VOL. VIII. GOLDSBORO, N. C., THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 22, 1892. NO. 79

AS UNCLE USED TO SAY. I've thought a power on men and things, As my uncle use to say— And of folks don't work as they pray, I judge.

Let the Old Flag Float. A recent Act of Congress making it unlawful to use the United States flag for any advertising purposes, has been very violently construed by some sensitive partisans who assume that a political party is excluded from hoisting the stars and stripes with the names of their candidates thereon.

Cholera and Trade. New York, Sept. 15.—Cholera has landed and the business of New York goes on exactly as if it had not.

has been much talk about the pestilence as an excuse for lower prices in breadstuffs and cotton, but the fact is that enormous stocks brought over from last year affords sufficient reason for exceedingly low prices.

Business failures throughout the country the last seven days as reported to R. G. Dunn & Co., number for the United States 154, 210 last year.

It must be that while Marion Butler (who draws pay as President of the Farmers' Alliance) is out stumping for Weaver, he lets the boys in his office do the writing, of which the following is a brilliant interrogative specimen:

The Valley of the Gettysburg. One dusk, long summers gone, The white checked moon Beheld this valley reel with war. But now, Where you still hamlet's windows redly glow

Senator Hill will open the Cleveland campaign in Brooklyn next, Monday when he will speak for the success of the Democratic ticket. It was in Brooklyn that he made the oft-quoted declaration—"I am a Democrat," and the echo of that declaration will doubtless be the text of his speech on Monday.

Peary's Successful Expedition. Everybody will be heartily glad to read of the return of Lieutenant Peary and his heroic wife, along with all but one of the members of the Arctic exploring party sent out by the Academy of Natural Sciences.

winter and provisions sufficient for a period of a year and a half. The party put up the house and rested in comfort during the long Arctic winter and Lieutenant Peary, with one companion vigorous in health, made the long journey over the ice and snow, their provisions and equipment carried by a dog team, the one method of locomotion natural to that ice-bound section.

Blaine Sulks Alone. Senator Hill will open the Cleveland campaign in Brooklyn next, Monday when he will speak for the success of the Democratic ticket. It was in Brooklyn that he made the oft-quoted declaration—"I am a Democrat," and the echo of that declaration will doubtless be the text of his speech on Monday.

A Rattlesnake Plague. Two gentlemen of Wilmington who have been down in Shallotte township, Brunswick county, about fifty-five miles from this city, bring the news that there is much alarm in that township over a rattlesnake plague.

THE AFGHAN KING. I look from a fort half ruined on Cabul spreading below. On the rear hills crowned with cannon, on the far hills piled with snow.

THE TWO GREAT OBJECTS sought to be accomplished by the North Carolina Republicans in the November election are: FIRST—The election of the Harrison Electors.

Our advice is to vote against the Democratic Annex headed by David M. Furches. Vote for the ticket headed by W. P. Exum, as a matter of principle, in order to secure the two main results which are paramount with every Republican, to wit:

our duty to oppose this ticket and to do all we can to bring about a crushing defeat for it. This we shall do without regard to personal or political consequences. Every phase of the political situation justifies and approves this action, and we have the firm support in this course of Dr. Mott, Judge Russell and hundreds of other Republicans, both white and colored.—Raleigh Signal (Rep.)

Hon. J. W. Albertson, ex-Judge of Superior Court, and a life-long Republican, has become so disgusted with the management and leadership of the Republicans under Eaves, Budy, Schneck and others of like ilk, that he has severed his connection with the Republican party and announced that he proposes to support Cleveland and Carr.

Not one man has come in to fill these places, and there are many others who would have gone the same way if they were not holding Federal offices.—Raleigh Signal (Rep.)

SEPTEMBER. The golden rod is yellow. The corn is turning brown, The trees in apple orchards With fruit are bending down.

Address to the People. NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—The Democratic National Committee have issued the following address:

They that have ears to hear, let them hear!—Ed. Argus.

A M-dern Idyl. Oh, go to her, Dream Magician, While the stars are gleaming bright; Go there on a diplomat's mission, And say that I love her—to-night, RALEIGH, N. C., Sept. 16, '92. This has been a grand event for the Capital of the Old North State. On no similar occasion in its history has there ever been exhibited more genuine enthusiasm, and this, too, among all classes, seemingly regardless of party affiliation.

THE ARRIVAL. The train containing Gen. Stevenson, wife and others, including the reception committee which had gone to Asheville to meet them, arrived at the Union depot about 5 o'clock this morning, considerably later than the usual schedule time.

At 8 o'clock the committee of escort proceeded to the station, headed by the Governor's Guard. The party were taken at once to the Yarboro House where breakfast was had, a few invited guests and the committee of reception participating. The route from the depot was alive with people large numbers of whom were ladies.

RALEIGH, Sept. 16.—The reception of Gen. Adlai Stevenson was a great event. Over 8,000 persons were present and the city was largely decorated. A long procession of carriages and marshals passed to St. Mary's grove, where an immense crowd assembled. Mr. Stevenson said he had been greatly touched by the hearty welcome received at every point visited in North Carolina.

Every reference to Cleveland was cheered to the echo.

Charlotte Observer: Dr. Jack Terris, a former citizen of Charlotte, but who has been living in Hayti for a number of years was here yesterday visiting friends of former days. Dr. Terris was associated with the late Dr. Searr when he had a drug store where Rankin's shoe store now is.
