It is an old saying that Time waits for no man—but the fair sex would have us believe that he is gallant enough to wait for the ladies.

Some of the newspapers are criticising the eulogies recently delivered in Congress on the death of one of the members during the summer recess.

There might be some excuse for this tremendous outpouring of sorrow upon any sudden bereavement in the midst of the session.

When a member dies during the session, let another allude to it in becoming terms, and then let the matter drop and the public business go on as usual.
