> COST OF FRENCH WAR STEAMSHIPS .- According to a letter from Cherbourg, a steamship of the line, of the first class, carrying one hundred and twenty gans, costs three million two hundred thousand francs; a steam frigate of fifty or sixty guns, about one million eight hundred thousand francs; a s cam corvett of twenty-six or thirty guas one midion four hundred thousand francs; a steam cutter of the guns, seven hundred thousand francs. So that a fleet composed of eighty steamships of the line, fifty frigates, thirty corvettes, and sixty cutters, would be worth four hundred and ten millions of francs. But this, (remarks a Paris correspondent,) is a trifling expense compared with the cost of a similar navy composed of steel cased vessels. A steamship carrying one hundred guns, and cased steel would cost seven millions of francs.
