

PATRIOTIC UTTERANCES.
CLEVELAND'S SPEECH BEFORE THE
NEW YORK REFORM CLUB.
A SOBER CALL TO DUTY.

Economy is neither Shabby nor Disgraceful—Democratic Power must rest on a Garb of Public Servants. The People will Reward Themselves on Those who Deceive or Betray Them—The Reform Demanded by the People Must be Accomplished.

We print from Monday's Philadelphia Times the following pointed and patriotic address delivered before the New York Reform Club, on Saturday evening last, by Mr. Cleveland. After the cheering had subsided Mr. Cleveland said:

Mr. President and ladies and gentlemen, I have nothing new or startling to say to you and I hope to do little more than remind you of the meaning and significance of this occasion. As we are here gathered together, we represent those who have been willing to risk all consequences in a battle for principles which are grounded in purest patriotism, because they accord with the purposes and objects of our free institutions.

A plain feature of this gathering, which I am sure warms the hearts of all of us in our celebration of one of the grandest and most complete victories ever achieved in the struggle for right and justice; and our glad greeting of the brightest light of triumph our generation has seen, bursting from the clouds of defeat and discouragement.

Let me suggest to you, however, that we can contemplate nothing more gratifying in connection with this assemblage than the proof it affords that the American people can be trusted to manage the government which has been given into their keeping. If there are who have been disappointed and disheartened by the extent to which our people have been deceived and misled, or who, with fear, have been heedless of the duty of citizenship, have opened wide the door of corrupting influences, or who, with sad forebodings, have beheld popular rule rearing the fatal rocks of a debauched suffrage, or who have mourned because appeals to selfishness and promises of unequal advantages were apparently undermining that patriotism which a one-time officer of our national perpetuity, let this occasion and the events which have led to it reinstate their faith and their confidence in their countrymen.

If it has seemed to those striving for better public sentiment that the disposition was growing among our people to regard their government as a depository of individual benefits to be impugned and threatened and despoiled, let them take heart from the evidence now before our eyes that there is still abroad in the land a controlling belief that our government should be a source of just and beneficent rule, proudly supported by freemen, protected by their care and watchfulness and returning to all our people with equal hand the safety and happiness it holds in store for them.

If we have learned that an appeal to the patriotism of our countrymen and an honest presentation of political principles to their intelligence and judgment are not in vain, the thought must not escape us that, while our people will in the end repay with their support the political party which addresses their understanding and reason, instead of their prejudices and selfish interests, they will surely renege themselves upon those who deceive or betray them.

The National Democracy and its allies in political principle rejoice over the defeat of those whose fate is full of instruction and warning. While we find in our triumph a result of popular intelligence which we have stimulated, let us not for a moment forget that our accession to power will find neither this intelligence nor this vigilance dead or slumbering. We are thus brought face to face with the reflection that if we are not to be tormented by the spirits which we ourselves have called up, we must hear, above the vituperative shouts, the call of our fellow-countrymen to public duty and must put on a garb benefiting public servants.

PROBLEMS TO BE SOLVED. The sentiment suggested by this occasion which should dwarf all others has relation to the responsibility which awaits those who now rejoice in victory. It we redeem the promises we have made to the voters of our land the difficulty of our task can hardly be exaggerated. Conditions involving most important interests must be reviewed and modified and perplexing problems menacing our safety must be settled. Above all, and as the ultimate object of all we do, the rights and the welfare of our people in every condition in life must be placed upon a more equal plane of opportunity and advantage.

I am confident the wisdom of the Democratic party will be equal to the emergency and I base my confidence upon the belief that it will be patriotically true to its principles and traditions and will follow the path marked out by true American sentiment. We should not enter upon our work in the least spirit of resentment nor in heedless disregard of the welfare of any portion of our citizens. The mission of our party and the reforms we contemplate do not involve the encouragement of jealous animosities nor a destructive discrimination between American interests.

In order that we may begin with free hands we should vigorously oppose all delusions which have their origin in un-Democratic teachings or demagogic attempts to deceive the people. Mere catch words, which, if they mean anything, have no relation to sound policy, and phrases invented to please the ear of the victims of cunning greed ought not to stand in our way. Looking beyond all these things we shall find just principles furnishing a vantage ground from which we can lay out a safe course of action.

We should strive to rid ourselves and our countrymen of the idea that there is anything shabby or disgraceful in economy whether in public or private life. Extravagance in public expenditure has prevailed in the past it affords no excuse for its continuance, and there is no breach of duty so palpable as the waste of money held by public servants for the people's use.

NO GLITTER OR SHOW. Our government was founded in a spirit of frugality and economy and its administration should not depart from those lines. We need no glitter or show to divert our people from turbulent thoughts. We have a more substantial guarantee against discontent in a plain and simple plan of rule in which every citizen has a share. In order that this should do its perfect work it is essential that there should exist among our people a wholesome and disinterested love for their government, for its own sake, and because it is a heritage belonging to all. The cultivation of such a sentiment is not only a high duty, but an absolute necessity to the consummation of the reforms we enter upon.

WE SHALL UTTERLY AND DISGRACEFULLY FAIL IF WE ATTEMPT THESE REFORMS UNDER THE INFLUENCE OF PETTY PARTISAN SCHEMING OR THE FEAR OF ESPIONING PERSONAL POLITICAL OPINIONS. They can only be accomplished when a selfish patriotism guides the aspirations of our people and a regular and just actions of their chosen servants. We who are to be charged with the responsibility of making and executing the laws, should begin our preparation for the task by a rigid self-examination and by a self-purification from all ignoble and unworthy tendencies threatening to enter into our motives and designs. Then may we enjoy upon all our countrymen the same duty, and then may we hope to perform faithfully and successfully the work entrusted to our hands by a confiding people.

THE FOLLOWING REPORT OF THE TRUSTEES OF THE BAPTIST FEMALE SEMINARY WAS READ:

The work towards the establishment of the Baptist Female University of North Carolina has progressed this far: a site consisting of about two acres of land has been purchased for the location of the University lying on Edenton, Blount and Person streets in the city of Raleigh at a cost of $14,100. The entire purchase price of said location has been paid except $5,000, which falls due on the 1st of June, 1893. There are good subscriptions falling due on January 1st, 1893, fully sufficient to meet the above mentioned obligation with what we have in hand in cash. The property purchased yields a yearly income of $610. The University also has a deed to a farm in Wake county of 150 acres worth $600. The trustees after fully considering the matters pertaining to the University have unanimously directed the executive committee of the board of trustees to press the work for the establishment of the University with unremitting diligence. In doing so they are authorized to employ such agencies as they deem best.

Resolved, That we express our gratification and thankfulness to God, in view of the inspiring report of the progress by the central committee of Woman's Mission Societies to this convention. That we record our deep appreciation of the help they thus bring to every branch of our work and bid them God speed in their holy undertaking.

Resolved, That we instruct the board of missions to continue the work and if possible enlarge it; that the churches connected with this convention are hereby requested to take one collection during this conventional year for this work.
