A. J. WOODWARD returns his thanks to the public for the unprecedented encouragement he has met with in the manufacture and sale of his celebrated Polish, and at the same time wishes it understood that he always keeps a supply on hand for wholesale or retail.
Experience has proved that this Polish is unsurpassed for quickness in putting a gloss on boots and shoes, and also in preserving the leather.
Persons wishing to oil their boots can use this Polish with equal success immediately afterwards: the leather should be rubbed as soon as the Polish is applied, before it dries.

THE NORTH-CAROLINIAN, Fayetteville, N. C.
COUNCIL OF STATE.
The Council of State met in Raleigh on the 17th ult., pursuant to notification by His Excellency, Gov. Rehn. All the members were in attendance as follows:
Perrin Busbee, of Wake; Columbus Mills, of Rutherford; Archibald Henderson, of Rowan; Wilson S. Hill, Sr., of Guilford; William S. Springs, of Orange; William K. Lane, of Wayne; R. S. French, of Robeson.
Mr Busbee was chosen President of the Council.
We learn that the following appointments were made by the Governor and Council, to wit: Calvin Graves, of Caswell, and Thomas Biagg, of Northampton, members of the Internal Improvement Board; and Andrew L. Chesson, of Washington County, and Alfred Jones and William W. Holden, of Wake County, members of the Literary Board.
Willis Whitaker, of Wake, and John D. Starr, of Cumberland, Commissioners of the Lunatic Asylum, in place of Drs. Watson and Cameron, deceased.—Raleigh Standard.

INDIAN TROUBLES IN FLORIDA.—A few days since it was stated that Governor Brown, of Florida, had vetoed the bill to provide for the final removal of the Indians of Florida, and for other purposes, which passed the Senate January 11, and the house January 12. It appears that the bill was reconsidered by both houses and passed again, notwithstanding the Governor's veto, by the requisite constitutional majority, and has accordingly become a law. The assembly proceeded to elect the commanding officer of the brigade of State troops provided to be raised in this act, and Major A. G. Johnson, of Hamilton, receiving 34 votes out of 43, all the others being blank, was elected. The Floridian says: "The Governor will proceed at once to raise the regiments to compose the brigade, and tender them to the federal government, according to the requirements of the law, so that in case the United States refuse to comply with their obligations to undertake to remove the Indians by the 31st of July next, the State may be in readiness to do the business herself."—N. Y. Express.

CONSUMPTION.—Two or three years ago, says the Scientific American, experiments were made by members of the London Faculty of Physicians in different hospitals, for the cure of diseases of the lungs, by breathing in warm medicated vapors. The success of the experiment was so gratifying that an institution, Brompton Hospital, for the cure of consumption, was immediately established, and so favorable has been the result of the treatment, that the number of patients admitted during the past year is between two and three thousand, and the hospital report shows that full seventy-five in every hundred have been completely cured.

SOUTH CAROLINA GOLD.—During the month of January, eight hands employed in the mine of Mr. Wm. Dorne, in Abbeville and Edgefield districts, S. C., took out $19,000 worth of gold, and during twenty and a half days in December they secured $20,500 worth. The aggregate yield of gold since the commencement of work in the mine, about 10 months ago, has been upwards of $200,000.

A NEW RAILROAD IMPROVEMENT.—From the daily working of a model engine and railroad in the rotundo of the Capitol, it seems to be very generally agreed that this invention is destined to work a wonderful change in railroads. It is the plan of James S. French, of Virginia, by which, using the driving axle of the engine for a fulcrum, he gives to the engine unlimited adhesion and graduates the required quantity to a pound. The facility with which this is produced, or entirely thrown off, the engine then differing in no way from those on the common plan, in the great feature of the invention; and the means by which it is done is among the most simple of all mechanical contrivances.
The effective power of the present locomotive engine is limited by its weight; on Mr French's plan it is limited by its capacity to generate steam, and is always ready to work up to that capacity. Possessing a certain supply of adhesion at all times, and it being almost impossible for the machinery to get off the track, it not only renders practical, certain, and easy, the working of grades never before thought of, but must lead to the introduction of far cheaper roads, and far lighter machinery, even to railroads not exceeding in cost the common plank road.
This invention is conceded to be entirely original, and is remarkable for its simplicity. It meets with great favor, and attracts great attention. The most practical and scientific men in both houses of Congress have pronounced in its favor; the practical men of the North were the first to give it their unequalled approbation.—Washington Union

