The largest Carriage Factory in the South-A. A. McKethan

Respectfully informs his friends and the public, that he has built up large substantial Brick Buildings at his Old Stand, expressly for manufacturing Carriages. Thankful for the very liberal patronage he has received for the last 21 years, he hopes by strict attention to business, with a desire to give satisfaction, to merit a continuance of the same. He warrants his work to be made of the best material and by experienced workmen in each branch of the business. His work will compare favorably with any made in the United States, for neat ness and durability.

He is determined to sell and do any work in his line on as good terms as any work done elsewhere that is as well done. He now has on hand, finished, the largest stock of CARRIAGES, BAROUCHES, ROCKAWAYS, AND BUGGIES, ever offered in this place, and a very large stock of work nearly finished, which will be sold very low for Cash, or on short time to punctual customers. Ast the has on hand more than ONE HUNDRED AND FIFTY Vehicles finished and in course of con-

Zer-All work made by him is warranted 12 months with fair usage, and should it fail by bad workmanship or material will be repaired free of charge. Persons wishing to buy would do well to call and examine for themselves.

Orders thankfully received and promptly attended to Repairing executed at short notice and on very reasonable terms. Fayetteville, Oct 1, 1854.

* A NEW THEORY OF HEAT FROM THE SUN .- A writer in the Washington Intelligencer, refer- aggregate of American to be but one-sixteenth ring to the various theories of the generation of heat by the sun, proposes the following, which appears to be as rational as any which preceded it:

We know that when that portion of the earth on which we happen to be is turned to-(wards the sun, we have heat; and that its inthis it is manifest, I think, that the heat we derive from the sun is consequent upon some mysterious action of its rays on the matter of our atmosphere, (call it chemical action for want of a more appropriate name,) and that intensity depends not only upon the angle at Ever offered in this market, and to which be respect- which these rays pass through our atmosphere, but also upon the density or depth of atmosphere. At the level of the sea, where the depth, and consequently density of the atmosphere are greatest on a mountain, where these are diminished the heat is less.

Execution of a Boy .- The execution of the boy Frank, for the murder of Rev. J. J. Weems, took place on Friday, August 24th, at Alexandria, La. It is strange to say, that the majority of the citizens of Alexandria, and, in fact, the inhabitants all round, were anxious to see him executed; and on the fatal day, when it came to pass, there was not a dozen people there! Some drove forty miles to witness this day before he was called to face death, some gentlemen visited him, and propounded questions to him; but his answers were, and could be no other than childish. He was, I believe, the heel. A shoe of this kind once fitted, the only ten years old. The gentlemen told him The copartnership heretofore existing under the firm | the Sheriff was to hang him on the next morning-and asked him what he thought of it, and whether he had made his peace with God, and why he did not pray? His answer was-"I have been hung many a time!" He was, at the time, amusing himself with some marbles he had in his cell! He was playing all the time in jail, never once thinking that death was soon to claim him as his victim. To show you how a child's mind ranges, when about to die, I will mention that, when upon the scaffold he begged to be permitted to pray-which was granted-and then he commenced to cry! Oh! what a horrible sight it was!-Exchange Paper.

The above story sounds rather improbable.

The object is to avoid the necessity of driving nails in the hoofs of the necessity of driving nails in the hoofs of the animals, a practice always more or less objectionable, and only submitted to from imperious necessity, and which frequently, from misplacing a nail, or splitting a hoof, renders a horse useless, at least for a time. The invention meets with the highest favor from the jockeving profession-one experienced stage-driver enthusiastically affirming that it would immediately increase the value of horses one-third. By the census of 1850 there were five millions of horses in the United States, and assuming them to be worth on an average about $60 apiece, the credit to which the inventor is entitled becomes measurable in colars to the tune of about 100 millions for each generation of horses.

Mr Short is not the first who has attempted to clamp the shoe to the foot without nails, but his banker that the drafts already honored will is the first to do it in this simple effective manner. He makes the whole in two pieces, employing, in addition, two small screws to aid in screwing the parts together. Both are made of malleable iron; the lower portion, or "sole," being very similar to the horse-shoe ordinarily employed, but with a groove around its exterior, and without nail-holes. The upper portion, or "vamp," is thin, and has a flange projecting inward from its lower edge, to match the groove in the sole. These parts are so arranged as to secure a tight and firm connection, and the whole made additionally seenre by the aid of the set-screws before mentioned at vamp may be made to wear out a great number of soles. dollars. Handreds spend that amount in less than half that time; and when a man is blessed with a large family, composed in a great part of marriageable daughters, the extent to which the trapping is carried, is beyond all calculation. To escape the enormous bills thus run up at a hotel, "pa" rents a cottage at the moderate rate of one thousand or twelve hundred dollars for the season; engages servants, trots out in his own carriage, sends for the butcher and the baker, and, having made all his arrangements, prepares to enjoy life-a dream from which he is only aroused on learning from absorb one of his finest estates. Hundreds yearly visit a watering place who can hardly sustain themselves at home, and expend the little that they have in one brief summer, to regret ever after their foolish extravagauce; others, who never pay their bills at home, frequently give the hotels much trouble, and those not over conscientious, slip away the first opportunity, without so much as asking the amount of their indebtedness. This all results from a vain desire to imitate those who, having wealth at command, live in an extravagant and reckless manner, doing themselves and others much injury, and often bringing about the most serious results.

True enjoyment at a watering place should consist in throwing off alike the cares and restraints of a city life.
