OUR LECISLATURE.

The North Carolina Legislature meets on next Monday. This will be the most important session since our government has been instituted, and to its deliberations, the eyes of our people are now directed.

The question of secession will doubtless be up in a separate government. all its bearings, and the momentous inquiry ; " Shall we submit, or shall we secede ? will be decided by result from a dissolution of the Union.

of partizanship, and with all the evidence that it is possible for us to bring before our people, against him in the lower and upper Houses of Con-Court ?

Lincoln, as a man, can do nothing; as a President. he can do much, even were his cabinet opposed to him. He can not place in any position in his cabinet, men of his own stripe, should a Democratic Senate object But the fact that Lincoln is powerless, is the most unfortunate, and the most lamenta-He condition of things to the South, that has yet existed.

Lincoln powerless, may only serve to make Lincoln and Abo'i jonism all powerful! Linc oln now powerful, would make him as our President, powerless.

We will en leavor to show how this would be : Upon the plea of the inability of Lincoln to accomplish any thing now, may, we fear, cause some true Southern men to prefer waiting for an "overt act." as it is tecnically denominated, and the result will be submission till he has power to committ an outrage upon our rights. Should we wait then to give Mr. Lincoln power to committ an overt act, it would only be waiting to give Mr. Lincoln power to abolish slavery in the States.

What "Overt Act" is it that is deemed necessary to be a sufficient cause for a dissolution of the Union? Is it that the fugitive slave law be abolished?

North is not herself prepared for it, because her supply of Cotton would be materially decreased. The

Her name became Mathews. Her two children, of whom John Hardwick was father, died, and traces of John were obliterated, except from a very remote corner of her heart. Mrs. Mathews was a good wife to her second husband, so far as we can learn, and bore him two children. Mathews was in the grocerytrade, and throve well, but about a year ago he was tken sick with a fever and died, leaving Mrs. Mathews and the children without a protoctor, as she thought, but with a snug income.

John Hardwick, tired of California life, and tired of business, also, collected together his effects, which amounted to a nice fortune, and started for home by the overland route. He arrived in this city two weeks ago, and remained a few days to rest before taking the cars for Pittsburg. One morning, while walking through Broadway market, Mr. Hardwick hundred dollars, and gave assurance that he would saw a familiar face. It was the first familiar face he ha d left San Erancisco-and that face belonged to a woman. He quickened his pace, and came up to astall where the lady was about to purchase a beefsteake. Mr. Hardwick's heart beat wildly beneath his waistcoat. Could it be possible ? "What should Jane be doing in St. Louis ?" thought he .--He was about to turn away, when the lady mised her head, and their eyes met. "John Hardwick, as sure as I am living !" exclaimed she. "Jane, is it you !" said John. It proved to be both of them, and after mutual explanations, Mr. Hardwick accompanied the lady home, carrying her market basket for her. Two children met them at the door. They were blue-eyed and rosy cheeked-but like those John had left behind, and just as large-but they did not have features like John's. #### THE FEELING AT THE SOUTH.

The intensity of feeling at the South can only be estimated by a comparison with that of our fathers reforms, and that it would be carried out in all sinin the revolution. Senators Chesnut and Hammond, of South Carolina, have resigned; also, Toombs, of Georgia, and Wigfal of Texas. The Judges of the Venetia was for no other object than repelling at-U. S. #### ADVISABLE.

Under the existing State of the nation it is our opinion that Conventions of the people without respect to party be held in each Congressional district n the State, to express the sentiments of the people upon the questions that absorb the attention of the whole nation.
