

NORTH-CAROLINIAN.

FAYETTEVILLE, N. C.

Saturday, June 2, 1855.

FOR CONGRESS.

HON. WARREN WINSLOW, OF CUMBERLAND.

Virginia Election.

The returns from Virginia show a glorious triumph for the Democracy over the secret party. Henry A. Wise is elected Governor by a majority of about 10,000—being a democratic gain since the last Governor's election of nearly 2,000.

The following members of Congress are elected, all democrats:

- 1 District—Thomas H. Bayly, John S. Millson, John S. Caske, William O. Goode, Thomas S. Bocoche, Pauli Rowell, William Smith, ind., Charles J. Faulkner, John Gletcher, Z. Kilwell, Fayette McMullen, H. A. Edmondson.

In the 11th Dist. the result is not ascertained, but it is believed that Mr Lewis, the democratic candidate is elected—thus making the whole Congress a delegation democratic. Mr Smith, in the 12th District, opposed Mr Wise, but disclaimed being a know-nothing. The Legislature is democratic throughout.

Well done Virginia! Good-bye know-nothingism—may your ashes be scattered to the four winds, that there may be neither name nor remembrance of your late existence.

"THE CAT OUT OF THE WALKER."—The Observer in noticing the movement in New York to reorganize the whig party, and after saying it is whig and desires to remain whig, says:

"Our sympathies, it is true, are with the American party, in the main, because that party is endeavoring to do a great service to the country by defeating Locofocoism. But still we stand by the Whig party and name."

Do democrats want any further evidence of the true objects of know-nothingism than the above. For months past we have been trying to convince those democrats who viewed the secret party with fear, that the whole tendency of the concern as whiggish, gotten up for the express purpose of defeating the democratic party. "That party [the know-nothing] is endeavoring to do a great service to the country by defeating Locofocoism," says the Fayetteville Observer. A candid admission! and one which we ask democrats to bear in mind.

LABOR LOST.—So important did the secret party of North Carolina view the result of the elections in Virginia, that it was deemed necessary to send two of its leaders into that State, Messrs Rayner and Miller, to help on the know-nothing movement, and they were successful. The Old Dominion has kept herself unsuspected, and staid the tide of fanaticism which was boasting predicted would sweep her from the seaboard to the mountains. Wise is triumphantly elected and Virginia is yet democratic out and out. "As Virginia goes so will go the South."

Mr Branch, the democratic nominee in the Wake District, accepts the nomination for Congress. He has resigned the Presidency of the Raleigh and Gaston Railroad.

NEW STEAMERS.—Two new steamers have been put upon the Cape Fear River recently. The "Scottish Chief" is the name of one, owned by John & James Banks—125 feet long, 18 feet beam, and draws 2 feet. She is fitted up for carrying passengers as well as freight, and cost about $13,000.

The "Magnolia" is the name of the other new boat, and is owned by our enterprising townsman, Thos. S. Luterloh, Esq. She, also, is intended to convey passengers between Fayetteville and Wilmington.

A Democratic Convention, held in the first Congressional District on the 21st ult. at Gatesville, nominated H. M. Shaw a candidate for re-election. His opponent is Col. Paine, Know-Nothing.

WELL SAID.—The N. Y. Journal of Commerce, (a central paper) speaking of the result in Virginia, uses the following language:

"The State where Know-Nothingism has most completely triumphed, is the State which has most discredited itself by Abolition madness and rebellion. How can it be expected that the South will throw itself into the embrace of such a party? We did at one time hope that Know-nothingism would pour oil upon the troubled waters of sectional strife—but we hope so no longer. It has shown its cloven feet too distinctly to be any longer trusted. If the country is to be saved from the dangers which threaten it, the Democratic party is undoubtedly the appointed medium. We are therefore not sorry, but glad, to see Old Virginia successfully breaking the tide which has already swept over so large a portion of the country."

There has been about 150,000 applications to the Pension Office for Bounty Land under the late act.

The merchants of Edenton have entered into the following pledge for the purpose of suppressing the liquor traffic in that town: "We the merchant of Edenton, convinced of the baneful effects of alcoholic liquors, do hereby pledge ourselves, each to the other, as gentlemen, to quit selling this pernicious article of trade, as soon as the stock on hand shall have been disposed of, keeping a small quantity of pure spirits for medicinal purposes only. May 9th, 1855."

We guess the demand for spirits for "medicinal purposes" will increase in Edenton.

MASONIC COLLEGE.—The Corner Stone of St. John's College at Oxford, N. C., is to be laid on the 25th inst. Rev. Leonidas S. Smith will deliver an address on the occasion.

