something must be done to put a stop to for some trivial amount, the defendant thought he was agrieved by some remarks of the magistrate, and plumply told his honor that he lied! Magisterial, as well offended; and the squire told him that he was his candid opinion, and that he could not and would not take it back.

Quicker than the lightning's flash, the Squire was on his feet, his brass bowed spectacles were thrown on the little desk. and in a voice of thunder he exclaimed-
