CAMPHOR AND STRYCHNINE .- The beneficial 1377 36 services, he has the reputation of being a great effects of camphor, as an antidote to strychnine, are illustrated in a case reported by Dr. Tewsekbury, of Portland, Maine. It appears that CRYING AS AN AMUSEMENT.-The "ladies of a boy was seized with convulsions, and it was was made for the purpose of killing rats, and contained about one and a half grains of stryclinine. The boy's spasms were so severe that immediate death was inevitable, though all the usual remedies were resorted to. Campbor could not be introduced into the stomach on account of the continued lock jaw. Accordingly strong injections of campbor were used, and the body immersed in a hot camphor bath and in a few hours the boy was comparatively well.

****************** SINGULAR CURE FOR EPILEPSY .- The 'Normandie,' a paper published at Ronen, in France. gives its readers the following carious statement in relation to a singular remedy for epilepsy. There can at least be no harm in trying the remedy:

Some years ago a female was attacked with epilepsy in one of the streets of Oporto, and several persons collected around her. A bystander suddenly cried out 'cover her face with a black silk handkerchief!' A man took off his cravat and threw it over her face. Strange to say, her convulsions instantly ceased, and rising to her feet, she thanked the persons around and walked away without assistance.

"The 'Normandie,' after relating these facts ays that it cannot explain whether it is the silk, or black color, or both, which puts an end to the epileptic attack; but while waiting the investigation of scientific men, it strongly recommends the remedy. ......

THE SWORD OF NAPOLEON AND EMPEROR Nicholas.-The sword borne by Napoleon at the battle of Marengo was bought by Emperor Nicholas in 1850, precisely half a century after the bloody and memorable event occurred. This precious relic was purchased for the sum of thirty-two thousand dollars. The sword of so great a warrior, carried in an engagement which lasted fourteen hours, where victory alternated on four occasions, where sixty pieces of cannon were successively lost and recaptured late Czar.
