October 1, 1854.

All sorts of ladies' fixing thrill my feelings as they'd orter, But little female gaiter boots are death, and nothing shorter! And just to put you on your guard, PH give you short and brief, A small hotel experience Which filled my heart with grief.

Last Summer, at the Clarendon. I stopped a week or more. And marked "two boot-ies" every morn Before my neighbor's door-

Two boots with patent leather tips-Two boots which seemed to say: "An angel trots around in us;" They stole my heart away!

I saw the servant take 'em off. With those of all the brutes-His soul was all in sixpences, But mine was in the boots. And often in my nightly dreams They swept before my face-

A lady growing out of them As flowers grow from a vase. But, ah! one morn I saw a sight Which struck me like a stone; Some other name was on the boots-Those boots were not alone! A great, tall, pair of other boots Were standing by their side;

And off they walked that afternoon And with them walked a-bride! Enough, enough, my song is sung-Love's tree bears bitter fruits; Beware of beauty-reader mind, But, oh! beware of boots!

PIFTY DOLLARS REWARD. The above reward will be given to any person who will deliver to me my negro woman ANNA, who absconded about the 11th of November last, or for her confinement in any jail in this State so that I can get her again. Said negro is of bright mulatto complexion, speaks clearly and more properly than negroes usually do, and is rather below the medium size. It is supposed that she is lurking about the vicinity of Fayetteville, aided by the celebrated Simon Blue of harboring notoriety. She may attempt to pass as a