VIRGINIA.—Some of the know-nothing papers are disposed to take comfort from the fact that Mr Wise's majority in Virginia falls short of the majority President Pierce received, which was 15,000. But it is not fair to compare the vote for Governor with the vote for President. If lina at the last Gubernatorial election, we could have shown large gains for our candidate, Gov. Bragg. We did not do this, but compared the last vote for Governor with the former one. So it is plain that the correct way to count the losses and gains in Virginia, is to compare Wise's majority with that of Gov. Johnson, the present incumbent. If this is done, it will be seen that the democratic majority is considerably increased. Our know-nothing friends are welcome to any comfort they may derive from this result.

THE UNION DEGREE HUMBUG.—Last week the Observer and Argus published, "by request," the third or what is termed the "Union degree" of the secret party. In another column we publish it without being requested to do so, accompanied with some remarks from the Standard. The whole concern is a piece of arrant humbuggery, intended to deceive southern people. In the first place the obligation is evasive and deceitful, and in the second, abolitionists can take it and still carry on a warfare against the South. The abolitionist at the North will contend that he is a better Union man than you are, because he is endeavoring to save the Union by abolishing slavery. Seward, Greeley, and other abolitionists and free-soilers, often talk about their love for the Union, and pass resolutions eulogizing it, but it is plain that their actions do not comport with their professions. Hence they may take this "Union degree" of the know-nothing order, and still pursue their former course, believing, or pretending to believe, that they are good Union men.

The Argus in speaking of our account of the "closing scene" at the meeting called for the benefit of Mr Reid, the know-nothing candidate, alludes to the attempt of W. McL. McKay to make himself heard on that occasion, and says:

"The first time we ever saw him he was standing up, about where he attempted to make himself heard the other night, pouring some hard licks on the democrats."

This is said for the purpose of taunting Mr McKay with having quit the whig party and joined the democratic. But we think Mr McKay's course and present position is more consistent and more enviable than that of the editor of the Argus. It is much better for a man to join the democratic party than to go over heart and hand to the secret party.

The reason why Mr McKay attempted to speak on the occasion alluded to, was to prevent the impression from being left on the minds of the audience that he was connected with the know-nothing party. The call was made for McKay, without naming any particular one, and as there was more than one of that name present, W. McL. McKay thought it due to himself and friends to let it be known publicly that he had no sympathies for the secret movement, to make which impression we have no doubt the call was made in the manner stated.

Know-Nothing papers have raised a great cry about removals at the Portsmouth Navy Yard, accusing the Administration of turning off laborers because they had joined the secret party. It all turns out to be gammon, as will be seen by the following statement from the Petersburg Democrat:

"The great to do about workmen having been removed at the Gosport Navy Yard, because of their political opinions, resolves itself, on enquiry, into the following facts:

- 1. Only four had been removed. 2. These were active Know-nothing "bosses," who for months had been using their positions to break down a party and an administration to whose forbearance and magnanimity they were indebted for retention in their positions. 3. These men, we learn on good authority, have been known to discharge Democrats under them from employment, and to fill their places with know-nothings, and this, for the reason of their respective politics alone. Who will say they ought not to have been ousted?"

The candidates for Congress in the fifth District, Messrs Kerr and Reade, had a discussion at Greensborough on the 24th ult. Mr Kerr warmly opposed the secret party, and Mr Reade advocated and defended it. The Patriot, which sides with Mr Reade, says the speeches of both gentlemen were able, interesting and eloquent, and the discussion was conducted with becoming courtesy.

"The Guardian," a temperance paper published at Greensborough, is against Mr Kerr, because, it says, he is opposed to the cause it has espoused.

In the Mountain District, Clingman's opponent, Mr Carmichael, it appears, was one of the committee on Propositions and Grievances that made the famous report to the last Legislature on the subject of the liquor traffic, and the Spirit of the Age says if that report embraces his sentiments, temperance men ought not to touch him with a forty foot pole.

THE SALAMANDER SAFE.—Mr E. Cleve, at Swift Creek, Craven County, N. C., testifies in the following manner as to the durability of this Safe:

"On Wednesday morning, May 16th, my Store and goods were entirely destroyed by fire. The Safe which contained my books and papers, some Bank bills and specie, although exposed to an intense heat for more than three hours, was drawn from the ruins and opened, but with some difficulty on account of the expansion of the bolts of the Lock, caused by the great heat to which it had been subjected. The contents, however, were found in a perfect state of preservation, with the exception of a slight injury to the backs of the books, and discolouring the Bank notes and specie, which was doubtless caused by the steam produced by the water thrown on the Safe after its removal from the fire."

