$25 REWARD.

On the 1st day of January, 1853, I hired a boy named Robert to John A. Williams, Esq., some time in Feby following he left Mr. Williams, and had reason to believe he had been a slave in the neighborhood of Fayetteville, but now I believe he has been sold to a man named Sam Bellamy. Said boy is a black complexion, is between 13 and 14 years old, quite active good looking little fellow, and no doubt can tell a very plausible tale. I will give the above reward to any persons delivering or confining him in any jail, so that I get him again, or $25 if arrested out of the State so that I get him again. JAS. S. ANNS, Guardian.

March 11, 1854.

FIFTY DOLLARS REWARD.

The above reward will be given to any person who will deliver to me any negro woman, Anna, who absconded about the 11th of November last, or for her confinement in any jail in the State so that I can get her again. Said negro is of bright mulatto complexion, speaks clearly and more properly than negroes usually do, and is extremely fond of society. It is supposed she is lurking about the vicinity of Fayetteville, aided by the celebrated Simon Blue of hatching notoriety. She may attempt to pass as a free person among the numerous free mulattos about Fayetteville.

The lot contains one acre of land; the buildings are adapted to the purpose of a Store, and suitable for a family to live in. The location is healthy and the water excellent. Interesting Sketches of Rich Men.

BY VINCENT VOLTE.

New Orleans in 1806—McDonough, the Mil- lionaire.—The great part of the then existing population was of French origin. In the city itself the French numbered at least three-fifths of the inhabitants; one other fifth was of Spanish race, and another Americans, among whom were some Germans. The city numbered about 16,600 souls, of whom one-third were people of color and slaves. The mercantile class was made up of four or five French establishments, springing from the neighborhood of the Garonne, and founded during the continuance of the French rule; three Scotch counting-houses, one German concern, and eight or ten commission-houses, lately opened by young American merchants from New York, Philadelphia and Baltimore. The traces of this class, who carried on the early business of New Orleans under the new regime, are now limited to the sugar-planter

Shepherd, who is still living, and now very wealthy, and to the still more opulent Mr W.

M. Montgomery, formerly wholesale grocer, and now the owner of a large portion of
