Thou Im Growing Gld. my Nother. Thou art growing old my mother, And the brow is marked with care All furround is the agent check, (a) togethed with many a freezing kiss

Thou art growing old, mother, As I eateh the half dr.wn sigh, Well I know that years of sorrow Have bedimed thy melting eye; But with gentle light it beameth, Beamoth on me even yet, With a love that never changeth Till the sun of light is set.

Theu art growing old, my mother; Many of our household hand Have before thee journeyed onward, To the far off better land. But thy voice in tender accents, Still is falling on my ear, Sweetly brightning my pathway, Which without thee were so drear.

Thou art growing old my mother; And around thy youngest born, Shadows gather-darkly gather-Even in life's early morn. But the blessed Saviour spareth Thee to still protect thy child, While the storms of sorrow hover, Hover o'er me dark and wild!

Thou art growing old, my mother, Soon I feel that thou will rest In the 'land of the hereafter,' In the regions of the biest. Who will love me then, my mother. When the last life cord is riven! Let us pray that both together God will take us safe to heaven.

Here--- and There.

As Time's golden sands go by-And how swiftly do they fly! Ever nearer, and more near, All life's duties, grave, appear! How they rise, and re-appear, Here-e'en here!

And the soul that duly plies, Striving but to grow more wise, That it may have wealth so dear For a seeking brother near, Shall a guerdon tower uprear, Here-e'en here!

But the guerdon ne'er is sought! Parest treasure is not bought: Hard the toil, and close the care, Then diffused like Heaven's air; Such the price of entrance fair-To the glory-There.

Thus doth God's own kingdom come; Not with roll and beat of drum; Not with bustling, babel-air-Not with rust of sluggard fare; But with calm and earnest care, All shall enter-There.