Messrs D. & W. McLaurin, of this town, have a safe for the manufacturers of the above Safe, and will furnish those wishing to purchase.

The revolution in Mexico is represented by late news as progressing slowly.

LATEST FROM EUROPE.

Sebastopol still holding out.—Rumored dissensions in the British Government.—Cotton advanced. The steamer Pacific arrived at New York on Wednesday last with Liverpool dates to the 17th. Below we give an outline of the news:

changed, and there appears little prospect of capturing the place. The Russians made a sortie on the night of the 11th upon the advanced works of the left attack but were immediately repulsed with much loss.

A short truce was granted on the evening of 10th to allow the Russians to bury their dead in front of the Allies which had advanced under Gortschakoff.

On the night of the 24th a desperate affair came off between the Russians and the French. The Russians attempted to dig new rifle pits, but the French partially prevented them from so doing. At least two hundred French were placed hors du combat by the engagement.

A despatch from Canrobert, dated May 16th, says, we continue our works before Sebastopol every night. Various attempts on the part of the enemy have been made to smoke us out, and to annoy us by cannon flits and stink pots, all of which have but imperfectly succeeded. Gen. Canrobert has resigned the command of the French army in the Crimea. Continued ill health is the alleged cause.

A new manifesto of the Russian Czar orders another levy of twelve men in every thousand to be made in the provinces of the Western Provinces, and completed by the end of July.

Negotiations between Austria and the Western Powers were unchanged; but between Russia and Austria relations were more intimate. Pagan, Napoleon's attempted assassin, had been executed.

Rumors of dissensions in the British Cabinet continued to gain ground. Liverpool, May 19.—Cotton active with a speculative demand. It had advanced three sixteenths. Breadstuffs quiet and wholly unchanged. Provisions firmer.

The Salisbury Watchman places at the head of its columns the name of Mr Haywood W. Guion, of Lincoln county, for Congress, in opposition to Hon. B. Craige. Mr Caldwell who had taken the field against Mr Craige, having backed out, as did also Mr Dargan of Anson. "Sam" appears to be afraid to try his hand against Mr Craige.

And how is it with Mr James B. Shepard, of Wake—formerly the Carolinian's candidate for the Governorship of the State? And how with "Farmer Lane," of Wayne county—one of Governor Reid's "able and efficient Council"? Are they spurious democrats?—Argus.

Mr Shepard never was our candidate for Governor. When he was run for Governor in 1846 he was so obnoxious to the democratic party in this section that even old Cumberland, a county that has generally proven true to true democrats, refused to cast her vote for him, but gave a majority for the v. big candidate Gov. Graham. The vote stood Graham 722, Shepard 701—being a falling off in the democratic vote of about 500! So the Argus will learn that Mr Shepard received cold comfort at the hands of the democracy in these parts.

With regard to "Farmer Lane," does the Argus not know that the statement that he is a candidate in opposition to Mr Ruffin in this county—positively denied. We stated this fact last week, and hope the Argus will inform its readers correctly on this point next week. The Goldsboro' Tribune says it is "well assured that Wm. K. Lane, Esq., will not lend his name or his influence to any set of men who have for their object the overthrow of the democratic party."

We learn from a gentleman who was present at the Louisville Convention and who formerly acted with the Democratic party, that there were about 140 delegates present and of that number over 80 formerly acted with the democratic party.—Raleigh Star.

Don't believe it, although the Star may consider its information correct. It sounds so much like other assertions made by the members of the secret party that we cannot place any confidence in it. Heretofore we have been told that one-half of the Democrats in Virginia belonged to the know-nothings and would go against Wise—and that in North Carolina many prominent democrats had joined the secret party—but of course it is all idle talk, and the statements were made for the purpose of deceiving democrats into the night society.

I do not attempt to do anything more than give the outlines of the discussion. The faint efforts to applaud Mr Reid composed by the hearty cheers given to Mr Winslow, shows conclusively that "Sam" was the man who got the vote of every low spirit. Old Robeson will be found "right side up" in August for the faithful standard bearer of the democracy. S.

[We suppose when Mr Reid complained that "the press" in the District was against him, he meant the democratic press. We defy him to show one instance where we have misrepresented him.—Ed. Can.]

For the Carolinian. Mr. Error: Some time ago I saw in the whig and know-nothing papers an account of a speech delivered by Mr Wise when he tried to prevail on "Sam" to show his physiognomy, but seemingly to no purpose. Finally, the speaker kindled on the dark lantern party to such an extent that some old patriarch was constrained to call on "Sam" to rise up, when it is said there was a "tremendous rising."

