From the San Francisco Herald, Oct. 5. Startling Narrative of Crime.

Some months ago a large section of the interior country, embracing portions of the counties of Calaveras, El Dorado and Placer, was the theatre of a series of horrible and mysterious murders, attributed to Mexican banditti.

Many of the circumstances which he related, however, were in some measure known to the officers, and a careful note was taken of all the descriptions which he gave relative to the position of the bodies of the men that had been murdered by him and his companions, and burned, as a precaution against immediate investigation of the murder.

A ROMANTIC INCIDENT.—A soldier who was present at the capture of Sebastopol, relates in a letter to the editor the following romantic story: "A party of men, belonging to different regiments, were patrolling from house to house, in search of plunder."

Interesting Narrative.

Professor Morse, the author of the magnetic telegraph, delivered a speech at St. John's recently, in which he gave an interesting reminiscence of his early telegraph troubles.

This was the turning point of the telegraph invention in America. As an appropriate acknowledgement for her sympathy and kindness—a sympathy which only a woman can feel and express—I promised that the first dispatch by the line of telegraph from Washington to Baltimore, should be dictated by her.

Stockholders' Meeting.

At the meeting of the Stockholders of the Wilmington & Weldon Railroad Company yesterday, the committee appointed to verify proxies reported nearly ten thousand shares represented personally or by proxy.

ACCIDENT.—A young and valuable negro servant of Mr. N. N. on Tonsil Road, was accidentally shot on Saturday morning last, by the overseer of the plantation.

The Accident on the Pacific Railroad—Frightful Scams.

The editor of the St. Louis News, who was on the excursion train on the Pacific Railroad, in which so many were hurried into eternity without a moment's warning, says:

We slowly moved along the embankment, and came on the bridge. The locomotive had passed the first pillar—beyond the abutment—there being then resting on the first span the locomotive, baggage car and two heavily loaded passenger cars.

The Truth Boldly Spoken.

The New York Day Book speaks out in regard to the late democratic defeat: "There is but little, if any, doubt that the democratic party is badly defeated; and this may be attributed to John Van Buren and his free-soil 'corner-stone' resolution."

On the way up, upon arriving at the bridge across the creek known as St. John's, about four miles above Washington, a portion of the train was left behind to provide for contingencies in case the bridge should break down.

The Late Epidemic.

The Norfolk Herald gives the following interesting facts relative to the progress of the late epidemic that so sadly afflicted that city: Terrible as the late epidemic was in its death-dealing visitations—in some instances nearly sweeping off whole families, there were a few cases in which it showed comparative clemency;

Every member of Mr. James Smiley's family, except himself—sixteen in number, had the fever, and only one died—his eldest daughter, Miss Margaret, aged 23 years.

The Republicanism gives the following horrid picture of the scene of disaster:

We observed one car lying at a right angle with the bridge, the bottom nearly forced out, and in the space thus made several dead bodies were observed by those on the outside.

The Market for Breadstuffs.

Anticipating prices—The market for breadstuffs on this side of the water is said to be much about the advanced prices ruling in Liverpool and London.

The Empress of France.

The health of the Empress is now better. She was playing at billiards the whole of Tuesday morning, the 23d ult. The Paris correspondent of the London Morning Advertiser says:

Emigration from Virginia to Kansas.

The Frontier News states that Dr. Somers, of Virginia, was on his way to Kansas, with several other gentlemen, to make arrangements for the location of one thousand persons, who purpose emigrating from eastern Virginia this fall, sixty families being from Richmond, thirty from Staunton, fifty from Rappahannock, and the remainder from the same neighborhood.

Y., on its way to Napoleon the 3d of France, agents for the French Government have purchased largely in Milwaukee, paying 4 and 5 cents higher than other buyers this season, and there are now 700,000 bushels of wheat at Chicago, purchased on French account.