Gen. Pierce being expected to arrive at the city of New York in the latter part of last week, the Common Council made arrangements for his reception, which were communicated to him by its Clerk. The following is Gen. Pierce's reply declining the proposed reception:
CONCORD, (N. H.) Feb. 5, 1853.
My Dear Sir: I had the honor to receive your letter of the 4th instant, and with it a copy of the proceedings of the city authorities of New York, inviting me to accept the hospitality of the city, on my way to the seat of Government. I beg you to communicate to the Mayor, and the coordinate branches of the City Government, for their marked kindness and proffered hospitality, my grateful acknowledgments.
Under these circumstances it would have been extremely pleasant to avail myself of the opportunity graciously tendered to exchange salutations with the citizens of the great emporium of our country, and to thank them for the decided manifestations of partial judgment with which but a few weeks since, they were pleased to honor me. But, with a weight at my heart which has well nigh disqualified me for the discharge of pressing duties connected with their interests, I am sure they will hardly expect my consent to any thing like a public reception on my way to Washington. Suffering to some extent from the want of usual health and elasticity, I need repose, and I have full confidence that my friends will considerately accord to me, as far as practicable, seclusion.
With much respect, your obt' serv't

PRESENTS TO GEN. PIERCE—DESCRIPTION OF HIS INAUGURAL SUIT.
The Concord correspondent of the New York Herald, says:
Some of Gen. Pierce's liberal personal friends in New England seem determined that he shall go to the White House handsomely equipped, albeit he is as modest and unpretending in his habits of living as the average of "mankind in general." The Bostonians appear to be rivaling with their friends in New York, and some friends in that city will present him with an elegant coach and span of horses on the 21st inst. I learn that others are now preparing to donate an elegant suit of clothes, to be completed on Thursday of the present week. A friend who has obtained a peep at the programme der integuments has furnished me with a description, which I shall transcribe for the Herald and the edification of the "ton" in New York and Paris. The suit consists of six garments as follows:—
1. The fine black dress coat, made from the same cloth which took the premium at the last World's Fair in London. Coat superbly lined with satin dechene, linings also of satin. Style about a medium between the gravity of age and the loppety of "upper-tendom."
2. Undress waistcoat of plain black silk; back of satin dechene, and lined throughout with white satin.
3. Full-dress vest of plain white silk, back and lining of white satin. On the satin lining of the right side are thirty-one stars, representing the States of the Union, forming a circle, wrought in silver. Within this circle of stars is the Anchor of Hope, worked in gold. Outside of all is an endless circle. Translation of these emblems:—"In the Union of the States is our only hope. God watches over the republic—eternal be its duration!" On the opposite of the white satin lining is wrought a chaplet of bay leaves, tied at the bottom with a golden knot, outside of which is another circle of gold.
4. Pants of plain black doeskin of the finest material that can be procured.
5. Undress pants of a plain black, very fine silk and wool mixture.
6. Overcoat of plain black, superbly lined, and made in the form of a surtout.
This suit is being manufactured by Mr H. E. Armstrong, Washington street, Boston, a gentleman who is to the tailoring art what Greenough was among sculptors. The embroidery is being executed by a lady of that city. It is intended that the suit shall be the finest specimen ever manufactured in America.

STEAM BOATS.
From a list of Steam Boats owned by the principal cities of the Union which we see going the rounds of the papers, we observe that Wilmington is put down as owning 15, and is surpassed by only four seaboard cities in the South, viz: New Orleans 111, Mobile 78, Savannah 27, Baltimore 34. Wilmington, though, is not correctly reported as she has 20 Boats now plying to and from her port, and 2 others not yet ready for service. We are gratified to observe her position so favorable, being considerable ahead of her sister Charleston, which has six times her population. This fact shows the desire as well as the capacity of Wilmington to do an increased transporting business, which is mostly carried on up and down the Cape Fear, thereby rendering the despatch of all goods which our back country friends should wish to receive through or from her certainly reliable.—Wil Herald.