I then doubted the report, but subsequent events prove that there has been a great rising and traveling to Paris undertaken by the returns from Virginia do not indicate that said friends of "Sam" done Mr Wise much harm on election day. Probably there has been a freshet in the River and they were swept off by the rapid current. At any rate the vote shows they were missing when their presence were most needed. H.

DEATHS.—Commodore Ballard, U. S. Navy, died at Annapolis on the 23d ult., aged 71 years. He entered the Navy in 1804. Major Danahy, U. S. Army, died at Santa Fe on the 1st April. He was a native of North Carolina.

FROM HAVANA.—The steamer Isabel arrived at Charleston from Havana, on Monday last. Her dates are up to the 25th inst. Her news to Government and back to Havana, and "having found everything to his notion, he ordered his citizen soldiery to hang their war harness on pegs, and go about their business." A few cases of yellow fever had broken out.

For the Carolinian.

Discussion at Lumberton. The candidates for Congress in this district addressed the people of Robeson County in Lumberton, on Tuesday last. A very large audience was in attendance, and both the speakers a patient and impartial hearing.

Mr Reid made the opening speech, and I am informed that his speech was not a little better than his previous efforts. He evidently showed that if his cause was a bad one he was too well skilled as a speaker and a politician not to make the best of it. He complained that the press in the district was against him—that he was misrepresented by it, and if those of his fellow citizens who had never enjoyed the pleasure of seeing him would only believe what was said about him, they would think he was either a wild beast or at least anything but a human being. He complained of various charges that had been made against him, such as that his love of office was greater than his love of country—that he was a spurious democrat—that he was a whig—and last, but not worst of all, that he was a know-nothing. In answer to the first charge he loved office, he stated that he had never been lucky enough to get one—that he desired (as every member of the bar would be pleased to do) to be elected one of the Judges of our Superior Court, but that the President of the United States has no office within his gift that he would accept! He referred to an editorial in the North Carolinian in which he was charged with being a spurious democrat, and who closed his editorial, by saying that you never had supported him, and that you never would;—and stated that when you were nothing but a boy setting up type in the Carolinian Office, that he was fighting the great battles of the democracy in the Legislature of 1838 '39 and 42—that whether you supported him or not, the democratic party had the honor of his services, and he was charged that his Hon. competitor had been; and as to the charge that he was a know-nothing, he denied it, he hit the mark, declaring that what the principles of the know-nothing were, and he appealed to every know-nothing within the sound of his voice to say if he was not right—that when he came to speak at the meeting of the 17th ult., he was so loved so much, that was so well calculated to unite the North and South upon that great platform of "American nationality" and "Protestant civilization," upon which he was so firmly established, he forgot his recent denial, and that he was what the know-nothings American party proposed to do. The remainder of his speech was in opposition to Foreigners and Catholics.

Mr Winslow replied to Mr Reid in an able, eloquent manner, and also "boomed" the cause of the know-nothing, by the frequent and heavy plaudits by which they cheered him. He convinced their judgments that he was not a know-nothing, but a whig, and he carried them to the plains of Savannah, to the plains of Camden, where rests the remains of Palisades and De Kalb—to the heights of Quebec whose soil is watered by the River of Montigny; from Grandy to Yorktown he followed the illustrious Lafayette whose portrait still graces the Hall of our House of Representatives; and when he pointed to the landing of the Pilgrim Fathers at Plymouth Rock, of the Huguenots and a host of Colonists fleeing from religious and political persecution to find an asylum in this hitherto happy land, where they might worship God according to the dictates of their own consciences, with none to molest or make them afraid, and appealed to his audience to extend that religious toleration to others which they prized so much themselves, by rejecting the claims of the papal hierarchy, and to a senseless fanaticism against foreigners and Roman Catholics, he touched a chord in the hearts of all who heard him. He called the attention of his audience to the fact that the Roman Catholic religion, which he was serious in his professions, it would be much better for him to connect himself with some Christian Church, which he had hitherto denied, will now be enjoyed three times a week. Parents and Guardians will find it to the advantage of their children and wards to have them in this school. Every attention will be paid to their intellectual and moral training.

Resolved, That our delegate to that body be instructed to express our apprehensions on this subject, and to assure them that we hold in abhorrence all such inaction, and in continuing our correspondence with ecclesiastical bodies having churches in slave-holding States, we do it the rather that we may bear our continued and earnest testimony against the sin of slave holding than to express the least acquiescence in so great wickedness."
